FREDERICTON, FEBRUARY 25, 1893.

MR. PITTS AND THE GRAND LODGE.

The grand lodge of the orangemen of New Brunswick has been in session in this city during the week. A large amount of interest centered in the meeting of the grand lodge this year, as it was understood that several matters of more than ordinary importance would come up for consideration. During the year the Bathurst school question, so called, had been brought prominently to the front, and an effort had been made in certain quarters to work up a religious war between the Catholics and the Protestants, on account of the refusal of the government to interfere in the management of the public school in Bathurst, where it was alleged certain abuses of the free schools act existed. The agitation took the form in York county, of a violent crusade against the government in the provincial election. One H. H. Pitts, the county master of the order, assisted by a few other equally ignorant and excitable individuals, worked upon the weaker minded oragenes of this county to such an extent as to secure for himself a nomination. Once nominated he flooded the county with religious literature of an inflammatory nature; and in company with others of his class, made a house to house canvass as the champion of protestantism, alleging that the Blair government was in league with the pope, and had promised the Catholics to establish separate schools if returned to power. To their everlasting disgrace the opposition candidates for York allied with Pitts and took him on their ticket. With the assistance of an unlimited supply of rum and money the "religious city" carried the day in York, and attorney general Blair and his colleagues were defeated at the polls.

Mr. Blair, satisfied that the cry which had been raised against him in York, and which he had not had an opportunity to meet and answer, was a false as well as dangerous one to the peace and happiness of the province, and with a desire to meet the enemy in fair fight and to vanquish or vanquished, went to Queens, the hotbed of orangemen, and sought election. Pitts and his gang immediately followed him and again tried to stir up the feeling of the people of Queens by the same methods he had resorted to in York, in the interest of his nominee, Mr. Neales, the county master of Queens. The people, however, after hearing both sides of the story, refused to listen to the inflammatory speeches of the gang that went down from York, and Neales lost his deposit. Pitts, who had sneaked home in the shades of the evening preceding the election, was understood to be waiting for the grand lodge to meet, when he intended to take charge of the whole business. He was going to call upon the grand lodge to condemn those members of the order, who being members of the house of assembly, had refused to present to the house the petition of the protestant minority of Bathurst; the government was to be censured for dismissing an incompetent official who belonged to the order, and then totally annihilated for their alleged persecution of the protestants of the province; and above all the said Pitts was to be elected grand master, with all the powers of a dictator.

But before the grand lodge had been many hours in session a change passed over the spirit of Herman's dream. The great crowd that had gathered to witness the taking which was to consign brothers Wilson and Colter to the ante room. Scarcely a decent corporal's guard rallied to support of Pitt's resolution, while the great body of the lodge stood by the men who had stood by the principles of the order when Pitt was in his cradle. He began to realize about how large a man he was in the opinion of his brother orangemen when the election for grand master was over. Outside of the baker's dozen of leaders who were trusted in from the city, only three men in the whole grand lodge wrote his name on their ballot. The resolution which was to bind up brother Lipsett's broken wounds was mournfully removed from the files of the lodge, and the great vote of censure on the government failed to materialize.

It is said that Pitts has been going around in a dazed kind of a way ever since. He was badly set upon. In all the province there will be no tears and no regrets at his severe punishment. It was well deserved. To satisfy his desire for revenge he wilfully misrepresented brothers whose honor he was in duty bound to protect; to advance his own selfish ends he deliberately prostituted the order whose principles he was sworn to uphold, and trailed her banner in the dirt.

The members of the orange grand lodge will win the approval of all right thinking men in their refusal to tolerate the existence of the Pitts element among them. They had a different way to deal with, but they did their duty like men who felt that a responsibility rested upon them. Their prompt action in the matter has undoubtedly done much to remove the rapidly growing impression that the orange order was degenerating into a dangerous element to the existence of organized society.

AFTER A "SNAP."

We take the following Ottawa despatch from the Halifax Recorder: OTTAWA, Feb. 22.—Thos. Temple, (M. P. for York, N. B.), is making a big effort to secure a position for Wm. Lipsett, who was recently in the local government employ at Fredericton. As there is no vacancy here or in Fredericton, he proposed to retire or discharge a Fredericton employee to make room for Lipsett.

If there is any truth in the above, what could the job be? We understand Mr. Temple himself wants to be senator. Perhaps Lipsett is Pitts' nominee for re-election. If we mistake not, the Reporter recently stated that Messrs. Pitts and Temple had an interview. In the meantime we understand good wages are paid for steamdrivers and men are in great demand.

The Hon. Edward Blake, judging from the reports that come from over the sea, is rapidly forging his way to the front ranks in the arena of imperial politics. He is already spoken of as the leader of the Irish national party. He would, no doubt, make a good leader as long as he had fairly smooth sailing, but would he stand by the ship to the west, in the face of cross waves and adverse winds? His record as leader of the liberal party in Canada would naturally suggest the question.

FUTURITY STAKES.

Around the World.

THE Nominations for the Hotel Brunswick Futurity Stakes Close March 1st.

The horsemen and breeders of the Maritime Provinces added to the excitement of the first payment in the Hotel Brunswick Futurity Stakes falls due on Wednesday next, March 1st, when nominations close. Payments must be made to the manager, George McSwenny, at the office of the Hotel Brunswick, or by registered letter bearing stamp of despatching office of no later date than that above given, March 1st. The conditions of these stakes are, briefly, as follows: The Hotel Brunswick Futurity Stakes, for trotting foals of 1889, 1890, 1891 and 1892, are open to all eligible animals owned in the maritime provinces on or before January 1st, 1893. The fee in each stake are $12.00, payable as follows:—$3.00 on March 1st, when nominations close; $4.00 on June 1st, when animals nominated must be named, and breeding, sex, color and ownership filed; and final payment of $5.00 one week before the race. Any owner can nominate any number of eligible colts and fillies in each or any stake, but can start only one animal in any one class. Fifty dollars will be added to each of the named classes, the purses consisting of the entrance fees and this added money, divided according to the practical and satisfactory conditions laid down in the advertisement. There should be a very large list of well worth contending for, in addition to the prestige attached to any colt or filly deemed sufficiently speedy to take part in such important stakes.

We need not reiterate the advantages to owners of promising young animals of making nominations in these stakes, as they are well aware of the enhanced value of every animal, whether named or not, which is sufficiently speedy and well developed to come to the starting post in this meeting, which is to take place on Moncton driving park on August 20th and 31st next. There should be a very large list of nominations in these stakes, as the purses are sure to be large, the conditions and terms of payment are easy, and there are large sums of eligible colts and fillies throughout the numerous breeding sections of the Maritime provinces, that should be entered. There are scores of finely bred sires now doing service in Lower Canada, and breeders look for the nomination of the progeny of these stallions in such stakes as those inaugurated and promoted by the general proprietor of the Hotel Brunswick, who is leaving nothing undone to make the meeting a success.

That Mr. McSwenny will make the Hotel Brunswick Futurity Stakes of 1893 a complete success, is guaranteed by the excellent and thoroughly satisfactory manner in which he handled the Futurity Stakes of 1892, on the Moncton track, and his enterprise and pluck in continuing these stakes are highly commendable, and deserving of the practical encouragement and support of every horseman in the Lower provinces. We hope to be able, shortly, in publishing the list of entries, to present to the public the largest and most representative list of nominations ever seen in the Maritime provinces since the inauguration here of that extremely popular form of racing, and we hope that New Brunswick's contribution will not be the smallest.

CIVIL WAR IN IRELAND.
The Orange Societies in the North of Ireland Preparing for the War. BELFAST, FEB. 21st.—A manifesto issued on behalf of the Grand Orange lodge of Belfast contains the following words: "We are fast and with a stupendous crisis as if we had lost one hundred battles of the Boyne, and surrendered as many Londonderrys with helters around our necks. More disastrous or humiliating terms could not be dictated to any conqueror than those which the History of Ireland bears. We have not, however, lost a single battle of the Boyne, nor have we surrendered. Therefore we do not mean to accept any humiliating or disastrous terms. We demand legislative union with Great Britain and Ireland, or freedom to direct our own course among the free people of the world; there is no half way house. The experience of nearly a hundred years has proved the fact to be the greatest means of social and material advancement that Ireland has ever seen, and we accept the other sorrowfully, but courageously as the only alternative left to deserted and betrayed people. But any attempt to force upon us a bastard combination of the two, we declare before God we will resist by every means in our power, even to the death. A great mass meeting will be held in Ulster hall on the evening of March 2, at 8 o'clock, to give expression to your views and to embody them in a definite and practical resolution. Meanwhile it becomes our duty to warn you and everyone who is in sympathy of the danger there is of a community whose feelings are exasperated and outraged as ours are of being betrayed and sold out to the enemy, and to play into the hands of our enemies. We earnestly caution you, therefore, to be very generous in the maintenance of order and peace, and so far as in your power lies to give no offence. Be slow to take offense yourselves, look upon the quarrel as the quarrel of your enemies, but as friends. The flower of the police and of the military are at heart in fullest sympathy with you. Be careful then not to alienate a single man from our just and patriotic cause. We bid defiance to the bombs of dynasties and the big battalions of criminal conspirators directed by Gladstone against our joint inheritance with England, Scotland and Wales in the United Kingdom. By our demeanor, peaceful and orderly as firm and undaunted, we show the men who are marching through rapine and murder that we are not braggarts, but free men who know their rights, and with the help of God are determined to maintain them. (Signed) "Richard K Kane, L. D., grand master, and Thomas McCormick, grand secretary."
