

Britain. The cold storage methods adopted by the present Government have already accomplished much ; but very much more may reasonably be expected in years to come. These methods, aided by the influence of our preferential tariff, are opening the British markets to our Canadian farmer to an extent which no one can possibly measure. In Hon. Sydney Fisher the farmers of Canada have a zealous, capable and enterprising Minister of Agriculture, and whatever is possible to be done for the promotion of their interests may safely be left in his hands.
