

WORKS BY E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

Crown 8vo. Cloth All Illustrated.

The Governors

The Story is of Phineas Duge, one of America's multi-millionaires, who, finding his daughter has betrayed one of his business secrets, turns her from his house and takes his niece, "Virginia," in her place.

Never before has Mr. Oppenheim written a story in which the interest is kept at such fever heat, or given such exciting incidents as "Virginia's" splendid efforts to recover the document. It is certainly one of the best things the author has done.

The Master Mummer

THE DAILY EXPRESS says:—"Mr. Oppenheim is a master of the modern novel, and his latest story 'The Master Mummer' is equal to his best."

THE BIRMINGHAM POST:—"Well and forcibly written."

THE WESTERN MORNING NEWS:—"Like Sam Weller's valentine, it makes the reader 'wish there was more.'"

The Betrayal

THE LEEDS MERCURY says:—"Mr. Oppenheim is one of the cleverest weavers of plots who write the English language, and he has many examples of his skill, such as 'A Prince of Sinners'; but for baffling his readers he has never succeeded so thoroughly as in 'The Betrayal.'"

THE NEWCASTLE JOURNAL says:—"In 'The Betrayal' a scheme of unusual intricacy is unfolded with a skill that has not hitherto been approached."

Anna, The Adventuress

GLOBE:—"The story is ingeniously imagined and cleverly wrought out. Mr. Oppenheim has the gift of invention, and keeps his readers on the tenter-hooks of suspense."

THE DAILY EXPRESS says:—"One of the best books of the season. A better mixture of possible fact and fiction could not have been conceived."

The Yellow Crayon

THE DAILY EXPRESS says:—"Mr. Oppenheim has a vivid imagination and much sympathy, fine powers of narrative, and can suggest a life history in a sentence."

THE OUTLOOK says:—"The Yellow Crayon' is at once infinitely more entertaining and infinitely more valuable than a fascinating and distinctly original conception."
