She Made Her Farm Keep Her

I know a woman who supports herself comfortably by running a farm and taking a few boarders. Her experience may be helpful to others, writes Christine Terhne Herrick in the Chicago Inter Ocean.

My friend is a little over forty, and is a widow, with not a chick nor a child in the world and no near relatives. Her only possessions are her farm and her farmhouse with perhaps a couple of hundred dollars a year from a small investment.

There were about sixty acres of land, a good deal of woodland. The house was over seventy-five years old, a rambling, comfortable structure in tolerable repair, but with no conveniences beyond a pump in the kitchen and a good range. The heating was done by stoves.

The next thing the woman did was to seek for boarders and this she did through friends, who had visited at the farm in its more prosperous days.

The farmer did not make the mistake of setting a fussy table. The principal meal was in the middle of the day and comprised meat, two or three fresh vegetables and a sweet. Sometimes there would be soup, if the meat dish was simple, or else a salad.

An old Yankee farmer lay on his deathbed. He was so far gone that the doctor told his daughter that she could indulge him in anything he might crave in the matter of food, to the end of making him happy if possible, as nothing could delay the end or really hasten it.

"Yes," whispered the old man, "a bit of fine cake with lots of nuts and currants in it."

Maritime Baptist Convention at Bridgetown

Monday was devoted to the interests of the denominational schools at Wolfville, opening with the report of the Board of Governors of Acadia University.

I. B. Oakes reported the attendance at the schools at Wolfville as the largest yet. The college registration was two hundred and thirty with thirty-five graduates.

Mrs. N. A. Rhodes undertakes to build the manual training building as a memorial of her late husband. The Treasurer's report was read by Rev. A. Cohoon. The trust funds now amount to $398,540. The capital of the G. Y. Payzant fund for theology is now $105,000; the residence for college men shows a deficit of $105; Acadia Seminary shows a deficit of $3,689, caused by the partial closing of the seminary on account of typhoid outbreak.

The evening session was adjourned by Rev. President G. B. Cutten, Ph.D., D.D. of the University, Rev. Principal H. L. DeWolfe of the Seminary and Rev. Principal W. L. Archibald of the Collegiate Academy. The addresses were all enthusiastic with faith in the future of the institutions and were listened to with marked attention.

The committee on minimum pastors' salaries reported through Rev. A. B. Colche, among others endorsing the principle of appointing a field secretary in temperance and moral reform, in conjunction with the other conventions of Canada.

The committee on minimum pastors' salaries reported through G. M. Sipprell of St. John. The committee endorsed the principle of the proposition of Rev. C. W. Brown, that an effort be made to increase pastors' salaries to a minimum of eight hundred dollars and a parsonage. Dr. Brown then presented his plan. He had examined the salaries of two hundred and sixteen pastors in the convention.

The business of the Convention was resumed on Tuesday morning with reports from various boards, continued through the day. The final session opened in the evening and was devoted to Canadian missions. The meeting was addressed by Rev. I. W. Porter, superintendent of

The Camp Supper

(By Harry H. Holmes)

If you would enjoy a camp supper to the full, do it in crude and clever fashion. The savage, you know, is an artist in woodcraft. Build the evening's success on the fire. Pile up layer fashion, two parallel walls of stone a few feet long, nearly a foot high, and not more than a foot and a half apart.

Now rake part of the embers to one end of the alley and drop the roasting ears, husks on, one layer deep over the remaining ashes. Rake back over the corn enough embers from the other end to cover them completely. In the same way fill the opposite end with corn, putting potatoes, of good size, in the middle where it is hottest.

There must be a good mixture of ashes with the glowing embers or everything will scorch. Roasting ears will take in half an hour or a little longer. They should cook until a delicate brown spreads over all the grains. This imparts a delicious nutty flavor not found in boiled or half-baked corn.

Now for the steak. Buy a cheap wire broiler and nail it to a six-foot hoe-handle. Skewer a few strips of bacon on both sides of a thick sirloin for flavor and clamp it firmly in the broiler. Now the cook can stand comfortably to one side of the wall and broil the steak, not his face, as most amateurs do.

Code? By all means. Refuse a small pile of embers between two flat stones and you have a splendid stove for the coffee pot.

Dr. Bilz, of Germany tells us that some doctors are in no hurry to cure a wealthy patient. They find more money in having the patient come year after year and purchase drugs that will not cure. He tells us this is like a milch cow that never runs dry. Some whom we cure for a trifle, say they have paid out hard earned money for twenty or thirty years. We are here to cure and not fool with drug poisons.

An English Chemist Has Discovered How to Grow Hair

In England the ladies have entirely abandoned wearing hats which is due entirely to this new discovery. It has been proven that Henna leaves contain the ingredients that will positively grow hair. That they contain this long looked for article is proven every day.

The Americans are now placing on the market a preparation containing the extract from Henna leaves, which is having a phenomenal sale. This preparation is called SALVIA, and is being sold with a guarantee to cure Dandruff and to grow hair in abundance.

The Church of England will certainly be a party to such a union before many years," said Bishop Worrell.

"In fact we were the first church in Canada to propose a basis of union. We submitted a proposal twenty-five years ago, but the others would not accept it then."

Asked if he thought the Church of England was at all likely to go into union project at the present time, or as soon as the Presbyterians and Methodists, Bishop Worrell said he did not think it possible. "It will certainly be so later, however," he said.

The Bishop admitted that the other churches mooting union thought the Anglicans the most distant of all. "Still," he said, "they will find us as charitable as any of them. We have traditions to which we cling, but it will be found that we can give as well as we can take."
