months fully ninety per cent have been cured of this stabborn malady. This is none the less startling when it is remembered that not five per cent of passenss presenting themselves to the regular practitioner are benefited, while the patent medicines and other advertised cures never record a cure at all. Starting with the claim now generally believed by the most scientific men that the disease is dua to the presence of living parasites in the tissue, Mr. Dixon at once adapted his cure to their extermination—this accomplished, he claims the catarrh is practically cured and the permanency is inquestioned, as cures effected by hind two years ago are cures still. No one else has ever attempted to cure catarrh in this manner, and no other treatment has ever cured catarrh. The application of the remedy is simple and can be done at home, and the present season of the yea, is the most favorable for a speedy and permanent cure, the majority of cases being cured at one treatment.
