

its minutes the sense of the loss it has sustained in the death of Dr. James Hewitt, one of its founders.

Although but a young man at the time of his death, Dr. Hewitt had already attained a prominent position in his profession, and had he lived, would undoubtedly have become one of the distinguished aurists of his time.

With a singularly retiring and quiet nature, he had a most genial and cheerful disposition and a simplicity of bearing and kindliness in speech and manners that endeared him alike to his friends as well as his patients.

Resolved,—That these resolutions be printed in the medical journals of this city, and that a copy of the same be sent to the family of the deceased.

Committee, Graham Bacon, M.D., J. B. Emerson, M.D.

Dr. Hewitt was one of the founders of the Association.
