Lansing, Mich.. July 26.—(World Staff Correspondent.)—The people of this State are watching with more than casual interest the efforts of the Candian people to secure a maximum passenger tariff on the railroads of the Dominion. Michigan's laws on this subject are models for all other States in the Union. A comparison of the railroad rates here with those in existence in Ontario affords food for thought. It is especially fair since the three strongest systems in Michigan also pass for several hundred miles throught. With the same trains, the same service and the identical equipment in every respect, the Grand Trunk, the Michigan Central and the Wabash railroads tax the people who ride on their property in Michigan the Michigan ada. Stimulation to Travel.

The citizens of this State explain that the difference is in the maximum law adopted by the State legislature and improved from time to time, but the railroad men assert that while this may possibly be the original reason for reducing the rates on some lines in Michigan, they have in some instances been induced to put into effect a general two-cent per mile rate, because it stimulates travel.
