

"PAYING UP" NOW FOR FINE WEATHER

The Expected, After the Very Mild March, Is Being Experienced.

Winter lingers in the lap of spring. Lingers? It appears to have determined to take a nap of several weeks duration.

Many people in London are "sore" on the weather.

Just fancy all the things that have passed through the minds of the fair sex, with their handsome new head-gear stowed away in boxes.

The past three Sundays have developed a fine weather. Fair weather has been hoped for since the first of the month, so as to be able to display the new head-gear in the streets.

You know, if one happens to be a lady, one must take time by the forelock in order to wear a hat before it goes out of style.

Sometimes the milliners switch in changes in styles between the time when the hat is sold and the time it is delivered at the house. Consequently, grave fears are entertained by the ladies of London lest their hats will be back numbers by the time the weather gets ready to permit of wearing the new bonnet.

It was hoped that the snowstorm of yesterday and last night would clear the weather, but conditions today were in no wise improved. Many ladies are willing to wait today that the cold spell will make it a point to hang on, so as to spoil next Sunday, and keep the bonnets in the boxes.

Down in New York they have had a heavy fall of snow. In the North-west, winter weather has been prevailing. Advisers from Halifax say that spring has only begun to arouse itself there.

And the pros. say cool for London today.

Too bad, isn't it? London appears to be paying up for the fine weather it experienced in March.

According to a fable, March has always enjoyed the privilege of borrowing three days from April, so as to make things unpleasant for the people in one last effort, but it would appear this month that March has negotiated a loan for a longer period.

City Engineer Graydon is pleased with the wet weather. He does not have to worry about street watering. The dust is faded by the snow, sleet and rain.

SEALS THE FATE OF FIRE HALL

North End Not Likely to Get Station This Year—Conference on Matter.

Mayor Judd, Chairman Beattie of the finance committee, and Chairman Gilman of No. 3 committee today had a long conference in connection with the erection of a north end fire hall this year.

When it was concluded, the only information the reporters could secure was that the fire hall and the chairman of the finance committee are opposed to the idea of building the fire hall this year out of current revenue.

The mayor also stated to The Advertiser that he thinks it will be necessary to put the matter to a vote of the people to secure a debenture issue to build the hall.

This means that the project for this year will be killed, as it is altogether unlikely that the fire hall committee will be sent to the people, unless it should happen that the water commissioners should put several water schemes before the public, in which event the fire hall project might be voted upon at the same time.

Chairman Gilman is putting up a vigorous fight for the new station, but the council is so hard pressed for money this year that it is doubtful whether he will be backed up by any alderman save those of his own committee.

The mayor states that he is opposed to spending current revenue on any scheme of capital expenditure. He thinks that as the hall will last for many years to come, it is unfair to ask the people of today to stand the brunt of the entire cost.

PLACED POISON ABOUT PREMISES

Ormsby Street Man Did So To End a Nuisance, and Has Law Laid Down to Him.

As a means of exterminating a poultry nuisance, caused by his neighbors allowing their chickens to overrun his premises, James Christie, of Ormsby street, recently set several dishes of poisoned grain at different points about his garden, and this morning he had to answer for so doing before Magistrate Love at the police court.

He was convicted of mischief, and fined $1 and $4 85 costs. William Mason, who lives near Christie, laid the information in the case. Detective Rider was the chief witness for the prosecution, and told of going to Christie's premises to investigate a report sent to the police station that Christie had dishes of poison on his front lawn, where any animal or child could easily get at them from the street. The detective found a tin plate filled with corn and parsnip green lying on the front lawn, several feet from the house, and an exceedingly dangerous position.

The detective asked Christie why he had set the poison in such a place, and asked him to remove it. Christie answered that he could do as he liked on his own premises, and that he was not going to have his neighbor's chickens destroy his flower beds, as they had done on other occasions. Detective Rider then went to the back yard, and found similar dishes filled with poison.

Mr. Mason lost a valuable dog, which he believes died as the result of eating some of the poisoned grain; while another of his chickens, which he believes had been sick, and although none of them had died, he believed that they had eaten some of the grain.

Christie did not deny having set the poison, but stated that he believed when doing so he was acting in self-defense, and that he could do as he pleased on his own property, and that he set it for the purpose of killing rats and mice. The court, however, was not prepared to believe that Christie would set pans of poison in his yard for the purpose of killing rats, but convicted him on the strength of the statements he had made to Detective Rider.

The magistrate informed him that there were certain things which a man was not allowed to do even on his own property, and that setting poison was one of them. He also informed Christie that he could fine him $100 for such an offense, but that he considered a nominal fine of $1, with $4 85 costs, would answer the purpose of warning others against such acts.

John Brown, who has not been known to work lately, but who has appeared several times for being drunk, was sentenced to 4 months in the Central Prison for vagrancy.

James Sullivan has gone to spend 20 days at the guest of Mr. Carter at the Castle. James was fined $5 or 20 days on a charge of being drunk, and could not pay the fine.

TWO FULL DAYS OF ROMANCING

the heat of passion, or lastly, "not guilty," because of insanity.

"To base an appeal to your sympathies, to your passions, is a broad, wide departure from the duty of counsel."

You must reach your verdict by purely and plainly an intellectual process. You are to be the judge of this issue, and you are to judge by the facts. You must take the law as the court gives it to you. You cannot shake your personal responsibility by evading it.

The Other Side.

"The proposition of sympathy can be played upon by both sides. Here you thought of the widow in Cambridge, and the fatherless boy in Harvard? I mention this, men, that you may see the question of sympathy has been brought to do with the issues here."

Mr. Jerome next quoted from the examinations of the jurors, reminding them of their oaths.

"Whether you believe the story told by this girl, whether you believe in the 'sublime renunciations' she made of her sympathies are bound to assert themselves in one form or another. There is here every element to arouse your passions. But when you require yourself solely by intellectual processes."

Reasonable Doubt.

Reasonable doubt, he said, was only such a doubt as would affect upon matters pertaining to his own private affairs.

"It must be a doubt of which you are reasonably or morally certain. A reasonable doubt is not a mere whim, Mr. Jerome said."

"On the subject of insanity you jurors swore you would not inject any ideas of your own into your judgment, but take the law as it was laid down to you by the court. You swore you would accept only that form of insanity which deprives a man of the knowledge of the nature and quality of his act, or that it is wrong, that it is against the current morality of the community."

You did not swear to bring this 'dementia Americana' into the case. 'Dementia Americana' has no place in higher law than the law of your state."

Mr. Jerome said it seemed to him that the voice of murdered Stanford White was crying out to him, "Can't you say one word for me? Must I go down to the fires of hell, unheard, undefended?"

Luncheon recess was ordered at 1 p.m., until 2 o'clock, when Mr. Jerome will proceed.

CONDENSED LOCAL NEWS

—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bole, of this city, are in Toronto.

—A number of worthless $10 Consolidated Bank notes are in circulation in the city.

—W. T. Brown today took out building permits for story and a half brick residences on Maitland and Grosvenor streets.

—The ladies of the Church of St. John the Evangelist intend holding a "Sale of Work" in the schoolroom of the church Thursday afternoon and evening. Music is to be provided by the Italian Orchestra, and refreshments will be served.

—The funeral of the late Miss Norah Madden, the young lady who died very suddenly at the G. R. station on Sunday last, took place from the residence of her uncle, Mr. Peter Madden, 507 Pall Mall street to St. Peter's Cathedral at 3:30 today. Requiem high mass was celebrated by Rev. Father White at 9 o'clock. The pallbearers were John Butler, John Vaud, A. Turner, Wm. Packham, J. McKenna, and Charles Waud.

—The members of May Queen Lodge, Daughters of Rebekah, were on Monday evening the guests of Chorazin Lodge, I. O. O. F., East London. The daughters of Rebekah have done a great deal for the work of the Odd-fellows for several years, and the latter took this means of showing their appreciation. During the course of the evening, City Clerk Baker, who is a member of Chorazin Lodge, made a very neat address, explaining the object of the gathering and eulogizing the work of the Order of Rebekah. Mr. T. W. McFarland also spoke. Games played and refreshments provided, and a very pleasant evening spent.

—A fine concert was the unanimous opinion of those who attended the entertainment in the B. M. E. church last evening. Encores were numerous. Those who took part were: Mrs. Egbert, of Detroit, who sang in excellent voice; Mr. J. Parnell-Morris, accompanist; piano solo, Miss Sophie Ball; vocal solos, by Mr. Hugh Ward and Mr. Wm. Saunders. Madam Egbert's second number, with violin obligato by Madam Egbert, was a feature of the evening. The choir of the church contributed two numbers that were creditably rendered. The pastor, Rev. R. A. Ball, presided, and at the close, expressed the thanks of the congregation to those who had afforded so pleasant an evening.

WHIST TONIGHT.

The usual weekly whist tourney at Hyman Hall will be held this evening. Both the compass and the progressive games will be played. Three valuable prizes will be given.

ELECTS TRIAL BY JURY.

Wilfred Telfer, the young man who was recently committed for trial by Squire Huttick on a charge of having seduced the 15-year-old daughter of William Gatecliff, of London town, appeared before Judge Elliott this morning and elected to be tried by jury at the sessions which sit on the 11th of June. Bail was admitted in the sum of $1,000—$500 in his own recognizance, and two sureties of $500 each.

PURCHASED FINE PROPERTY.

Mr. R. J. Young, of R. J. Young & Co., has purchased a lot on the north side of Dundas street, east of Adelaide, and adjoining the factory of Somerville & Co. The lot has a frontage of 23 feet, and the price paid was $1,850, or at the rate of $80 50 a foot. Mr. Young may build a handsome store on the property in the near future.

EAST LONDON REAL ESTATE SOLD.

The boom in East London real estate continues, and in every part of the suburb there is a keen demand for building lots, business properties, and residences. Mr. Robert Parsons has completed the purchase of a lot on the south side of Dundas street, adjoining the old town hall, and there is a rumor that he will erect a large store.

SHOULD BE STRONG.

The Somerville baseball team, champions of the East-end League, are getting down to work, and will be in good shape when the bell rings. Practice is called on next Saturday afternoon at Queen's Park. The following players are asked to be present: Allport, Clark, Fitzmaurice, Myers, Davis, Macdonald, Patterson, Colman, Higgins, Maxwell, Chadwick, Dewar, and Baxter and Roberts. This team ought to be strong.

HIGHER LIVELY RATES.

It was stated today that a movement is on foot to establish a new schedule of rates for light lively hire in London, and that a considerable increase is contemplated. The new schedule will probably be ready by the 1st of May. It is claimed by local livemen that there is nothing for them in the present prices. Horses, feed, shoeing, buggies, harness, etc., have gone up, and they feel that a rate of from 25 to 50 per cent in light lively hire is warranted.

OFFICIAL VISIT.

Mr. Walter Richards, high chief ranger of the Ancient Order of Foresters, will pay his official visit to Court Excelsior of West London on Monday next. All of the district officers are to be present. On Thursday, April 25, the high chief ranger will present Court Stella of East London with the trophy won by that court's team in the A. O. F. Carpentel League. The trophy, which is a very handsome one, was offered for competition last fall by the high chief. To become the permanent property of any one court it has to be won three times.

THE LATE JAMES M. BURTON.

The funeral of the late Mr. James M. Burton, whose death occurred on Saturday last, was held on Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, from the family residence, 585 Waterloo street. Rev. Canon Dann, rector of St. Paul's Cathedral, conducted the services, and the following acted as pall-bearers: Messrs. Edward Lee, Thomas Higgins, Thomas Vailier, F. H. Colles, Robert Hookway and William Rider. Many beautiful floral offerings, some of which were sent by Detroit friends and relatives, were placed on the casket.

The late Mr. Burton was born in St. Johns, Nfld., and when a young man he joined the British army, serving for a quarter of a century in the Royal Artillery. He was a member of the home guard in London, England, during the American civil war. Mr. Bur-

LAVERGNE HARD ON COCKNEYS

Says They're Worse Than Sikhs and Is Sharply Rapped by the Govt.

Ottawa, April 9.—Armand Lavergne, in the Commons today, complained of the system now followed by the Government in the payment of bounties on immigration, and maintained that the only desirable classes of settlers for Canada were either those from the British Isles or else French and Belgians.

Asked by Col. Sam Hughes if he would favor the immigration of priests exiled by order of the French Government, Mr. Lavergne replied that, at any rate, they would be better than Gallician or cockneys, who were worse than Sikhs. The motto of the interior department seemed to be that a Dunkerque is better than a Frenchman. Mr. Lavergne held that a good propaganda in France would result in a large country of population from that country to Canada. Instead of forcing our own people to the States, the Government should assist and encourage their removal to the Canadian West. As matters stood, though, it cost more for a Canadian to go west than it did for the mongrels of Europe. If this went on for twenty years, Canadian ideals would ultimately disappear. In conclusion, Mr. Lavergne moved that the system of immigrant business be contrary to a good policy, and should be abolished.

Rapped by Oliver.

The Minister of the Interior replied that it would have been well-nigh impossible for any man to crowd more misunderstanding and misrepresentation into an hour and a half than Mr. Lavergne had accomplished on this occasion. That gentleman forgot that the area of Canada was equal to that of continental Europe. The policy of the Government is not to bonus the immigrants on the steamship companies in getting them, but to advertise Canada in those countries where the most desirable class of settlers is to be obtained.

Mr. Borden said that the abolition of bonuses would retard immigration from the British Isles, and that his own opinion was that the bonus system should be confined to the United Kingdom.
