For this purpose at least one-fifth of the share-holders, registered on the books, were necessary to compel a meeting being called. If the directors refused this request, which he considered a most reasonable one, the courts would be appealed to and an order obtained for the holding of such a meeting. On Monday a second demand had been made at the local office to examine the books, but the same were not back It looked to him as the the directors did not want anyone to see the books, and he asked his hearers to draw their own con-clusions. All the local shareholders want-ed was their rights for an examination of the affairs of the company and a meeting to be called in this city. This the direct ors had seen fit to ignore, and there was nothing else left but to appeal to the eminent mining expert, who recently examined the Centre Star, made a statement before he left the city which was most favorable to that property, and which sustains the good opinion that is entertained of it by the people of this community. While his words cannot be given, in effect he said that his examination,
