How Old People May Be Healthy and Happy.

Will Surely Banish Their Ailments and Troubles.

It Preserves Health and Prolongs Life.

The most successful and popular physicians of our times are those who can banish the ailments and distress of men and women in old age.

Three-fourths of all the aches and pains that make old age miserable arise from retarded circulation. The slow blood is choked with accumulations of waste matters that produce rheumatism, neuralgia sciatica and lumbago. Sluggish circulation speedily produces digestive disturbances, and unlooked-for complications arise that in the majority of cases prove fatal to

Paine's Celery Compound is a precious boon to those advanced in years. Boon after its use is commenced there is noticed an increase in the blood supply, which is pure, ruddy and active in coursing through the body. The brain becomes clear, digestion is easy, and natural, the heart does its work with regularity, nerve force is acquired and flesh is built up.

If old people desire health and strength to meet the enervating and trying weather of midsummer, they should build up at once by the use of Paine's Celery Compound. Mr. John Holdsworth, Claremont street, Toronto, says: "I was taken sick last summer, and was in bed for five weeks or more, and my physician was attending me all the time. My case was pronounced to be weakness of the heart and old age, for I am now 78 years old.

"I kept getting worse until my recovery was considered hopeless. One of my relatives recommended me to use Paine's Celery Compound, which I did with good results. After the first dose I felt relieved, and after a few days I was able to leave my bed and walk around. I used four bottles, and found your medicine to be a most excellent remedy, as I am now quite well. I hope other sufferers will receive as much benefit as I received."

"OUR GALLANT COL. "Dear Mr. Editor,-I was present on Tuesday night at the mass meeting in the Opera House, and was giad to both see and hear how our gallant colonel had improved during the recent session of parliament. "AN ADMIRER OF THE COLONEL."

On the same day Col. Leys wrote to M. G. Bremner, editor of the Free Press, stating that he considered the matter libelous, and requesting the name of the writer. Mr. Bremner replied, disclaiming sympathy with the tone of the letter, and stating that the request would be submitted to the Free Press board of directors.

On May 20 Col. Leys again wrote, demanding the name of the writer of the letter, and was informed in reply that there had been no quorum at the board The east-bound Dundas street cars meeting. On June 7 Col. Leys made another demand, and again on June 8.

Mr. Bremner, on the 8th, replied that spite of the races in progress at Queen's he was only an employe, and the direcfind accommodation in the 'busses went | the superintendent of the London Street Railway Company. 'To the Gallant Colonel:

"I understand, from the Free Press, you wish to know the name of your admirer in the letter published in the Free Press of May 17. I have no hesitation in acknowledging the authorship, and if you wish to know anything further about it you can obtain all the satisfaction you will require on • personal application to me.
"S. OTTER."

On June 14 Col. Leys received a let-ter from Mr. Swaisland, secretary-treasurer of the Free Press Company, as follows:

"Your letter came before the board yesterday, and I am instructed to state that it is contrary to the custom of this company to give the information asked for."
The above letter reached Col. Leys

yesterday. Shortly after 2 o'clock to-day, Col. Leys was standing in front of the Bank of Commerce building at Dundas and Richmond streets. Bremner passed that way. Col. Leys stepped up to him and again demanded the name of the writer of the letter.

"You have been given the name of the writer," said Mr. Bremner. "You are a liar!" replied the colonel. "Potter never wrote that letter. You are a liar and a coward to attack a woman in a dirty, slanderous, anonymous letter. I am bound to get at the writer of that letter if I have to do it through you."

Col. Leys accompanied this remark with a sharp slap on the face. Mr. Bremner raised his heavy walking-stick as if to strike the colonel, but the latter closed in, grasped him round the neck and put him "in changery." They went down together, partly on steps of the Bank of Commerce, and partly on the pavement. The colonel was on top, and had begun to administer pretty severe punishment, when P. C. Egelton, who was in plain clothes, and has been keeping special guard over Mr. Bremner lately, crossed the street and pulled Col. Leys away. P. C. Birrell, who was on duty at the corner, also came up and assisted in separating the combatants. Mr. Bremner was apparently not much hurt, and Col. Leys came out of the Bank of Commerce a few minutes later only a little ruffled, and apparently happy.

"As long as I am in public life," said the colonel, "I am quite willing to put up with lampooning and abuse, but no man shall make slanderous attacks upon my wife and family without answering to me."

There, however, is a cure— one box of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will do wonders in restoring health and strength. Mandrake and Dandelion are two of the articles entering into the composition of Parmelee's Pills.

The funeral of the late Miss Agnes May Beattle took place from her fa-ther's house, con. 2. Westminster, on Sunday afternoon, to Pond Mills cometery. Deceased was a victim of consumption. She was an exceedingly popular young lady, being 21 years of age, and her death cast a gloom over the whole countryside. The funeral was one of the largest ever held in Westminster. Rev. Mr. Sawyer con-ducted the services. The pallboarers were uncles and cousins of the deceased
