

244.
 from, 242.
 1783. Its origin
 in its neigh-
 ings of danger Massacre at,
 by the Eng-
 Indians, 169.
 140.
 to Alexander
 tion and char-
 ch to the Otta-English, 65.
 i, the, 513.
 costs upon, 135.
 e of, 98.
 captures Os-Henry, 109. His t, 115.
 ons in Pennsylous situation of,
 to Philadelphia,
 York, 431. Setnna, 445.
 abassy, 469.
 34.
 Pontiac, 403.
 by the Senecas,
 e of, 373. Con-
 1764, 454. Coun-
 6.
 their alarm at
 h encroachment,

Ojibwas, the, 30.
 Onondaga, its appearance in 1743, 133.
 Oswego, Fort, its capture, 109.
 Ottawas, the, their character, 30. They take possession of Michillimackinac, 309.
 Ouatanon, Fort, its capture, 243.
 Owens, David, his ferocity, 480.

P.

Paris, peace of, 173. News of it reaches
 Detroit, 253.
 Paully, Ensign, captured at Sandusky,
 238. Escapes from the Indians, 260.
 Paxton men, they massacre the Conas-toga Indians, 414, 417. They prepare to march on Philadelphia, 427.
 They reach Germantown, 437. Memorials of, 613, 617.
 Paxton riots, the, 606, 612.
 Paxton, town of, 412.
 Peace of Paris, 173. News of it reaches Detroit, 253.
 Pennsylvania, founded, 71. Frontiers of, 325. Condition of Frontiers of, in 1763, 380. Political dissensions in, 399.
 Penn, William, 71.
 Picquet, Father, 79.
 Pioneers, French and English, 50.
 Pitt, Fort, its origin and position, 325.
 Alarms at, 327. Indian deputation at, 333. Preparations for its defence,
 338. General attack upon it, 342.
 Its garrison relieved, 367.
 Pittman, Captain, attempts to ascend
 the Mississippi, 533.
 Philadelphia, alarm in, 433, 440.
 Plot, Indian, defeated, 160.
 Pontiac, his meeting with Rogers, 148.
 His character and political course,
 161, 165. His war messengers, 165.
 His speech at the River Ecorces, 179.
 His ambition and patriotism, 191.
 His treachery at Detroit, 202. He declares open war on the English, 204.
 He summons the garrison of Detroit,
 219. His speech to the French, 221.
 His commissary department, 224. He issues promissory notes, 225. His magnanimity, 227. His power over his followers, 226, 228. He endeavors to gain the alliance of the French, 255.

 His ambuscade at Bloody Bridge, 271.
 He retires to the Maumee, 403. He rallies the western tribes, 526. He visits the Illinois, 529. His embassy to New Orleans, 530, 536. He plun-ders La Garantais, 543. Ruin of his hopes, 549. His meeting with Crog-han, 552. His speech to Croghan,
 556. His departure for Oswego, 561.
 His council with Sir William Johnson, 562. His speech, 565. His visit to the Illinois, 1769, 568. His death, 571.
 The vengeance of his followers, 572.
 Pontiac Manuscript, the, 588.
 Ponteach, a Tragedy, 581.
 Post, Christian Frederic, his mission to the Indians, 128.
 Pottawattamies, the, 30.
 Presqu'Isle, Fort, its attack and defence, 245. Its capture, 249. Tidings from, reach Fort Pitt, 334.
 Prisoners, escape of, at Detroit, 232.
 Surrendered to Bonquet, 495, 502.
 Their situation in the Indian villages, 507.
 Prophet, Delaware, the, 158. His speech to Croghan, 545.
 Proprietaries of Pennsylvania, their treatment of the Indians, 73.

Q.

Quakers, the, their conduct towards the Indians, 72. Their reluctance to declare war on the Indians, 390. Their blind partiality for Indians, 397. Their disputes with the Presbyterians, 401.
 Quebec, battle of, 121. Besieged by English, 113.

R.

Rangers, Rogers, 144.
 Reminiscences, aged of Detroit, 59.