will speak with a decided pro-German accent. Herr Michaelis' putting forward of Field Marshal von Hindenburg and General Ludendorff to discuss German peace conditions with members of the reichstag, his failure to consult parliamentary leaders on prospective new appointments to the imperial Prussian cabinet, his antecedents, previous environment and openly avowed satisfaction of the Conservative National Liberal partymen with the change in chancellors, contribute as Tuesday's German newspapers show to the marked uneasy feeling in Liberal and Socialist circles on what the chancellor's maiden speech Thursday will show. The speech is not expected to go exhaustively into questions of reform or peace as the time is too short for Chancellor Michaelis to elaborate a definite program. The Socialist agency reports that in all pro-bability he will ask six weeks grace to inform himself and work out a detailed policy. The agency un-doubtedly speaking for Herr Scheidemann, the Socialist leader, demands, however, that Herr Michaelis immediately and unequivocally make clear his attitude on the Prussian franchise reform and the peace formula. The Lokal Anzeiger also reckons with a deferred presentation of the chancellor's program and instances the question of parliamentizing the government as one of the problems Herr Michaelis will avoid because it
