CARLETON CITY HALL

Commissioner Harding reported that the Carleton City Hall restoration committee had been considering the matter of saving this building, and they recommended that an offer from Stackhouse Bros. to enclose the building, put a roof on it and strengthen the walls inside, as per plans of the architect, Mr. Mott, for $17,563, and he moved the offer be accepted, payment to be made from the insurance money.

This was seconded by Commissioner Wigmore, who said the committee had given the matter careful consideration and he felt this was the best course to pursue at present. The work that would be done now was part of the original plan and would fit in with the restoration when it was undertaken.

Commissioner Frink thought that when the bond issue was turned down it voided all tenders and new bids should have been asked for. The motion carried.
