

TOO MUCH CRUELTY

Has Been Practiced in the Philippines

Secretary Root Finds Lieut. Arnold Guilty and Reprimands Him.

Washington, July 5.—The war department made public this afternoon the report of Col. Crowder of the Philippine general's department in the case of Lieut. F. T. Arnold of the Fourth Cavalry, charged by private Weir with inhuman cruelties toward Filipino prisoners at Pasay, P. I. This is the case upon which the war department based its contention that the war was being practiced by the Philippine soldiers in the Philippines.

The report of the Philippine general's department was based upon the fact that the Philippine soldiers had been practicing the war in the Philippines and had been practicing the war in the Philippines. The report of the Philippine general's department was based upon the fact that the Philippine soldiers had been practicing the war in the Philippines and had been practicing the war in the Philippines.

The report of the Philippine general's department was based upon the fact that the Philippine soldiers had been practicing the war in the Philippines and had been practicing the war in the Philippines. The report of the Philippine general's department was based upon the fact that the Philippine soldiers had been practicing the war in the Philippines and had been practicing the war in the Philippines.

The report of the Philippine general's department was based upon the fact that the Philippine soldiers had been practicing the war in the Philippines and had been practicing the war in the Philippines. The report of the Philippine general's department was based upon the fact that the Philippine soldiers had been practicing the war in the Philippines and had been practicing the war in the Philippines.

The report of the Philippine general's department was based upon the fact that the Philippine soldiers had been practicing the war in the Philippines and had been practicing the war in the Philippines. The report of the Philippine general's department was based upon the fact that the Philippine soldiers had been practicing the war in the Philippines and had been practicing the war in the Philippines.

The report of the Philippine general's department was based upon the fact that the Philippine soldiers had been practicing the war in the Philippines and had been practicing the war in the Philippines. The report of the Philippine general's department was based upon the fact that the Philippine soldiers had been practicing the war in the Philippines and had been practicing the war in the Philippines.

The report of the Philippine general's department was based upon the fact that the Philippine soldiers had been practicing the war in the Philippines and had been practicing the war in the Philippines. The report of the Philippine general's department was based upon the fact that the Philippine soldiers had been practicing the war in the Philippines and had been practicing the war in the Philippines.

The report of the Philippine general's department was based upon the fact that the Philippine soldiers had been practicing the war in the Philippines and had been practicing the war in the Philippines. The report of the Philippine general's department was based upon the fact that the Philippine soldiers had been practicing the war in the Philippines and had been practicing the war in the Philippines.

The report of the Philippine general's department was based upon the fact that the Philippine soldiers had been practicing the war in the Philippines and had been practicing the war in the Philippines. The report of the Philippine general's department was based upon the fact that the Philippine soldiers had been practicing the war in the Philippines and had been practicing the war in the Philippines.

The report of the Philippine general's department was based upon the fact that the Philippine soldiers had been practicing the war in the Philippines and had been practicing the war in the Philippines. The report of the Philippine general's department was based upon the fact that the Philippine soldiers had been practicing the war in the Philippines and had been practicing the war in the Philippines.

ported as conclusive by Col. Crowder, who expresses the view that their trial therefore, if now possible, would of necessity be followed by conviction and severe punishment. He further reports that such action in the case of Sergeant Edwards cannot be had for the reason that upon publication in the daily press of the fact that such charges had been made against him and that an investigation had been instigated with preliminary action looking to a court martial, the sergeant fled from San Francisco and cannot be located.

May Come to Seattle

Special to the Daily Nugget.
Seattle, July 19.—Seattle is endeavoring to secure next year's convention of the Trans-Mississippi congress.

Water Famine

Special to the Daily Nugget.
Denver, July 19.—Denver is threatened with a water famine and exceptional steps are being taken.

CHURCH NOTICES.

Methodist Church.—The pastor Rev. W. H. Barracough, B.A., will preach both morning and evening. Morning subject, "Abram a Blessing." Evening subject, "A Straight Road to a Clean City." Mrs. F. A. H. Fysh will sing during the evening service. Sunday school at 3 p.m. and Epworth League at 8:45 p.m. Mr. Edwards will have charge.

Child Arraigned

Republic, Ky., July 5.—Susie Fraser, ten years old, the youngest person ever arraigned in the local courts for murder, was in the police court on that charge today.

Last night she went home and found her brother-in-law, George Jones, beating his wife. Going to a drawer she took out a pistol and shot Jones in the stomach. He died a short time afterward. Sentiment favors the child.

"Quick, George!" the wife screamed. "Hurry to the baby! She's trying to swallow her rattle!"

"I know it," replied the husband calmly. "I want her to get ahead of Buffin's baby, who swallowed a button."—Ohio State Journal.

Thunder Mountain a Fake.

Kansas City, Mo., July 1.—C. C. Cline, city editor of the Journal, returned today from a seven weeks' trip to Thunder mountain, the widely advertised gold region of Idaho, to which there was a grand rush this spring. He says Thunder mountain is a fake; that the only gold there is the gold that prospectors take in. It has been advertised as a free milling proposition, and on the strength of this thousands of miners went in over the 170-mile trail this spring to take up claims, but Mr. Cline says there is not a chunk of free milling ore in that region. It is all basic ore, and can not be handled to pay a cent until railroads have been run to the camp and great cyanide works established.

"And nobody has found much basic ore yet," added Mr. Cline, "although the entire region has been prospected by some of the best miners in the Rocky Mountain country."

"There are just six men working in the famous Dewey mine, and one lone man is at work on a six-mile ditch to run water in. You should have heard the old Leadville prospectors cussing the country as they came out. They swore that it was one of the meanest swindles ever perpetrated in the west. The trail to Thunder mountain from Weiser is the worst I ever saw. The first trail to Leadville was a boulevard compared with it. We traveled for ten miles over 6 feet of snow going in, and found plenty of snow 7 feet deep coming out ten days ago."

"Flour was then selling at 20 cents a pound in camp; bacon, beans and salt at 50 cents a pound. A big pack train came in just before we left, and after selling his stock close to these figures, the proprietor found that he had made only fair wages, the difficulties of bringing his train through that frightful 170 miles of wilderness being so expensive."

Didn't See the Bear

Marjorie is a very little girl and consequently she is all the time having new experiences. This spring she has seen the circus for the first time and shortly after that thrilling experience she made her first appearance at church.

She was very much interested in the service. During the morning service they sang that beautiful hymn, "A Consecrated Cross I'll Bear," to which she listened with a very earnest little face.

When she was asked how she enjoyed going to church, she said: "I heard 'em singing about a bear but I didn't see it. It was a 'crated cross-eyed bear, too, and they didn't have that kind at the circus."

Job Printing at Nugget office.

Freddy's First Game

"Who are you, I'd like to know?" asked Freddy, staring at the queer little man before him.

"I'm King Ping," answered the little man.

"That's not much of a name," said Freddy quite impolitely. "And who is the other fellow? He looks as if he might be you, too."

"Well, he isn't then," snapped the little man.

"Indeed I'm not," chimed in the other, though they were alike as two peas. "My name is King Pong, and we're twins."

"Your name sounds familiar," said Freddy. "Where do you live?"

"We're the twin monarchs of the kingdom of Pingpangia. Say, Ping, s'pose we ask the young one to our ball tonight?"

"Agreed!" cried Ping. "Bring your knee pads, young man, and leave your temper at home."

"Why?" asked Freddy.

"Because, silly, you have to do a lot of crawling in Pingpangia, and you're sure to lose your temper. Every one does."

"Pooh!" cried Freddy. "I don't believe it. I'm going anyhow. You are two very stupid-looking kings, you are."

"Thank you," said Ping and Pong together. "We know you are just talking without meaning what you say; every one does it; but sooner or later they come around to thinking we're the gamiest kings reigning, and they beg to go to us. Come on."

Two bouncing little twin pages made their appearance, and they were so lively and jolly that Freddy immediately changed his mind about going, and giving each king a hand, he was whisked off to Pingpangia so quickly that to this day he hasn't an idea how he got there.

One strange thing Freddy noticed on his arrival in Pingpangia—nearly all the inhabitants were twins!

"Why are all the people twins?" he asked one of the pages.

"Hush!" cried Cellu, the first page. "If the kings hear you saying 'people' they'll make fun of you. They're all called 'points' here."

"I should call them anything but points," said Freddy.

"Don't dispute," said Lloyd, the other page. "It isn't allowed. Come on, it's time for the ball."

They led Freddy to a huge level tableland, where Ping and Pong were seated.

"What's going to happen?" asked Freddy.

"We are to fight a duel," explained King Ping, who was dressed in royal yellow.

"With what?" asked Freddy.

"With each other," responded King Ping, who was dressed to match his twin. "Or I should say with the pages here, Cellu and Lloyd."

Ping vaulted over the fence, or what Freddy had at first taken to be a chicken wire fence, and he noticed it divided the tableland exactly in half.

"Before we commence," said Pong, "let's ask the young man some questions. Can you creep?"

"Creep?" echoed Freddy. "I used to. Why?"

"Can you stand on your head?" asked Ping, as Pong did not answer.

"Of course," said Freddy, indignant at even being asked such a question.

"Can you jump and dive and run and crawl very swiftly?" they both anxiously inquired.

"Very," answered Freddy. "I wish you'd hurry up."

"Well, mind your eyes and your fingers and your heels, then, and don't go to sleep," commanded the kings. "You are to keep the pages in order and have 'em here when we want 'em."

"All right," agreed Freddy cheerfully. That would be easy, he thought for the pages were very quiet unless somebody poked them.

But alas, little he knew of it. "Are you ready?" asked Ping.

"Play!" cried Pong, and with that what did Ping do but hit one of the pages a dreadful blow that sent him bounding over the fence into Pong's half of the kingdom. Then Pong hit him and he came soaring back again, only to be battered over the fence again, until he finally hit the fence and rolled to the tableland.

"Hah!" cried Ping. "Here's a point for me, young man. You see, we fight to people our kingdoms, and the one that gets the most points (people you call them) wins. This is Sir Fifteen-Love. Brother Pong over there was fighting to get Sir Fifteen-Love's twin, Lady Love-Fifteen, but—ha-ha-ha—I fixed him that time."

Then King Ping again hit Cellu a terrific blow, and the page bounded over the fence. Back and forth he kept going. Ping and Pong shouting excitedly, till Pong suddenly called "Out!" in a very loud voice.

"Pooh!" cried Freddy. "I should think it would be out by this time. Three strikes is out, you know."

"Stir your stumps there!" shouted Ping. "Do you think you're hired to make disagreeable remarks? Go catch that page; he's a lazy little beggar!"

Montana's Minerals.

Helena, Mont., July 5.—The report of B. H. Tatem, assayer in charge of the United States assay office at Helena, to the director of the mint for the year 1901, just issued, shows that the value of the gold, silver, copper and lead produced in Montana that year was $60,367,619.01.

Of that amount $4,802,717.39 was in gold, $18,334,423.26 in silver, $36,751,837.34 in copper and $498,622.02 in lead.

As compared with the production of 1899, the decrease is about $3,000,000, due to the lessened production of copper.

The report shows that since the discovery of gold in Montana 40 years ago; more than $1,000,000,000 has been taken from the streams and mountains of the state. Little change in the value of the gold production, as compared with the previous year, is shown, and attention is called to the enlarged use of the cyaniding process during the year. There was also little change in the value of the silver produced.

In the table showing the production by counties, Lewis and Clark lead in the value of the gold, with $1,056,138.32. Granite leads in the value of silver, with $2,353,304.49. Silver Bow in copper, with $27,743,263 fine pounds. Meagher leads in the production of lead, with 2,500,000 fine pounds.

The Nugget's facilities for turning out first-class job work cannot be excelled this side of San Francisco.

complaint are Henry Cole, the Peniel Trust Association and the Rev. Frost Craft, Charles B. Allen and Albert Cole, trustees. The complaint alleges that during the two years past Henry Cole refused to give his wife any money for her own use, even for the purchase of articles needed in their home, and charges him with cruelty in various forms. Mrs. Cole claims a share in the estate on the ground that she has earned it by keeping boarders for ten years, by collecting rents, keeping house without servants, buying property and otherwise managing the estate.

Wanted—Position as cook, either for club in the city or on the coast. Apply this office.

Special power of attorney forms for sale at the Nugget office.

Wife Enters Protest
Denver, Colo., July 11.—Mrs. Queen V. Cole, through attorneys, today filed in the district court a suit to recover one-half the property, principally Denver real estate, valued at $200,000, which was recently presented to the Peniel Trust, a Methodist organization, by her husband, Henry Cole, despite her protest. The defendants named in the not charged with resisting an officer. Magistrate Wroeghton pointed out to Samuel that although he may have had great provocation, he should not have disturbed other people by being disorderly on the street and as a reminder that he must in future be more circumspect, a fine of $10 and costs, including $3 for wagon hire to take Samuel to the barracks, was imposed.

For Fighting
Samuel Fretwell was in police court this morning charged with riotous and disorderly conduct which consisted of fighting on First avenue.

He pleaded guilty to the charge and said in extenuation that the man with whom he was having trouble had called him a liar and other bad names and had also spoken in very disrespectful terms of a lady by whom he, Fretwell, had been employed on a mining claim. He was perfectly sober at the time and had engaged in the fight for the reason that he was being abused by the other man. He said he was somewhat excited and did not intend to resist arrest and did not intentionally strike at a policeman with a club exhibited in court and which it would have been possible to put a quietus on a mule. However, he was

Magistrate Wroeghton pointed out to Samuel that although he may have had great provocation, he should not have disturbed other people by being disorderly on the street and as a reminder that he must in future be more circumspect, a fine of $10 and costs, including $3 for wagon hire to take Samuel to the barracks, was imposed.

Wife Enters Protest
Denver, Colo., July 11.—Mrs. Queen V. Cole, through attorneys, today filed in the district court a suit to recover one-half the property, principally Denver real estate, valued at $200,000, which was recently presented to the Peniel Trust, a Methodist organization, by her husband, Henry Cole, despite her protest. The defendants named in the not charged with resisting an officer. Magistrate Wroeghton pointed out to Samuel that although he may have had great provocation, he should not have disturbed other people by being disorderly on the street and as a reminder that he must in future be more circumspect, a fine of $10 and costs, including $3 for wagon hire to take Samuel to the barracks, was imposed.

For Fighting
Samuel Fretwell was in police court this morning charged with riotous and disorderly conduct which consisted of fighting on First avenue.

He pleaded guilty to the charge and said in extenuation that the man with whom he was having trouble had called him a liar and other bad names and had also spoken in very disrespectful terms of a lady by whom he, Fretwell, had been employed on a mining claim. He was perfectly sober at the time and had engaged in the fight for the reason that he was being abused by the other man. He said he was somewhat excited and did not intend to resist arrest and did not intentionally strike at a policeman with a club exhibited in court and which it would have been possible to put a quietus on a mule. However, he was

Magistrate Wroeghton pointed out to Samuel that although he may have had great provocation, he should not have disturbed other people by being disorderly on the street and as a reminder that he must in future be more circumspect, a fine of $10 and costs, including $3 for wagon hire to take Samuel to the barracks, was imposed.

Wife Enters Protest
Denver, Colo., July 11.—Mrs. Queen V. Cole, through attorneys, today filed in the district court a suit to recover one-half the property, principally Denver real estate, valued at $200,000, which was recently presented to the Peniel Trust, a Methodist organization, by her husband, Henry Cole, despite her protest. The defendants named in the not charged with resisting an officer. Magistrate Wroeghton pointed out to Samuel that although he may have had great provocation, he should not have disturbed other people by being disorderly on the street and as a reminder that he must in future be more circumspect, a fine of $10 and costs, including $3 for wagon hire to take Samuel to the barracks, was imposed.

For Fighting
Samuel Fretwell was in police court this morning charged with riotous and disorderly conduct which consisted of fighting on First avenue.

He pleaded guilty to the charge and said in extenuation that the man with whom he was having trouble had called him a liar and other bad names and had also spoken in very disrespectful terms of a lady by whom he, Fretwell, had been employed on a mining claim. He was perfectly sober at the time and had engaged in the fight for the reason that he was being abused by the other man. He said he was somewhat excited and did not intend to resist arrest and did not intentionally strike at a policeman with a club exhibited in court and which it would have been possible to put a quietus on a mule. However, he was

Magistrate Wroeghton pointed out to Samuel that although he may have had great provocation, he should not have disturbed other people by being disorderly on the street and as a reminder that he must in future be more circumspect, a fine of $10 and costs, including $3 for wagon hire to take Samuel to the barracks, was imposed.

Wife Enters Protest
Denver, Colo., July 11.—Mrs. Queen V. Cole, through attorneys, today filed in the district court a suit to recover one-half the property, principally Denver real estate, valued at $200,000, which was recently presented to the Peniel Trust, a Methodist organization, by her husband, Henry Cole, despite her protest. The defendants named in the not charged with resisting an officer. Magistrate Wroeghton pointed out to Samuel that although he may have had great provocation, he should not have disturbed other people by being disorderly on the street and as a reminder that he must in future be more circumspect, a fine of $10 and costs, including $3 for wagon hire to take Samuel to the barracks, was imposed.

For Fighting
Samuel Fretwell was in police court this morning charged with riotous and disorderly conduct which consisted of fighting on First avenue.

He pleaded guilty to the charge and said in extenuation that the man with whom he was having trouble had called him a liar and other bad names and had also spoken in very disrespectful terms of a lady by whom he, Fretwell, had been employed on a mining claim. He was perfectly sober at the time and had engaged in the fight for the reason that he was being abused by the other man. He said he was somewhat excited and did not intend to resist arrest and did not intentionally strike at a policeman with a club exhibited in court and which it would have been possible to put a quietus on a mule. However, he was

Magistrate Wroeghton pointed out to Samuel that although he may have had great provocation, he should not have disturbed other people by being disorderly on the street and as a reminder that he must in future be more circumspect, a fine of $10 and costs, including $3 for wagon hire to take Samuel to the barracks, was imposed.

Wife Enters Protest
Denver, Colo., July 11.—Mrs. Queen V. Cole, through attorneys, today filed in the district court a suit to recover one-half the property, principally Denver real estate, valued at $200,000, which was recently presented to the Peniel Trust, a Methodist organization, by her husband, Henry Cole, despite her protest. The defendants named in the not charged with resisting an officer. Magistrate Wroeghton pointed out to Samuel that although he may have had great provocation, he should not have disturbed other people by being disorderly on the street and as a reminder that he must in future be more circumspect, a fine of $10 and costs, including $3 for wagon hire to take Samuel to the barracks, was imposed.

For Fighting
Samuel Fretwell was in police court this morning charged with riotous and disorderly conduct which consisted of fighting on First avenue.

He pleaded guilty to the charge and said in extenuation that the man with whom he was having trouble had called him a liar and other bad names and had also spoken in very disrespectful terms of a lady by whom he, Fretwell, had been employed on a mining claim. He was perfectly sober at the time and had engaged in the fight for the reason that he was being abused by the other man. He said he was somewhat excited and did not intend to resist arrest and did not intentionally strike at a policeman with a club exhibited in court and which it would have been possible to put a quietus on a mule. However, he was

Magistrate Wroeghton pointed out to Samuel that although he may have had great provocation, he should not have disturbed other people by being disorderly on the street and as a reminder that he must in future be more circumspect, a fine of $10 and costs, including $3 for wagon hire to take Samuel to the barracks, was imposed.

Wife Enters Protest
Denver, Colo., July 11.—Mrs. Queen V. Cole, through attorneys, today filed in the district court a suit to recover one-half the property, principally Denver real estate, valued at $200,000, which was recently presented to the Peniel Trust, a Methodist organization, by her husband, Henry Cole, despite her protest. The defendants named in the not charged with resisting an officer. Magistrate Wroeghton pointed out to Samuel that although he may have had great provocation, he should not have disturbed other people by being disorderly on the street and as a reminder that he must in future be more circumspect, a fine of $10 and costs, including $3 for wagon hire to take Samuel to the barracks, was imposed.

For Fighting
Samuel Fretwell was in police court this morning charged with riotous and disorderly conduct which consisted of fighting on First avenue.

He pleaded guilty to the charge and said in extenuation that the man with whom he was having trouble had called him a liar and other bad names and had also spoken in very disrespectful terms of a lady by whom he, Fretwell, had been employed on a mining claim. He was perfectly sober at the time and had engaged in the fight for the reason that he was being abused by the other man. He said he was somewhat excited and did not intend to resist arrest and did not intentionally strike at a policeman with a club exhibited in court and which it would have been possible to put a quietus on a mule. However, he was

Magistrate Wroeghton pointed out to Samuel that although he may have had great provocation, he should not have disturbed other people by being disorderly on the street and as a reminder that he must in future be more circumspect, a fine of $10 and costs, including $3 for wagon hire to take Samuel to the barracks, was imposed.

Wife Enters Protest
Denver, Colo., July 11.—Mrs. Queen V. Cole, through attorneys, today filed in the district court a suit to recover one-half the property, principally Denver real estate, valued at $200,000, which was recently presented to the Peniel Trust, a Methodist organization, by her husband, Henry Cole, despite her protest. The defendants named in the

Cartoons do Harm

Berlin, July 11.—The government officials here are taking cognizance of the ill feeling in Great Britain toward Germany caused by the brutal cartoons and pleasantries here on King Edward's illness. The North German Gazette reproduced an article severely censuring the comic papers for their malevolence in the treatment of foreign politics, saying that millions of Germans take their views of foreign affairs from the illustrated papers in the cafes and beer gardens. These form so much more a feature of German life here than elsewhere that millions of citizens get their only impressions of events and persons from the cartoons, hence the enormous influence of the comic press of Germany.

The foreign office has been showing unusual sensitiveness over what is printed in England about Germany. Before the British ambassador, Sir Frank C. Lascelles, left Berlin for the coronation, the secretary for foreign affairs, Baron von Richthofen, conversing with him at the British embassy about the attitude of the correspondents in Berlin of English newspapers, produced copies of several dispatches written in an anti-German tone. The ambassador read them, touched a button and had a scrap-book brought to him. He then pointed out to Baron von Richthofen two or three articles, clipped from the German press, of the most outrageous character, against Great Britain and the British royal family. The baron put his own clippings in his pocket and changed the subject.

Job printing at Nugget office.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS

LAWYERS

PATULLO & RIDLEY—Advocates, Notaries, Conveyancers, etc. Office, Rooms 7 and 8 A. C. Office Bldg.

R. W. Shannon, M. A. W. M. McKay, B. A.

McKAY & SHANNON, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries

Monte Carlo Bldg., 1st Ave., Dawson.

N. F. HAGEL, K. C.—Law office, Monte Carlo building, First avenue. Phone—Office, 129b; residence, 89c.

—Dawson, Y. T.

SURVEYORS

G. WHITE-FRASER—M. Can. Soc. C. E.; M. Am. Inst. E. E.; D. T. S. Phone 106b. Cor. Church and Third avenue.

...J. J. O'NEIL..

MINING EXPERT

Quartz mines examined and reported on. Correspondence solicited.

Address, General Delivery, Dawson

BANK SALOON

Wines, Liquors and Cigars 25c

1st Ave. and King St. Opp N. C. Co.

Regina Hotel...

Dawson's Leading Hotel

American and European Plan. Cuisine Unexcelled. Newly Refitted Throughout—All Modern Improvements. Rooms and board by the day, week or month.

2nd Ave. and York St. Dawson

EMIL STAUF

REAL ESTATE, MINING AND FINANCIAL BROKER

Agents for Harper & Lodge Townsite Co., Harper's Addition, Menard's Addition, The Imperial Life Insurance Company.

Collections Promptly Attended to

Money to Loan. Houses to Rent. Gold, Silver, Gems and Sold.

N. C. Office Bldg., King St.

Pacific Coast Steamship Co.

Affords a Complete Coastwise service, Covering

Alaska, Washington, California, Oregon and Mexico.

Our boats are manned by the most skillful navigators.

Exceptional Service the Rule.

All Steamers Carry Both Freight and Passengers

Apply to the Office

Special power of attorney forms for sale at the Nugget office.

Wanted—Position as cook, either for club in the city or on the coast. Apply this office.

Special power of attorney forms for sale at the Nugget office.

Wanted—Position as cook, either for club in the city or on the coast. Apply this office.

Special power of attorney forms for sale at the Nugget office.

Wanted—Position as cook, either for club in the city or on the coast. Apply this office.

Special power of attorney forms for sale at the Nugget office.

Wanted—Position as cook, either for club in the city or on the coast. Apply this office.

Special power of attorney forms for sale at the Nugget office.

Wanted—Position as cook, either for club in the city or on the coast. Apply this office.

Special power of attorney forms for sale at the Nugget office.

Wanted—Position as cook, either for club in the city or on the coast. Apply this office.

Special power of attorney forms for sale at the Nugget office.