THROUGH GERMAN EYES.

The opposition to the League of Nations, which has recently developed so strongly through the German Press is but characteristic of German ideas and thought. Not that any hostility manifested by Germany will have any effect on the successful formation of the Society, which is already partly accomplished, but the sentiments of the late enemy are worthy of note, because it shows that there is still but one trend of thought in that country, and that—hatred of the British Empire—a hatred which is likely to become intensified rather than reduced as time goes on. The German sees but one thing in the League of Nations scheme, the domination of the world by the British people, or perhaps it would be more to the point, if we said Anglo-Saxons. Included in the hateful of the Germans is America, which country is disliked second only to Britain. No matter what form the future Government of Germany will take, Republican, Bolshevik, Socialist or Spartan, or whether it returns again to the Imperial dynasty, hatred of the two chief performers in the war which brought about its defeat and ignominious surrender will be taught and engendered. It is not surprising, therefore, that so soon, Germany is voicing hostility to the formation of a Federation of the Powers to which she only can be admitted on sufferance and after serving a strict probationary period.

The cable announcement of the protest uttered by German newspapers, expressing themselves as being opposed to the League merely echoes similar sentiments contained in an unsigned article published in a leading German magazine last December, in which the writer opens his subject, "The Suicide of Europe," by declaring that as the most obvious result of the war the European Continent, as a deciding political factor, must disappear, three great powers—England, America and Japan—having divided up the mastery of the world between them; the former being master of Europe and Africa; England and Japan the masters of Asia and America and Japan the masters of the New World. Through this division of domination an understanding between England and America, would result in the division of all the spheres of interest in the world between them, there being no Power left in Europe strong enough to deny or prevent them from thus securing the mastery of those portions of the earth which appeal to them most, in addition to that which they already possess. The writer further states that the surrender of Austria and of Bulgaria gave Britain a free hand in the Balkans, thus removing any menace from Europe toward Egypt and India. Holland retains her foreign Colonies only at the pleasure of England, which "by her fleet rules the Northern Kingdoms (Denmark, Norway and Sweden) politically and commercially so completely that there is no need to annex them officially. She (England) can stop transport to every single continental state so long as Central and Eastern Europe is composed of decentralised states." The bitterness of the German spirit can be perceived clearly, the policy which is attributed to England being precisely that which Germany would have adopted had she come out of the war a victor. "Germany above all" was her battle cry and everything made in Germany would have been imposed on a world abject and powerless to resist or refuse. The Hun is the Hun still, in peace as in war, and the Versailles Conference have had this unchangeable trait to consider in finalising the Treaty which is all but ready for signature.

A Novel Competition.

WHO WILL BE THE WINNER?

In his interview with Capt. Penn yesterday, the Telegram reporter suggested that he (the captain) give a fight in the smaller aeroplane he is having sent here, to some Newfoundland, and that the one who paid the most for the honor would get the trip. The proceeds of the auction to be devoted to some patriotic or charitable fund. Anyone in the country may compete and all offers are to be mailed to the Telegram. His Excellency the Governor will fly first, after which the prize passenger flight will be made in view of the entire city of St. John's. Capt. Penn has kindly consented to this arrangement, and bids may be sent immediately, the highest winning. Address: "Aeroplane Flight," c/o Evening Telegram. The names and addresses of the bidders, with their amounts offered, will be published by us, unless otherwise desired by the senders. Just write us the name, the address and how much money you would be prepared to pay for the honor of being the first Newfoundland to fly above the ancient town of St. John's. The auction is open until announced closed by us.

Major Outerbridge, D. S. O.

From messages received yesterday we learn that Major Leonard Outerbridge, D. S. O., is with the draft of Canadian soldiers now returning. Major Outerbridge is the son of Sir Joseph Outerbridge and has seen quite a bit of fighting, just returning from France. Undoubtedly his friends will welcome him on his visit to Newfoundland.

Last Night's Game.

VICS DEFEAT FELDIANS, 9-7.

In a good fast exhibition of hockey the Vics won over the Feldians in the opening game of the second round of the Hockey series, thus making their chances good for the winning of the challenge cup. At the end of the first period the Feldians had a lead of two goals, and things looked pretty easy for them. Both teams worked hard in the second period, and it was anybody's game, play seemed to be very evenly divided, both losing good chances to score, and the whistle sounded with the Feldians 4, Vics 2. Some lively play was seen in the third period, the Vics started to live things up, and soon overtook the score. Play zig-zagged and both goal tenders were called on many times. Doc Power and Volsey were both in good form and saved remarkably well. The Feldians kept in the lead and played hard but the Vics kept pressing, and once more evened up the score. On resuming play the Feldians tallied another and with only a few minutes to go things looked easy for them. Through some fumbling however, the Vics noticed up two goals in quick succession, and the game ended with the score standing, Vics 9, Feldians 7. For the Feldians, Ewing played a star game, and accounted for several goals.

At the Majestic.

The attendances for every show at the Majestic Theatre yesterday were large, and the pictures exceptionally good. The first chapter of the big serial "Zudora" headed the program and the popular and talented Marguerite Snow in the title role was never seen in a more thrilling part. The story was written by Mr. Harold McCreath whose fame as a creator of mystery and adventure tales is widely known. A more mystifying and interesting series of happenings than those related in "Zudora," it would be difficult to conceive, and although everyone of the twenty chapters of which the story is made up, is complete in itself, there is nevertheless a connecting link which makes those who have seen one episode anxious to witness the next. For any who desire to see some startling detective work, complete with the best in adventure and love "Zudora" cannot be surpassed. Another big item of the program was a World film picture entitled "As Ye Sow," featuring Alice Brady. The foregoing with a sparkling comedy make up a splendid bill which will be repeated this afternoon and evening.

A Burning Question.

IS WHALE FLESH OF FISH?

A customs controversy involving the unique issue of the proper tariff classification of imported whale meat will shortly come before the Board of United States General Appraisers, New York, for determination. The case is scheduled for hearing in March. The merchandise in question, described as "canned whale meat," was imported by the North Pacific Sea Products Company, of Tacoma, Washington. It was shipped from Victoria, B.C., and entered at the customs district of Seattle, Wash. The customs appraising officials classified the whale meat as "fish, in tin packages," and duty was collected at the rate of 15 per cent. ad valorem under paragraph 215, tariff act of 1913. The importers, through their attorneys, Strauss & Hedges, will contend before the Customs Board that this whale meat should have been permitted free entry under the provision in paragraph 245 of the existing tariff law for "meat of all kinds, prepared." The issue will hinge on the question of whether or not whale meat is considered fish within the meaning of that term as used in the tariff act.—N.Y. Fishing Gazette.

St. George's Coal.

A NEW STOCK ISSUE.

Upon enquiry at the office of the St. George's Coal Fields, Ltd., this morning, we were informed that the first issue of stock, amounting to $25,000, had been disposed of, having been over-subscribed, and that several offers for stock at par value of $1 per share, had been received from various parts of the country, particularly the West Coast. The very latest report from mining headquarters show that the 6-foot seam, which we referred to recently, continues to hold its width of pure, clean coal. As the company has proven the Juke's seam to contain pure coal to a greater extent than was anticipated by the geologists, it is now making preparations to open up other sections of this valuable seam, which runs right through the centre of the property. It is also intended, we understand, at the commencement of Spring, to open up the Murray Seam, which is seven feet wide, carrying 5 feet 4 inches of coal at its outcrop at the Barachois River, and also the Howley Seam, which carries 4 feet 2 inches of coal. The management now feels sanguine that they have a Coal Mine, and that they can show more coal, after the small expenditure of a few thousand dollars, than the combined efforts previously attempted in Newfoundland, excepting, of course, South Branch, now under operation by the Reid Mfd. Co., where there are, it is understood, also excellent deposits of coal.

Police Court.

A man was charged with the larceny of $105 from the Union Store at Bonavista. He was remanded for 6 days, in the meantime being released on his own recognisances, to appear when called.
A man was fined $5 or 14 days for assault.
The preliminary enquiry into the rape case at St. John's was begun this afternoon.
The case of the two returned soldiers who broke into the store of J. J. Mulcahy was also begun.

Personal Notes From Abroad.

R. K. Bishop, senior member of Bishop, Sons & Co., Ltd., St. John's, Nfld., has returned to New York for a second time this season. Mr. Bishop has taken a keen interest in Newfoundland Scotch cured herring received here this winter, and has not hesitated in expressing his disappointment at the poor quality of the fish.

Under the "Red Duster."

The former Boston fishing schooner Josie and Phoebe left Boston recently for Burin, Nfld., which will hereafter be her port of call. The vessel has already been granted a provisional British registry and she went out under the British flag, although "Boston" had not been obliterated from her stern. She will run between Newfoundland and Spain, carrying fish to Cadiz and returning with sail.
