Citizens' Petitions Debated.

House of Assembly Considers the Prayer of the Citizens.
PREMIER MORRIS SUPPORTS IT.

But Mr. Coaker Thinks That the Council Should Not be Superseded.

In handing over the government of the City to a Commission we were making a serious step, and we ought to go cautiously in dealing with the petitions.

Spoke From Experience.
The Hon. J. R. Bennett, an old time Councillor, who had spoke of the difficulties that the present and all preceding Councils had had to contend with because of lack of money to meet the requirements of the Municipality.

He was glad to note the class of men who were taking part in the present movement but he also had to observe that these were in the some of the very men who showed apathy and indifference to matters civic and to such an extent that they did not even go to the booths to poll their votes.

Mr. Clift took a decidedly different view from the previous speakers. He represented an outport district but spoke as a citizen of St. John's.

To his mind municipal reform was merely a matter of money. If the present Council were given full power to levy taxes and had a full measure of incorporation they would probably accomplish as much as any other body. But he doubted if handing over the government of the City to a Commission for a year would be of any practical value; and he doubted very much if the question of increased taxation was put to a plebiscite vote whether or not the citizens would favor such increased expenditure.

He was of the opinion that the Council could bring about reforms just as well as a Commission.

Favored the Petitions.
Mr. Higgins, as a representative of a city constituency, gave the petitions his unqualified support. From the nature of the petitions presented that afternoon it appeared to him as an "uprising" for better civic government, and a refusal to grant it would give a black eye to that public spirit so happily aroused and so desirable to encourage.

Mr. Kennedy contended that we had a good water supply. How was it that all our fires are kept under control on the premises where the fire breaks out? Lack of means was the chief difficulty with the present and past Councils.

He spoke from an experience of two terms in the Council. He was glad to note the class of men who had signed the petitions, as he recognized amongst them those who in the past had objected to the appraisements on their property and paid little or no attention to civic matters.

Mr. Dwyer supported the petitions; but he had a kindly word for our City Fathers. Their rewards came more in the shape of abuse than in dollars and cents. They did as much as they were able to do.

What was wanted was practical men who understood their business.
He did not think the work of the new Commission would be easy and he did not envy them their jobs; but if they wanted any advice from an old man they might call upon him.

Mr. Hickman supported the petitions. He had lived in a section of the city which brought him through filthy streets on his way to business every day and he contended that we owe to the infants and little children who were forced to live in such localities to give them clean surroundings.

Would Help Out.
He was prepared to pay his share of any tax which might be imposed and was pleased to see the stand taken by the Government and hoped the necessary legislation would be forthcoming.

Mr. Coaker had a few words to say.

Other petitions were presented by Mr. Downey, from Codroy for a road; Mr. Woodford, from North Arm for a public wharf; by Mr. Clift, for a wharf at Jones' Cove; and by Mr. Jennings, from Chance Harbor, District of Twillingate, for a wharf.

The Prime Minister moved the House into Committee of the Whole on the subject of the Newfoundland Railway and Train Ferry Service. This is a god-child of the Fog Free Zone legislation, which was the subject of such bitter attacks by the Morris Press and campaign orators in the general election of 1908. The resolutions are quite lengthy and were spoken to by the Prime Minister in a most sympathetic manner.

The following Bills were read a third time and sent for concurrence to the Legislative Council:

"An Act to Amend the Workmen's Compensation Act;
"An Act in Amendment of the Crown Lands Act;
"An Act respecting the Sale of Debenture Bonds for the Public Service of the Colony;
"An Act respecting the Raising of a Sum of Money by Loan for the Extension of the Railway System of the Colony; and
"An Act to provide Certain Retiring Allowances."

Additional estimates for $94,400 were put through Committee.
Mr. Coaker's Bill to provide for the regulation of the employment of men who work in the lumber woods was deferred until Monday.

A second reading was given to amendments made by the Legislative Council to the Pure Food Law. The amendments as explained by the Prime Minister though quibbles are not important.
The amendments to the "Explosives Act" were concurred in, and the House adjourned at 6 o'clock to meet Monday afternoon at three.

Notice of Question.

LIMITED.

It was not his intention to speak at all. Representing as he did an outport district, the discussion might properly be left with representatives of city constituencies; but he wanted it understood the Colony as a whole must not be expected to share any additional taxation in any form for the purposes of improving the City of St. John's.

It was his opinion that the City should have a full measure of incorporation, with the borrowing power controlled by the Legislature.

He was not altogether wedded to the presented idea. The gentlemen who are asking for a temporary measure of civic home rule were all busy men and it would demand a great deal of time to do the work outlined in the petition and run the City as well.

He thought they "bit off too much."

If however this legislation is enacted the very first thing the Commission ought to do is get after absentee landlords and make them pay their proportionate share of taxation on the properties now held by them.

This finished the first round for Municipal Reform. The petitions were referred to the Department of the Colonial Secretary.
