REV. M. H. SCOTT, of Ottawa, has received a call from his old congregation, Hinton.

REV. DR. McTAVISH, pastor of Central church, having returned after a few weeks' holidays in Prince Edward's Island occupied his own pulpit last Sabbath.

At a crowded meeting in Morrisburg, township of Puslinch, August 15, Rev. Dr. McKay was presented with a farewell address and a gold watch, and Mrs. McKay with a number of pieces of plate.

Before leaving for his new charge, Delaware, London, Ontario, Rev. R. McIntyre of Hamilton Presbytery, was presented by the Dundas St. congregation with a purse of money and an address.

The Auxiliaries W.F.M.S. of Port Elgin, Tara and Underwood recently dispatched goods to the amount of 415 lbs weight for the Indians of Mistawasis Reserve. One of the bales contained thirty-three lbs. of new material, the missionaries being desirous of teaching the Indian women and girls to sew and make their own garments.

The re-opening services in connection with Knox church, Morrisburg, were conducted Sabbath 18th inst., morning and evening, by Rev. Mr. Ross of Perth. A social gathering of the congregation was held on the following Monday evening. The expenses in connection with the renovation of the church including the erection of a spire have all been provided for.

The interior of the Eramosa church has been renovated and modernized at a cost of over $1,000. The contractors have done their work to the satisfaction of the managers and the pastor, Rev. J. McL. Gardiner, and the congregation has good reason to be pleased with the results of their efforts to make their place of worship attractive and comfortable. The re-opening services were conducted on the 18th inst. by Rev. G. E. Freeman, of Toronto.

The new church in process of erection on Bloor Street, city, by Rev. W. G. Wallace's congregation is to be $49,000 with two towers, and seating accommodation for 1,200. The style is modern Gothic and the building when completed will be one of the handsomest and most convenient in this city of churches. It is estimated that the total cost will be about $70,000. It will not be ready for occupation until next spring. In the meantime services are being held in Convocation Hall, Knox College.

REV. JOSEPH McCOW, M.A., on the eve of his removal from Egmondville to Chatham, N.B., was presented by members and adherents of the former congregation with a purse and address. The Seaforth Sun in noticing the event says, "His removal is very much regretted by the members and adherents of the congregation amongst whom he has preached the Gospel for nearly eleven years. He has been very assiduous in his attention to the sick and afflicted. He will long be held in grateful remembrance by the people of Tuckersmith and Egmondville, where well wishes will follow him to his new home by the sea."

A BRANCH of the Women's Home Mission Association, was formed in the congregation at Little Current, Algoma, on the 20th inst. by the Rev. A. Findlay, Superintendent of Missions, with the following ladies as officers for the year, viz.: President, Mrs. D. McKenzie; Vice-President, Miss Dryburgh; Secretary, Mrs. R. Clark; Treasurer, Miss Pyne. The sum of $75 was contributed by this congregation during the past year to the Home Mission Fund. Under the care of the Association just formed still greater results may be anticipated. At the communion dispensed on the 18th inst. nine persons were received into the membership of the Church.

A CORRESPONDENT writes to the REVIEW: "A special meeting of the Presbytery of Hamilton was held within the church at Smithville for the purpose of inducing the Rev. W. M. Cruickshank into the pastoral charge of Smithville and St. Ann's. There was a large attendance, the entire service being most interesting. The Rev. Dr. MacIntyre, of Beamsville, as Moderator of Session, presided. The sermon was preached by the Rev. R. MacKnight, B.A., of Dunnville, and was greatly enjoyed by those privileged to hear it. Rev. W. P. Walker, of Linbrook, addressed the newly inducted pastor, and Rev. W. J. Penman, of Blackheath, the people. Both addresses abounded in good practical advice. In the evening a reception was tendered Mr. Cruickshank by his people, in the Agricultural Hall, the largest in the place, which was comfortably filled; the members of sister churches turning out in goodly numbers. After ample justice had been done to the many good things provided by the ladies to refresh the inner man, a very fine programme was rendered to the great delight of all present. The newly inducted pastor, Rev. Wm. Cruickshank, occupied the chair most acceptably. Addresses were given by Revs. Messrs. Penman, MacKnight and Walker; solos by the Misses Gray, of Thorold, and Eastman of Smithville. The church choir under the leadership of Mr. A. M. Paterson, also gave some fine choruses. The instrumental music was well attended to by the Smithville orchestra who were present and gave some excellent pieces, their leader, Mr. J. Copeland, meeting with a flattering reception at his rendition of 'The Mocking Bird.' Mr. Cruickshank begins his pastorate in Smithville and St. Ann's under the most favourable circumstances, with every prospect of abundant success."

MEETINGS OF PRESBYTERIES.

BRANDON.
 AT Postage la Prairie and within Knox church there, on the 20th August, the Presbytery of Brandon met prole nata to consider the call from High Bluff and Prospect. The attendance of members was small. Mr. Wright reported that in accordance with appointment of Presbytery he had moderated in a call at High Bluff and Prospect, and that the congregation had agreed unanimously to call Mr. M. C. Rumball. The call was accompanied with a guarantee of a stipend of $500, together with a manse. Messrs. Heaton, McDonald and Barron were heard in support of the call. On motion of Wm Rowand, seconded by Mr. McLeod, it was agreed that the call be sustained as a regular Gospel call and placed in the hands of Mr. Rumball. Mr. Rumball being present at once signified his acceptance of it. It was agreed to defer making the arrangements for induction until regular meeting of Presbytery in September. —W. L. H. ROWAND, Clerk.

BRANDON.
 THE following minute was passed on record by the Presbytery of Brandon at its last meeting in May, anent the translation of Rev. Mr. McKellar from said Presbytery to that of Saugeen, on his acceptance of the call from the congregation of North Luther and Woodlands. Though copied for publication, it was by accident mislaid and forgotten. The Clerk would apologize to Mr. McKellar and his friends, as well as to the Presbytery to which he was translated, for mislaying this recognition of Mr. McKellar's justly valued services:—"As one of the earliest pioneer missionaries of our Church to the North-West, he has been instrumental in the highest degree in promoting the work of the Master, and in laying the foundations of Presbyterianism in this new country. Having laboured faithfully and efficiently for years in several mission fields throughout the Synod of Manitoba and the North-West Territories, his name is a household word among the early settlers between Winnipeg and Prince Albert. His kindly manner, encouraging words, generous deeds, and self-sacrificing life made him a great blessing to the homes of many, while the congregation of which he was pastor for ten years, bears testimony to his untiring zeal and unobscured integrity. His devout spirit and high integrity won for him the high esteem of his brethren of this Presbytery, and his removal is regretted much by them. His interest in the Church's missionary work led him to abound in labour on her behalf, which he always executed with prudence and efficiency. He has also assisted largely in moulding Presbyterianism in this North-West into its present form. As Convener of the Foreign Mission Committee of this Presbytery, and for his manifold labours in its Home Mission work, he has laid the Presbytery under deep obligations. It is the earnest prayer of this court that he may be long spared to labour for the Master in our common cause with comfort and success in the new sphere to which he has been translated."—S. C. MURRAY, Clerk.

DR. HUNTER ON DRY BRONCHITIS.

THE essential character of dry bronchitis consists in a chronic inflammation and thickening of the mucous lining of the air tubes, by which their size is diminished, and by the secretion of a dense glutinous kind of matter of a greenish or bluish-white colour, by which they are further and further obstructed. The smaller tubes are often entirely closed, and even tubes of considerable size become blocked up by this matter. The affection is so common in this climate that it probably exists in some degree in fully one out of every three. In the most favoured parts of France Larenec tells us that "one-half of those arrived at adult age are found, on examination, to present evidence of thickening of some portion of the mucous membrane of the lungs."

MACMILLAN & CO.'S NEW BOOKS.

Sir Monier Williams's Work on Buddhism.
BUDDHISM: in its Connection with Brahminism and Hindulism, and its Contrast with Christianity. Being the Duff Lectures for 1888. By SIR MONIER WILLIAMS, M.C.I.R., D.C.L., etc. With 15 illustrations. 8vo., $3.25.

From the Introduction.

"And Buddhism is a subject which must continue for a long time to present the student with a boundless field of investigation. Starting from a very simple proposition, which can only be described as an exaggerated form of the utilitarianism, it leads to a long and intricate web of metaphysical and self-contradictory propositions and allegations. Its teaching has become both negative and positive, agnostic and gnostic. It passes from apparent atheism and materialism to theism, polytheism, and spiritualism. It is under one aspect another mere farrago of superstitions, including necromancy, witchcraft, and other things of the kind; under another aspect it is a philosophy of the highest order, and embraces something from almost every creed. It is founded on philosophical humanism, has much in common with Seneca and the Vedanta ideas, is closely connected with Vaishnavism, and in some of its phases with both Saitivism and Saktism, and yet is, properly speaking, opposed to every one of these systems. It has in its moral code much common ground with Christianity, and in its medieval and modern developments presents examples of forms, ceremonies, rites, monastic communities, and hierarchical organizations scarcely distinguishable from those of Roman Catholicism; and yet a greater contrast than that presented by the essential doctrines of Buddhism and of Christianity can scarcely be imagined."

"He is the first to give in one volume a connected view of the course of Buddhism in the past 2,000 years, for which his knowledge of Pali, the language the Buddha must have spoken, especially fits him. There is little but praise to be said of the way in which Sir Monier attacks his subject and gives his well-defined views. Those who are interested in Buddhism can hardly afford not to read his new work, for it gives us a complete and up-to-date account of the subject, and also being made for religious partisanship, gives it very fairly."—New York Times.

"It would be impossible to give any adequate idea of the remarkable character of the contents of the work in a mere newspaper review. The author's treatment of the subject is exhaustive, and so clear and complete are his statements that the reader will hardly need to ask an additional question for information on any point."—Doston Transcript.

A New Work by Archdeacon Farrar.

LIVES OF THE FATHERS. Sketches of Church History in Biography. By FREDERICK W. FARRAR, D.D., F.R.S., Archdeacon of Westminster and Chaplain in Ordinary to the Queen. Two volumes, large 12mo., $3.00.
 Forming a sequel to "The Life of Christ," and "The Life and Works of St. Paul," by the same author.

Contents:
 St. Ignatius of Antioch. St. Cyprian. St. Athanasius. Gregory of N. Rome.
 St. Polycarp of Smyrna. St. Clement of Alexandria. St. Hilary of Poitiers. St. Ambrose.
 St. Irenaeus. St. Martin of Tours. St. Jerome.
 St. Justin the Martyr. St. Basil. St. Martin of Nazianum. St. Augustine.
 Tertullian. St. Chrysostom.

"These names are household words, but the details of their lives and of the times in which they lived are not so familiar to the minds of clergy and laity as they will be after these highly interesting volumes of Dr. Farrar shall have been studied. We say clergy and laity, for this book is intended for both. Many a student would be freed from sectarian narrowness, bigotry, and theological uncharitableness by a careful study of the writings to which Canon Farrar's look will prove an excellent introduction."—Churchman.

"One of the most valuable additions recently made to religious biographical literature."—Boston Evening Transcript.

"It is the great praise of Dr. Farrar that he does just this. Thousands first learned from his 'Life of Christ' how to understand the Gospels. The author gives us vivid and life-like portraits of the chief writers in the early Church, and incidental glimpses of their contemporaries. We have, therefore, Church history in its most alluring form—in the lives and achievements of the men who made the history."—Examiner.

"His mingling of biography with history, or his treatment of history as the product of the great teachers and leaders of the times, make the present volumes very attractive. To read them is to walk through a fine picture-gallery graced by the portraits, finely drawn, of the martyrs and confessors of the first centuries, of men of whom the world was not worthy, and whose services and self-sacrifices are worthy to be held in everlasting remembrance."—Presbyterian.

"Dr. Farrar, so well known by his works on the Life of Christ, the Apostle Paul, and the Early Days of Christianity, has now completed his picture of ancient Christianity in his Lives of the Fathers, and admirably succeeded in representing the Church History of the first five centuries in the lives and labours of her representative leaders. He combines in a rare degree the scholarly and popular treatment, and makes patristic theology and literature interesting as well as instructive."—Dr. Pitt-Rivers, Professor of Church History.

"The book glows with the fire of the Canon's intense sympathy with his subject. In the portrayal of the characters of the Fathers and the descriptions of the scenes in which they occupied so prominent a place, Dr. Farrar has a task so congenial that his imagination and his pen are at their best. His identification of himself with the men he describes is so complete that he makes his reader see them, hear them, and live their life as truly as he does himself. Canon Farrar has undoubtedly chosen the most attractive way in which to write the history of the Church, and it is the inspired way."—New York Observer.

John Owen, in The Academy, says: "Undoubtedly the most interesting presentation of patristic research in the English language. It possesses the merits of wide and erudite research, indisputable honesty and impartiality, uncompromising liberality and comprehensiveness; and, besides being generally readable, it is not unfrequently intensely interesting, quite as much so, indeed, as first class fiction. What liberality did for English history, Dr. Farrar may, if he chooses, claim to have done for the ecclesiastical history of the first four centuries."
