SEE NEED OF MORE POLICE

Some Opinions on The Recent Series of Fires

MOTORING MORE COSTLY

River Craft and the Gasoline Bills
—Cradle Hill to Be no More—
The Freshet Net Yet Very Pronounced at Indiantown

The question is being freely asked about North End, whether or not sufficient police protection is afforded to that district, and speaking in this connection would include all beats covered by the police of that precinct, which is a wide range. The query arises in view of the several small fires which have broken out during the last few weeks, and which apparently have been deliberately set, or in some cases at least. In fact it had been a source of discussion a few weeks previous when a series of petty robberies had been in progress, but now it has been revived.

It is argued by some that more policemen are needed, and it is the opinion that to properly cover the northern section of the city, more men should be provided. Some of the outlying sections are visited only rarely, although probably as often as can be done. The doing of the "firebug" or the several members of his crew, if there be more than one, have perturbed the people of the northern district, and many are keeping a sharp watch.

While it cannot be said that all fires which have been the cause of alarm within the last few weeks have arisen through the acts of incendiaries, it is true that some of them have been set, and the fact that the operations of those starting the blaze cover a fairly wide field, makes the slumber of the people of North End somewhat uneasy.

What the object of those behind the fire-setting movement is cannot be ascertained. For instance, in the Kennedy fire this week in Douglas avenue when the fire ladders first went into the barn the smell of oil was detected and it was found that kerosene had been smeared over a wagon-top. In the MacFarlane barn fire at least a half dozen of the house hold had been in the barn with matches or smoking at the time.

The act of sending plainclothes men to the scene is appreciated, but it is argued that this can be of little avail considering the fact that their going and intentions were heralded broadcast, and would serve to make the incendiaries more cautious. Many feel the officers should be still unaided.

Just what the effect of the price of gasoline will be upon the many pleasure crafts about the river front propelled by this power, during the coming summer remains to be seen. It will soon be time for the familiar "chug-chug" to be heard about Indiantown.

Activities are commencing at the quarters of the St. John Power Boat Club in Indiantown and the Royal Kennedee Yacht Club at Millidgeville, but it will be at least a month before the major number of either fleet is in the water. The sculler and paint brush will be freely applied before that time, and most of the boats will soon have disappeared from the map of the city. A few years ago this liquid could be purchased at 18 cents, but now no orders will be taken by the oil companies at more than nine or ten cents above that figure. Last year from the tanks on the boat club premises both at Indiantown and Millidgeville the purchase price, according to contract, was 20 cents, so that it will be seen that the cost of pleasure has increased as regards motor boats.

Both clubs use a very large quantity, the power club of course more than the other, and the price in view with the possibility of further increase, is not hailed with joy.

The old historic Cradle Hill, the mecca of scores of young people on a fine winter's night when the coasting was good, will soon have disappeared from the map of the city. A crew of men from the public works department are now engaged in filling in the hollow, so that Park street will be almost level from Rockland road until the incline going past the Parks house has been reached. A high causeway is to be constructed across the valley. The work in Park street will be a great improvement and will make the highway much more attractive.

More than 300 people last evening attended a lecture given by Rev. Dr. Morrison in Main street Baptist church on "David Livingstone," and all thoroughly enjoyed the discourse. The lecture was under the auspices of the Women's Mission Aid of the church. Two discourses by the speaker dealt with the life of the great explorer, from his boyhood days to his death, and gave an extended account of his explorations and discoveries. Rev. Dr. Hutchinson presided and at the close tendered the speaker a hearty vote of thanks, moved by W. W. McAlary, and seconded by W. Erb.

The freshet has so far not come up to expectations in so far as Indiantown is concerned. The water has not risen to an undreaming amount, but it came up to the top of some of the wharves, but has remained at about the same height for the last several days. There is little prospect for an immediate increase in the height, unless a particularly mild spell should come, accompanied by heavy rains.

ST. JOHN AND HALIFAX

Some one has sent the Times the following clippings, which seem to be from a Halifax paper and designed to stir up the people of that city:—

"A week or so ago the Halifax council endeavored to pass a vote of censure, or something of the kind, upon the people who are endeavoring to bring the city to a realization of its great future. The council argued that if the plans of the outside capitalists were put into effect the rents of working men would be advanced. Another argument used was to the effect that the great piers which the federal government will start to build this summer will spoil the beauty of Halifax. The idea of dumping thousands of tons of rock and cement into the beautiful harbor of Halifax is altogether too much for the aesthetic tastes of the Halifax council. Of nature, they can sail over to Prince Edward Island and view the silver black fox in all its glory. Above all, stick to the cod fishing, it is good for the nervous system."

"St. John, N. B., is making vigorous efforts to bring all prospective ship-building plants to that god-head city. St. John has only one real rival, that being Halifax, but as a ship-building plant might increase the population and thus put rent higher, there is little to be feared in that direction. Besides, a ship-building plant would be a dreadful eyesore for the nature-loving habitants."

NINETY-NINE YEARS OLD
Amherst News—There passed away at Wallace on Saturday last Ichabod Betts, who was probably the oldest citizen of Cumberland, having reached the advanced age of 99 years and eleven months. Up until nearly the close of his life he retained all his mental faculties and remained bright and cheerful, and his reminiscences of bygone years was a source of pleasure to his many friends. He was the son of one of the original Loyalists who settled at Ramslag or Wallace at the close of the Revolutionary War. He is survived by one son, Becliam, of Wallace, and by one daughter, Adelia, who resides in Boston. He was the great uncle of Mrs. A. C. Casey and Mrs. C. E. Casey, of this town, and Fred W. Huston of Wentworth.

An agitation has been begun by the barbers throughout North End for the closing of their shops at 8 o'clock each evening except on Saturday. There has been an understanding among them for some time that they would close at 8 o'clock, but they have found it difficult to abide by the agreement, as customers would continue to come in up to a few minutes before the closing hour, and thus they would be compelled to remain until well after the time. In future the regular closing hour will be adhered to, and what is considered as unnecessary delay by the barbers in the customers' arrival about 7:30 p.m., will have to be avoided.
