NEW COURSES AT ST. JOSEPH'S

Will Introduce Agriculture And Engineering

GOVERNMENT WILL AID

Graduating Exercises Yesterday—The Prize Winners—Corner Stone Laid

Memramcook, June 17.—Announcements of the greatest interest were made this morning at the commencement exercises of St. Joseph's College. Rev. Benjamin Lecavalier, president of the institution, in addressing the graduates disclosed the fact that the minister of agriculture, Hon. D. V. Landry, had practically decided locating a school of agriculture within the college, and that the faculty had given the government the use of several rooms in the new wing, now being built, for conducting the school.

The president also said that it had been decided to introduce into the college the first two years of a civil engineering course, which would probably start in the fall. Arrangements have also been made for setting and improving the laboratories making the science thorough and complete.

During the morning exercises after the reading of the valedictories in French and in English and the rest of the programme, the prize awards were made as follows:

LAWYERS HONOR CHIEF JUSTICE SIR F. E. BARKER

Sir Frederick E. Barker, chief justice of New Brunswick, upon whom a knighthood was conferred recently, was the guest of honor at a banquet given by the St. John Law Society in the Union Club last evening. There was a large gathering, including not only the local lawyers, but also members of the bench and bar from other parts of the province.

M. G. Teed, K. C., president of the society, presided and, in congratulating the Chief Justice on his new honors, spoke in an eulogistic manner of his career on the bench. Sir Frederick made a suitable reply. Other speakers were Lieutenant-Governor Wood, Hon. W. C. H. Grimmer, Justice McLeod, T. C. Allen, K. C., and J. B. M. Baxter, K. C.
