

CHURCH NOTES FOR BUSY MEN

ROMAN CATHOLIC

Rt. Rev. John Brady, auxiliary bishop of the Roman Catholic diocese in Boston, recently died in Boston from paralysis. Bishop Brady was born in County Cavan, Ireland, in 1842. He was educated at All Hallows College, Ireland, and was ordained priest in 1864. Archbishop Patrick J. Ryan of Philadelphia is confined to his bed with a severe cold, and has cancelled all engagements for the immediate future. He was taken ill on Christmas night while visiting his sister, Mrs. Margaret Bowen, in Philadelphia. Because of his advanced age, 67 years, much concern is being felt.

That Mr. Falconi, papal delegate to the United States, who is a naturalized citizen, having been elected President in 1872, will be an American cardinal appointed by the Pope at the next consistory, scheduled to be held within three months, is a possibility. Leading Vatican authorities, including Cardinal Merry del Val, the papal secretary of state. It is also deemed possible that one other American will be named for the red hat, though it is the Pope's desire to have an American prelate a member of the curia.

"What is the Pope doing about Italy?" To this question Mr. Falconi quotes from Rev. John Price of Pittsburg the following reply: The headquarters of the church is in Italy, and consequently the offices are filled by men of Italian blood. Italian is the predominant language in the College of Cardinals and it is very natural that this vote would be given to a countryman rather than to an alien.

Besides, the possession of temporal power constituted the Pope a king, or earthly sovereign to whom all the inhabitants of the church, or within the limits of what is called St. Peter's patrimony, were subject. Now subjects never resist the ruler of a foreigner, and it is not surprising that the Pope should have the right to put an Italian on the throne of St. Peter. Objections, however, have filled the papal chair, and many claim that the Pope provided he receives the necessary number of votes, and there is no law of God or man that makes a man of any nationality ineligible for the papacy.

THE ANGLICAN

"A national church" is what Bishop Farthing of Montreal designates the Anglican church in Canada. "We are here," he says, "as an independent national church. I look to Rupert's Land today for the head of the Canadian church, and not to the committee of the Anglican church in England. I look to the primate of Canada, and not to the primate of England. That is not to say we have any less respect for the primacy of the English church than we do for the primacy of the Canadian church. We are a national church, and we are a national church."

"We owe allegiance to our own primate, appointed by our own national synod. We are not tied to the United States, nor to England, though we have communion with them. But just as the Canadian people, so does the general synod of Canada speak for the churchmen of Canada. Query: Is that really the position of the Canadian parliament?"

The Missionary Society of the Church of England in Canada reports a surplus of $5,000 over the amount raised for at the beginning of the year. The receipts to date amount to $119,423.

The open pulpit question is again to be fought over. Notice to withdraw has been given by Dr. Gratton, Bishop of Pond Du Lac. He proposes to limit the privilege to those who have been "confirmed," and remarks: "A rent has been begun in the church which may have serious consequences. If the principle of an open pulpit becomes an established one, I shall feel with others that the church has changed her character and it is not that to which I or my diocese give our allegiance."

"If high, low and broad churchmen were better to understand one another and come closer together in sympathy and action a far greater good could be accomplished for God than by a diplomatic and veneered sectarian union."

THE PRESBYTERIAN

Mr. James J. Hill, the railroad magnate of the American Northwest, has offered $50,000 to the Presbyterian College of South Dakota on condition that $200,000 shall be obtained from other donors. There are Presbyterian colleges in the Dominion which would not be unwilling to accept a similar challenge from Canadian men of wealth.

A despatch from New York has the following: "After looking into the qualifications of several hundred clerical men in three countries, the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, at Fifty-fifth street, last night unanimously called to its pastorate the Rev. John Henry Jowett, M. A., pastor of Carey's Lane Congregational Chapel, Birmingham, England. The call carries with it a salary of $12,000 and a residence, and the payment of what it may cost him to remove to his new charge."

Sixteen young men connected with Zion Church, Cheltenham, E. E. 12, have offered themselves for the work of the ministry. The pastor, Rev. George E. Ross, B. D., on a recent Sabbath, made an appeal for workers and invited those who had thoughts in the line of the pulpit to meet him the following evening. The appeal was responded to by sixteen young men who have been committed to God and the church, as above stated.

Rev. Dr. Sedgewick is thus referred to by the Maritime correspondent of the Christian Guardian of Toronto: "Rev. Dr. Thomas Sedgewick has just completed forty-nine years of ministry to one people. He was ordained at Tatamagouche, N. S., in 1860, and from that time to the present has labored in the same congregation. He has been a prominent figure in the council of his church. For law and order, as understood by him, he has always valiantly stood. He has also been a character to be reckoned with in his negotiations for union between the Methodists, Presbyterians and Congregationalists. He has the faculty of making himself unobtrusive and self-effacing, no other living minister has given so many years to one congregation."

The Free School College at Lewiston, Maine, has 100 students, and the outlook is quite encouraging.

To gubbin about the virgin birth of Christ, and about the reality of His resurrection," says the Christian Evangelist, "indicates a lack of appreciation of the whole history of the great events—the living of such a life, the performance of such deeds, the teaching of such truths, and the manifestation of such a personality as the world had never seen before or since. Once we come into the presence of this supreme Person, and realize something of the infinite and eternal which manifests themselves in Him, we are no longer troubled about the record of His entrance into the world nor the manner of His exit from it."

Mrs. Mary Barker of Goldenville, Guysboro Co., N. S., is probably the oldest reader of the Maritime Baptist. She is in her 98th year, and in her 70th year of subscription writes: "I have taken the paper a long time, have seen it change hands and names a number of times, but I cannot do without it, and look for its regular visits as for my meals."

THE METHODISTS

The Lord Mayor of Newcastle-on-Tyne, Alderman Sir William Haswell Stephenson, J. F. D. C. L., D. L., was honored by his fellow local preachers in the Newcastle Circuit on Friday, January 14th, when he was presented with a testimonial by the Wesleyan hymn writer, and to mark the occasion he was presented with an address.

We have read with delight Mr. Curdock's advocacy of John Wesley's claims to be considered the original Methodist hymn writer. He has proved that before Charles Wesley's music found expression in lasting song John Wesley uttered the herald-notes of the great Revival.—Wesleyan.

The Massey estate of Toronto has donated $50,000 towards the erection of a Methodist theological college on the University grounds at Stratford. The college will be built next summer at a cost of $100,000. The University senate some time ago gave a free site for the college.

An incident in the fight in Springfield, Missouri, shows that the temperance people of the west have a big field for mission work among the foreign population. The night of the election had carried with a good majority, with but one poll to hear from. The temperance people had heart failure when they saw the figures. They were: Against local option, 128; for local option, 8. It turned out that the poll was in the heart of a Galician settlement.

Sir Robert Perks, Bart., referring to his recent visit to Canada, in an address to the committee of the Methodist Brotherhood, made this reference to this city: He said that everywhere he found Methodists occupying positions of eminence and influence both in the world of commerce and in the state, and he dwelt upon the amazing development and growing importance of such places as St. John, New Brunswick, and Montreal. He said that the leading laymen of the city were ready to form a committee to cooperate with a committee at home and deal with Methodist immigrants.

SATURDAY SERMONETTE

POVERTY.

There are many kinds of poverty, all are bad but some are worse than others. There is the coarse, vulgar kind, that is poor because it is lazy, and the other kind that is poor because it drinks what it earns.

One is called "genteel poverty," whatever that may mean—and that is the whining "charity for God's sake" kind which has sympathy but disgusts us with its cant and whine. The poverty that is poor because of broken banks and broken health, and patches and brushes and ink and seeks consolation in the kind that awakens our sympathy.

The story has been told to weariness of the curse of riches. But who shall tell us of the curse of poverty? The men and the women who have been sent to destruction by poverty are legion. The men and women who have been sent to the devil by riches are a corner of guard in comparison.

What hooks this man might read when he has the book hunger on him if he were near a public library or had money with which to buy them. Here is another whose soul could enjoy the things that are denied him on account of his poverty, travel, mountain scenery, treasures of art for which his soul hungers.

But there is another kind of poverty that is worse than money poverty, and that is soul poverty. There are men who can see nothing but money, and all their enjoyment consists in money making. They never know the joy of helping the deserving poor, the joy that came to Job when he said, "I caused the widow's heart to sing for joy."

POPULAR GOVERNMENT AT STAKE, SAYS MR. PINCHOT

Whether Special Interests or the People Shall Rule is Moral Issue Now Facing Country, Asserts Dismissed Forester

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 15.—"The conservation of natural resources and the conservation of popular government are both at stake. The one needs conservation, no less than the other."

This statement epitomizes the formal announcement made public to-night by Mr. Gifford Pinchot, who was recently removed as chief of the Forest Service. Mr. Pinchot declares that the great moral issue which now faces the country is not the loss of natural resources so much as whether special interests or the people shall rule. The statement, in part, is as follows:—

"At this time I have no comment to make on recent events. Whether in or out of the government service, I propose to stay in the fight for conservation and equal opportunity. Every movement and measure, whatever source that hinder conservation and orderly development and for their safety and perpetuation."

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 15.—Nine lives were lost and six persons were injured in one of the worst storms that ever visited New York City. The total snowfall at ten o'clock this morning, when the skies cleared, was 14 1/2 inches, second only to the blizzard of 1899, when 15 1/2 inches fell, and that of 1838, when 20 1/2 inches fell. Eighteen thousand men have been put to work clearing the streets, and it is estimated that the cost of removing the snow will exceed $300,000.

NANTUCKET, Mass., Jan. 15.—The fury of the north-easterly blizzard which has raged here for forty hours, continued unabated to-night. It is easily the worst since 1836. This island is entirely cut off by the storm, with no mail service, and no mail has been received since Thursday.

THIS WELL-KNOWN ADVOCATE STATES His Doctor Advised Him To Take Dodd's Kidney Pills

AND HE FOUND THEM TO BE ALL THEY WERE ADVERTISED—HOW AND WHY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS CURE

Montreal, Que., Jan. 14. (Special)—"Dodd's Kidney Pills were recommended to me by our family physician, and I must say they have proved to be what they were advertised."

This statement, made by E. J. R. Hubert, the well-known advocate, of 214 James Street, is a double tribute to Dodd's Kidney Pills. It shows that they are recognized by reputable medical men as a peerless remedy for diseases of the kidneys, and also that they are now looked upon as a standard medicine by the best people in Canada.

And the reason of this is that they do just what they are advertised to do. They cure diseases of the kidneys, and put them in condition to clear all impurities out of the blood. They cure Bright's Disease, Diabetes, and Backache, because these are kidney diseases. They cure Rheumatism, Lumbago, and Heart Disease, because these are caused by impurities in the blood. Many of the Unionists, however, are false despondent. They do not believe that the Liberals will finish the election with so good a record as this.

KILLING OF LION MARKS END OF HUNT

Col. Roosevelt's Hunt Over

Former President Witnesses a Thrilling Lion Fight

NAIROBI, BRITISH EAST AFRICA. Dec. 11.—A long stream of porters came winding across the veldt towards the station at Nairobi, looking for all the world like a string of ants. The stars and stripes were held aloft by a giant native and the horns made strange discords with the chanting of the weird and elusive safari song. Shortly Colonel Roosevelt arrived on his favorite horse, "Tranquillity." It was the end of his last hunting trip in the British East African protectorate.

This safari, which was the fourth to be made out of Nairobi, gave Col. Roosevelt and his party an opportunity to witness an exciting hunt at A. E. Hoer's farm at Sirgoi in the Gusuu Ngunsho country, the spearing of a lion by Nandi warriors.

Seventy of these spearmen had been asked to take part in the drive, and they assented readily, for when a warrior spears a lion, he becomes a leader of the fighting section of the tribe and may wear a head-dress formed of the lion's mane and walk at the head of the file of Nandi warriors when on the march. In these hunts they display extraordinary courage.

The band of seventy almost naked men with their long, sharp spears and spears, was led by the Nandi warriors, and attended by the chosen spectators. Over the latter being mounted, proceeded down the valley where the grass was thick and thorn trees lined its edges. Very soon a lion was observed not more than 400 yards in front. Immediately the warriors gave chase, and in less than two miles they had rounded up the king of the wilderness. The horseman then approached, and it was seen that the lion at bay was a fully grown black-maned one. The spearmen began their task of surrounding the quarry. Every man went to his allotted position, and the circle slowly closed in on the snarling beast, which swished its tail and kept up a continual roaring.

The warrior threw within some twenty yards of him and the horseman closed up to see the kill, yet remained at a sufficient distance not to interfere with the spearmen's movements. Three times the lion made a spring at the spearmen, but each time he was stopped short, each time with more shrieking, roaring in impotent rage at his tormentors. Again the attacking party advanced to within ten yards of their victim, and he made desperate efforts and he drove directly at the line, only to fall with ten spears quivering in his body. But in that brief moment he managed to draw down one of the natives, his claws sinking into the man's flesh.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, Jan. 16.—Mrs. Louisa Lee of Cleveland was killed and her husband and two children were injured, on probably fatally, in a head-on collision today on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul R. R. at Keosauqua, Iowa, between the westbound Overland Limited and an eastbound fast train.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 16.—From a trance in which she had lain for three months and a half, Mrs. Kate McDonald passed to death at a hospital here today. The physicians are puzzled over the case. Mr. Mendelsohn thinks that his wife must have been shocked into unconsciousness some night when the baby tumbled out of bed, believing that the child was killed.

BOSTON, Jan. 16.—One half of one per cent. of the population of Boston is addicted to use of drugs, which is a close relation between the drug habit and "white slavery" is shown, according to the report of the directors of the New England Watch and Ward Society, issued tonight, and covering the work for the last four months of 1909.
