Dear Principal:

Mr Justice Mignault of the Supreme Court will deliver his annual lectures on Tuesday and Thursday of next week, the 29th and 31st March, in the lecture room of the Old Medical Building at 5-00 p.m. The subject will be "The Authority of Decided Cases".

When Judge Mignault was appointed to the Supreme Court the Governors were anxious to retain such a distinguished scholar on the list of the Faculty, and he was accordingly made "Professor of Legal Ethics" on the understanding that he should deliver a couple of lectures annually upon some subject of more or less general interest. The lectures are therefore open to all who may care to attend, and I should be glad if you would let this be known to the University at large. We should be greatly pleased if you could spare the time to be present yourself on either evening.

Sincerely yours

R. Smith
