ENGINEERS' CLUB OF TORONTO.

At a meeting of the Engineers' Club of Toronto held last week in the lecture hall of the society's quarters, 94 King street west, Mr. C. W. Dill, of the City Engineer's Department, read an interesting and instructive paper on "City Pavements," after which a discussion took place. C. H. Rust, City Engineer, was in the chair, and some two dozen members were present. The membership of the society embraces 120 engineers, residing in different parts of the province. This was the first regular meeting this season, and the regular Monday luncheons will commence in October.
