THE STORM OVER PLAY IN LONDON

The Secret Woman Dull And Sordid and Dialogue Open To Criticism

ENGLISH THEATRICALS

New Leo Fall Opera Promises to Be a Money Winner—Piero and The Play That Was Hissed—Some New Writers

(Times Special Correspondence.)

London, Feb. 27.—The storm which has lately been raging round the head of the unlucky Secret Woman shows no signs of abatement. Fortunately for himself he has practically every West End manager at his back, prepared to uphold him through thick and thin. I am bound to say, also, that his opponents have done themselves no good by countenancing the production of Eden Philpott's play, "The Secret Woman", performed at the Kingsway two days ago.

I have no doubt that the author wrote with the best intentions, but for my part I cannot see what possible purpose the piece can serve. The story is of a most sordid and cruel character and some of the dialogue would hardly be tolerated in the smoking room. Granville Barker, shrewd for advertising and a chance to which the censor, probably advised Philpott not to eliminate the passages objected to by the censor, although it could have been done without injury to his play.

The other afternoon I had an opportunity of talking over the matter with Tree and Pinner. The first was extremely strong in the expression of his disapproval of the whole affair which, he insisted, was of a nature to retard the progress of the drama fifteen years.

As one of the number who signed the letter to the Times protesting against the action of the licensee in banning Philpott's play, Pinner had to walk more cautiously. He could not, however, conceal his regret that the novelist had so steadily refused to make the modifications required of him.

Talk of New Plays

Pinner himself, as you have been notified, had been in serious trouble over the reception given by a number of malcontents to his new play "The Mind-the-Paints Girl". On that subject I found him particularly reasonable. "No author," he said, "likes to be hounded, but, after all, we've got to take the rough with the smooth. Still, if I have incurred the displeasure of the public, let them empty the vials of their wrath upon me, not upon the artists who have been loyally trying to do their best."

Pinner went on to discuss what is comparatively a new feature of first nights, namely, the presence of a lot of hysterics, girls and women who invariably go to the extreme, at first night performances, in unmeasured praise or unconsidered censure. Nowadays they are always to be seen lining the front rows of pit and gallery and screaming their heads off to the manifest discomfort and embarrassment of all around them. It is in their power to ruin the chances of a piece by their senseless interruptions, and it was due to them that the efforts of the company, and particularly of Marie Lohr, at the Duke of York's on Saturday night were to a large extent nullified and, consequently, the fortunes of the play seriously jeopardized.

Since my last letter, Robert Courtneidge has been to Berlin and has seen Leo Fall's new opera, "Der Liebe Augustin", for the second time. He has returned more impressed than ever by its attractive qualities and even firmer in his belief that he has in it a real money winner.

The principal part in "Augustin" was, in the first instance, offered by Courtneidge to Evelyn D'Alroy, but her heart is set rather upon drama than on musical comedy and so no opportunity had been afforded her of seeing the score or the part she felt obliged to decline. Courtneidge's proposal at the time became a headlong race between him and Shubert for Clara Evelyn, about the only other singer "star" not at present under management. Shubert offered her $750 a week to go to America, together with the leading roles in "Nightgown" and "Augustin". Courtneidge, however, contrived to slip in front and carry off the prize.

Arthur Hardy, one of our most enterprising young managers, is about to present a new play called "The Chalk Line".

You'll Sleep More Soundly If You Keep Healthy With Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills

The man or woman with a good appetite, sound digestion, and bowels and kidneys working right, is never troubled much with sleeplessness. It is when the bowels become constipated and the liver and kidneys sluggish that the trouble begins.

Lazy liver and constipated bowels quickly bring on biliousness, indigestion and sick headaches, making a sound, refreshing night's sleep impossible. Or the inactive kidneys allow the blood to become loaded with uric acid, which causes rheumatism, with all its sleep-destroying torments.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, taken regularly, induce sweet and dreamless sleep by keeping all these organs active and regular. The headaches disappear, the digestion becomes good again, the blood is purified and perfect health results.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills have been a favorite household remedy in Canada for over half a century, and they are in daily use throughout the world. Being purely vegetable they are safe for young and old. Made by W. H. Connaught Co., Ltd., Brockville, Ont., and sold by all dealers at 25c. a box.

BACK TO NEW BRUNSWICK

The 1917 Club Has Cards Out Booming The Movement

One of the most striking features of the advertising put out by the 1917 club to attract attention to the back-to-New-Brunswick-for-a-week movement is a new series of window cards measuring about twenty by fifteen inches which will be displayed around the city and province to stimulate the sending in of the names and addresses of absent New Brunswickers. These cards will be seen for the first time at the Immigration Conference in Fredericton to day where they will decorate the walls of the convention hall. Each card bears a snappy phrase and each ends with the slogan of the movement and the date. Some of the cards read as follows:

The best Immigration Movement. Back to New Brunswick for a week, July 9 to 14.
New Brunswick expects every man to do his duty. Talk, write, boost. Back to New Brunswick for a week.
One New Brunswicker is worth more to the province than a dozen immigrants. Bring them back.
Work for your home town and vicinity.

LONDON PANIC OVER SUFFRAGETTES' ACTIONS REFLECTED IN COURT

Strict Orders Relative to Admission To Royal Palace—Hard to Buy a Hammer

London, March 8.—The panic into which London has been thrown by the activity of the suffragettes, is reflected in the usual instructions issued for last night's court, that ladies would not be admitted to the palace unless they presented their invitation cards, and also in the announcement that both houses of parliament will be closed to the public today.

A woman speaker at a militant suffrage demonstration last night, said that if any woman desired to judge the panic the action of the suffragettes had caused, let her go to the nearest store and try to buy a hammer.
