

Conjuror's House

memory. She cried out, and sat upright in one violent motion.

"He ! He !" she cried. "Is he gone ?"

Instantly Galen Albret had her in his arms.

"It is all right," he soothed, drawing her close to his great breast. "All right. You are my own little girl."