

CONTENTS.

CHAPTER IV.

Descriptive Pieces.

SECT. 1.	The eagle, - - - - -	46
2.	The humming bird, - - - - -	48
3.	The horse, - - - - -	50
4.	The Ouran-Outang, - - - - -	52
5.	The four seasons, - - - - -	55
6.	Divine Providence, - - - - -	57
7.	Health, - - - - -	58
8.	Charity, - - - - -	59
9.	Gratitude, - - - - -	ib.
10.	Mortality, - - - - -	60
11.	Immortality, - - - - -	61
12.	Heaven, - - - - -	62

CHAPTER V.

Dialogues.

SECT. 1.	Canute and his courtiers—Flattery reprov'd,	63
2.	The two robbers, - - - - -	64
3.	A family conversation—On negro slavery,	66
4.	The father redeem'd from slavery by his son,	69
5.	The tutor and his pupils, - - - - -	72

CHAPTER VI.

Promiscuous Pieces.

SECT. 1.	We destroy pleasure by pursuing it too eagerly, - - - - -	78
2.	On sisterly unity and love, - - - - -	79
3.	The supreme ruler of the world, - - - - -	80
4.	Abraham and Lot, - - - - -	ib.
5.	A persecuting spirit reprov'd, - - - - -	82
6.	The folly of pride, - - - - -	83
7.	The whistle, - - - - -	85
8.	A generous mind does not repine at the advantages others enjoy, - - - - -	86
9.	Insolent deportment towards inferiors, &c. - - - - -	87
10.	Arachne and Melissa, - - - - -	88
11.	Socrates and Leander, - - - - -	90
12.	Socrates and Demetrius, - - - - -	92
13.	On good breeding, - - - - -	93
14.	The ungrateful guest, - - - - -	96
15.	The hospitable negro woman, - - - - -	97