The Widow Will Rejoice on the Isle of Wight—Lord Leighton's Probable Successor III—Will Vanderbilt Marry a Duchess?

(Special Saturday Cable Letter to the "Advertiser.")

London, Feb. 1.—All the arrangements for the funeral of Prince Henry of Battenberg, who died during the evening of Jan. 20, while on his way to the island of Madeira, on board the British cruiser Blenheim, of fever contracted while serving in the Ashanti expedition, have been completed. The remains will be entombed in Westminster Abbey at 12:30 p.m. on Wednesday next, and the ceremonies will be most impressive. The body was transferred yesterday at Funchal, island of Madeira, from the Blenheim to the first-class cruiser Blenheim. The last named warship almost immediately afterwards started for England. The Blenheim conveyed the remains of the late Sir John Thompson, the Canadian Premier, who died suddenly at Windsor Castle, to Canada. Upon the arrival of the Blenheim at Portsmouth the body of Prince Henry of Battenberg will be transferred to the royal yacht Albert, and will be taken across the Solent to the Isle of Wight. The casket will remain on board the Albert until Wednesday. On board ship the body rests on a bier, erected on the quarter-deck, draped with blue and white and with British white ensigns.

It is expected that the Queen and Princess Beatrice will be present at the disinterment of the remains, and that they will follow the casket, which will be carried by Scots Guardsmen, to Westminster Abbey, not far from Osborne House.

THE PRINCESS' FUTURE.

In spite of the fact that they have been suffering from terrible grief, the Queen and Princess Beatrice have continued to enjoy excellent health. Her Majesty has granted to the widowed Princess the use during the latter's lifetime of Osborne Cottage, near Osborne House, a pretty place, formerly occupied by the late Sir Henry Ponsonby, for many years private secretary to the Queen, and Keeper of the Privy Purse, who died on March 12, last year. Princess Beatrice has resolved to make her home on the Isle of Wight, of which her late husband was Governor, and where he was much liked.

The February drawing-room has been abandoned, and her Majesty will start for the continent two weeks later than previously determined upon, starting for Cinzia during the first week of March.

GLOOMY EVENTS.

All the recent events of any importance have been of gloomy character. The deaths of Lord Leighton, president of the Royal Academy; Sir Joseph Barnby, the distinguished musician, and Right Hon. Hugh C. E. Childers, who, in various Ministerial capacities, was instrumental in bringing about many reforms in the army and navy, and the colliery disaster at Taylorstown, Wales, when over 50 miners lost their lives, following close upon the news of the death of the Queen's esteemed son-in-law, husband of her favorite daughter, have not calculated in any way to dispel the atmosphere of depression hanging over these islands.

LORD LEIGHTON'S SUCCESSOR.

St. Paul's Cathedral on Monday will be the scene of the funeral of Lord Leighton, and on Tuesday will receive the remains of Sir Joseph Barnby. The former will be the most imposing ceremony. The pall-bearers will be the leading representatives of art, science and literature, a representative of the Queen, and a couple of Cabinet Ministers. Sir John Millais, R.A., who is mentioned as the probable successor of Lord Leighton as president of the Royal Academy, will represent that institution. The health of Sir John Millais, who is about 55 years of age, has recently been causing some anxiety to his friends. He is suffering from a disquieting throat affection, which does not seem to decrease in gravity, in spite of the skilled treatment he has been subjected to. His indisposition, though, has not made him idle, and he has several excellent pictures ready for the Academy, including a large romantic canvas. Several unfinished works of the late Lord Leighton will be exhibited at the Academy.

BALLINGTON BOOTH'S RECALL.

A representative of the Associated Press questioned Bramwell Booth, son of General Booth, of the Salvation Army, regarding the recall of Ballington Booth, Bramwell's brother, from the command of the army in the United States. When informed of the New York meeting to be held on Monday next he said: "We are immensely pleased at the fact that Ballington's work has received such approval from so many prominent people in America. He was recalled simply because it is a rule in the army that after a certain period of labor officers are transferred to another field. Ballington has been in America nine years. Like the Wesleyans, we change every six or seven years. I cannot say whether Ballington will be transferred. It depends upon the general, who returns from India in June."

AUTHORS QUARREL.

The recent address of the English authors to their American brethren issued by the Society of Authors, on the "recent unpleasantness" is still warmly discussed in literary circles. In fact, the matter caused so much conflicting comment that at one time Sir Walter Besant, it was rumored, intended to withdraw from the society owing to the criticisms of the address which it is generally understood, was suggested by Sir Walter and written by Hall Caine. Conway, who was president of the society in 1895, is also understood to have co-operated with the idea without consulting the committee. He has been succeeded to the chairmanship for 1896 by Rider Haggard, who was elected this week. The Chronicle thinks it doubtful if the address will be sent to America.

FOREIGN MEAT.

Mr. Walter Long, President of the Board of Agriculture, speaking at Bangor yesterday, said he was most carefully considering the position of foreign meat, and hoped especially to deal with the false marking of foreign meat as home grown meat. Mr. Long added that he had not yet decided whether this practice could be stopped by licensing dealers in foreign produce or by marking foreign meat, as suggested in some quarters. It is stated that Mr. Long's remarks may mean something more than mere protection against false marking, and, according to a leading daily newspaper, the Government's proposal to relieve husbandry may take the form of material relief from land taxation, such as three-fourths of the local taxes of the agricultural districts being defrayed out of the expected budget surplus.

NELSON RELICS SOLD.

There was an interesting sale on Thursday last of Nelson relics formerly in the possession of Lady Hamilton. The great admiral's mahogany folding bedstead from the battleship Victoria brought 37 guineas, and a portrait of Lady Hamilton sent by her to Nelson, with an autograph of its capture by the French and their courteous forwarding thereof, written by Admiral Nelson, fetched 50 guineas. A table napkin which formerly belonged to the admiral was sold for 10s.

IN VANITY FAIR.

In view of the report circulating in the United States that Mr. W. K. Vanderbilt is shortly to announce his engagement to Miss Amy Bend, of New York, it may be worth while mentioning that Vanity Fair this week asserts that Mr. W. K. Vanderbilt will shortly announce his engagement to an English duchess. Mrs. John Mackay's Paris house has been bought by M. Klose, the great Parisian purveyor. The United States ambassador, Mr. Thomas F. Bayard, started yesterday on a visit to Lord Galloway, at his seat near Nottingham.

THE STRATHROY SENSATION.

Against Thorndike Not So Strong as at First Reported—Developments Expected.

(Special to the "Advertiser.") Strathroy, Ont., Feb. 1.—Your reporter interviewed Police Magistrate Noble as to his opinion of the Thorndike bigamy case now under process of law. He said: "I have no opinion at present, but it appears to me to be a money scheme." He said that if he had known what he knows now he would have refused to grant the warrant. Chief Dodds, the informant, acted in good faith on the information telegraphed to him by Thos. Belle, chief constable of Lindsay, and he granted the warrant on the same bona fides, but if the case turns out as present appearance are, to him, he will not allow the criminal law to be used for a purpose that he considers improper, if he can help it. Your reporter believes from the well-known sterling character of Mr. Noble that when he calls a spade a spade he means it, and will do justice in the premises. There are several new features on the case cropping up. If the first marriage was legal—the proofs are not yet to hand—it was a runaway one, and they did not live two weeks together, all told. Besides the alleged wife No. 1 wrote the man and refused to live with him on any pretense, backed up by her friends. The grandfather of the young man is worth from $30,000 to $40,000, and this fact may have something to do with present and future developments.

KEEP THE KIDNEYS HEALTHY.

The Avenue Through Which Much of the Disease of the Day Travels.

When the sanitary conditions of a town are in first-class working order there is little doubt but that such a community is a healthy one in which to live. The kidneys constitute the sanitary machinery of the system. Keep these clean, pure, and in healthful working condition, and 90 per cent of the serious diseases of the day would be banished. In South American Kidney Cure is found a remedy that removes quickly and effectively the obstructions that constantly arise in the kidneys, and that puts them in proper working shape immediately. It relieves in six hours.

Hereditary Inebriety.

A common impression prevails that the appetite for alcohol has been in many cases inherited, and that these victims of the disease are not accountable for their unfortunate condition. While "doctors differ," the most recent researches into this interesting question seem to have settled conclusively that there is but one way of making an inebriate—put alcohol into him. Many inherit peculiar constitutional conditions which render them easy victims to the influence of alcohol, but most cases of hereditary inebriety, so called, can be traced to the nursery and no further. More important, however, is it, that the impression should be removed from the minds of those who believe themselves to have inherited the malady, that there is no cure for them and that they are destined to carry the burden to the grave. At Lakehurst Institute, Oakville, have been treated with perfect success, during the past few years, large numbers who for this reason believed their cases hopeless. They emphasize the remarkable success that has been achieved by this representative institution. No restraint. No home remedies. Toronto office, 28 Bank of Commerce Building, at

Town and Country

News of the Day Gathered by Advertiser Correspondents.

The death occurred recently at Tacoma, Wash., of John Laughlin, father of Mr. J. E. Laughlin, G. T. R. agent at Glencoe. He was connected with the Northern Pacific Railway. His death must have been rather sudden, as no notice of his illness had been received by Mr. Laughlin.

Over 250 guests sat down to the excellent spread at the C. O. F. annual banquet Wednesday evening in Lucan. The toasts were ably responded to by M. O. E. Daulty, John Fox, C. W. Mulloy, C. Hodgins and Dr. R. W. Shaw, and the proceedings ended with a dance, good music being furnished by the Routledge band, of Iderton. Mrs. Patrick Sullivan, of Biddulph, died at her home on Monday, at the age of 88. Her husband is 96 years old and in good health.

Richard Lee, one of the pioneers of West Missouri, died somewhat suddenly Friday afternoon at his residence, near Thorndale, having reached the age of 102 years. Mr. Lee was born in the county of Wood, Ireland, in 1814. He retained all his mental faculties to the last. He never had occasion to wear spectacles, and frequently read two or three chapters of his Bible during the day. His memory was phenomenal, and he could boast that he never suffered from headache. He settled on lot 14, on con. 4, N. 30.00, where he died, having resided there for nearly 50 years. He was a retiring disposition; never offered for any public position, but was universally esteemed and respected. He married in 1838, and survived his wife by fourteen years. His family of seven sons was born to the couple, of whom five are living. The eldest is Mr. Wm. Lee, township clerk; John, a resident of Manitoba; Richard and Charles, in Missouri, and Edward, in London. The funeral will take place to Brown's Cemetery tomorrow afternoon.

Miss Ida Zavitz returned home after visiting friends in Lobo, Strathroy and East Williams.

Rev. C. Barthrop, of Ailsa Craig, will occupy the pulpit of St. Andrew's church, Nairn, on Sunday morning.

On Tuesday evening Mrs. Jane Bell was waited on by a large number of friends and members of the Baptist church at her home, and presented with a handsome extension table, six cane-bottom chairs and a beautiful Bible, as tokens of respect and esteem in which she is held by them. An excellent lunch was provided by the ladies and a most enjoyable evening was spent.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hamilton from Manitoba, arrived in M. D. Fraser and relatives in East Williams.

Rev. Mr. Stewart, of South London, will occupy the pulpit in the Presbyterian church, on Sunday afternoon and evening.

DELEWARE.

The memory of the holiday season of 1895-6 will long be treasured in the minds of our genial host and his good lady, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jarvis, as one of the brightest of their experiences along the journey of life, the occasion being the presence (under the roof-tree) of their sons-in-law and families, Mrs. Calkin and Gray, respectively, medical superintendents of the world-famed H. H. Warner Safe Remedy Company, London, England, and Rochester, N. Y., and their son, Willie, from Western Canada. Mr. Jarvis and family are en route to Melbourne, Australia, whither the doctor goes to assume control of the company's interests at that branch, and are accompanied by Mrs. Calkin's brother Willie, who has decided to cast in his lot with the Australians, while Dr. Gray and wife (Nellie) have returned to Rochester and duty. God-speed, and grant another reunion as felicitous.

LAMBETH.

Lambeth, Jan. 31.—Mr. John Topin and family, residents of Lambeth, removed this week to Brick street. Their departure is a distinct loss to the section.

Mr. Ed Robinson, who has been home for a few days, has shaken the dust of Westminster from his feet, and returned to Hensall, where in future he proposes permanently to reside. He is going into business in that active little town, and is opening up in the foot and shoe line. His familiar figure and genial manner will be missed in these parts, and his departure is deeply regretted by us all. He leaves with the best wishes of a wide circle of friends, who wish him every success in his new venture.

The effort to apprehend the sneak thieves who have been operating rather extensively in these parts has been unsuccessful, and the parties with that "very taking" way, are still at large. While not decidedly adverse to anything of great value, they appear to have a special partiality for chickens, which leads to the surmise that they are perhaps in the chicken business.

Rev. Mr. Quance has returned from Bridgen, where he preached anniversary sermons last Sunday in the Methodist Church. The correspondent from that place speaks highly of his efforts. Last night the Lambeth Masons held their annual "At Home." Several hundred guests were entertained by the craft in a characteristic manner. Refreshments in abundance were served and an entertaining programme furnished. Local orators supplied fun for the crowd, and a war of words occurred red between champions of the Masonic craft, Methodist and Presbyterians, as to which of the sects Adam belonged. It was proved conclusively that he was a Presbyterian. The Doctors Wood, of London, delighted the audience with their singing, and several others contributed to the programme. Special mention should be made of Miss Moon, who displayed rare ability, both as an elocutionist and a singer. After the programme a social hop was enjoyed by the young people, and some old ones, too, the Routledge String Band supplying the music.

Mr. George Arthur, the Lambeth farmer who was seriously injured by a collision with a trolley Saturday, is progressing very favorably. The shattered sleigh is being repaired at a local shop.

DISSATISFIED FORESTERS.

Writes Issued Against the Chief Officers of the I. O. F.—Questions of Deposits in England and Elsewhere.

Toronto, Feb. 1.—The objections of a number of members of the I. O. F. to certain actions of the chief officers of the order have finally appeared in very definite form in the shape of two writs, issued by Mr. J. A. Simpson, on behalf of himself and other certificate-holders of the Supreme Court of the I. O. F.

The first of these writs names as defendants the Supreme Court of the I. O. F. and the Executive Council of the Supreme Court. It seeks to recover from the defendants other than the Supreme Court, and to have deposited again with the latter the $100,000 entrusted by them to the Chancery Division of the English High Court of Justice, the $50,000 deposited with the insurance department of the State of Wisconsin, and $88,000 (being the portion which, it is alleged, has been used in an improper and illegal manner, together with interest on that amount).

The second writ is issued against Jessie Bayly, the Supreme Court, and the Executive Council. It asks that Jessie Bayly should be declared the trustee for the Supreme Court of the land at the northwest corner of Bay and Richmond streets, purchased by the order; and that the Supreme Court should be enjoined from acquiring or holding, in any manner, lands of greater value than $100,000. It is also sought to recover from the defendants, other than the Supreme Court, the portion of the endowment fund which has already been diverted.

STORY OF A CAREFUL MAN.

He was a careful and thoughtful man; in fact it may be said that he was an extremely careful and thoughtful man.

He was resting comfortably in his easy chair with his feet resting on a footrest, when he discovered that his pencil needed sharpening. Any other man would have taken out his knife and begun work at once, but he was too thoughtful for that; also too careful.

He sighed, got up out of his chair and went across the room for a little wastepaper basket that was standing in the corner. Then he returned to his seat in the easy-chair and placed the basket on the floor between his legs.

His wife smiled approvingly, and he felt proud of himself.

He opened his knife, leaned over his basket, and began work on the pencil.

"It is just as easy to be careful and thoughtful," he said, as he detached the first shaving from the end of the pencil.

"It is," replied his wife, as she followed the shaving with her eye and saw it go over his shoulder and land on the carpet behind him.

But why continue? There are few who have not tried to sharpen a pencil over a small basket in some moment of temporary insanity.

When he had finished there were three shavings in the basket and the rest were on the floor.

That is usually the way it happens. —Chicago Evening Post.
