AIRMEN IN CANADA

British Admiralty and War Office in Sympathy With Project.

TAKE TEN A MONTH

Toronto School Has Mad Most Practical Offer to the Aviation Fund.

All of these things are unquestionable, but the actual position is that the war office has indicated to the Canadian Aviation Fund that they will the war office has indicated to the Canadian Aviation Fund that they will take up to ten a month during the continuance of the war provided they are trained to the standard of the Aero Club certificate (six to seven hours' flying) and then are Siven thirty hours in the air subsequently on fast machines.

The admiralty has just arranged with the naval department at Ottawa to accept for them fifty students with Aero Club certificates, which they can qualify for in the United States of in Canada. The Dominion government has very recently decided to give $100 to Canadian trained students at approved schools, provided they will be available for a Canadian air service, if established.

A good deal of this is the result of spade-work on the part of the Canadian Aviation Fund to find whether a staple goal really existed towards, which they could work in directly aiding the firing line. It will be seen that this goal is attained by the offer of the war office to take ten minn a month during the war, their £75 bonus, the Dominion $100 grant and perhaps some aid from the Ontario Government.

Teronto Schools Offer.

Toronto Schools Offer.

The great difficulty has seen to arrange for the extra thirty hours in the air, which is very expensive, as it far surpasses any form of aerial education hitherto given in this conducation nitherto given in this continent.

Time being a great object, it was thought advisable, immediately to get the benefit of an organized flying school, and tenders were secured from several of the largest in the United States and Canada.

It can now be announced that the Curius School of this city has made the most practical offer, and already five Canadian students are in their hands, under contract, from the Cana-dian aviation fund, and that this num-ber will very shortly be increased. Mearly two hundred applications from all parts of Canada have been receiv-ed without any solicitation. Lectures and the additional instruction insisted upon as so very desirable, will be given to these special students by an officer of the Royal Flying Corps, who is in Canada, and who has kindly volunteered his services.

It will, therefore, be seen that a commencement has been made to put Canadians, who can really fly, and who have much, if not all, of the extra neto aid our boys in the battle front to aid our boys in the trenches.

OHN BROOKS IS FINED FOR RECKLESS DRIVING

Couple Were Injured When Motor Car Struck Buggy on Victoria Day.

A fine of $10 and costs was imposed by Magistrate Brunton in the county court yesterday in his verdict in the case where John Brooks of Summerville, Peel County, owner of a motor car, and his son, Percival, who was driving, were charged with recklessness on Victoria Day when their machine collided with a buggy driven by Morgan Ritchie at Islington. Mr. and Mrs. Spencer, occupants of the buggy, were thrown out and injured in the collision.

The horse became frightened and bolted, finally running into an autodriven by John Northway. Northway sustained injuries when the windshield was broken in the collision.

Magistrate Brunton in imposing the fine said. "I have nothing to do with any claim for damages which may arise in this case, but I have no hesitation in finding the accused guilty of reckless driving and will impose a fine of $10 and costs. Had the evidence shown that the accused was intoxicated I would certainly have made it a term of imprisonment for jail is the only place for such maniacs." There have been despatches from London and other articlest in the press during the last few days indicating that the admiralty and war office are in hearty sympathy with the project of training aviators in Canada, and that Canadian airmen in Europe would welcome the inauguration of a Dominion flying corps.

It is pointed out that a government training school, or one which is not a commercial enterprise, is to the advantage of the student. Also that lectures on flying, engines, military subjects, wireless, etc., should be included.

MEETING AT THE STAR

Col. Lennox Sick of Men Heedless of Call for Help From Trenches.

Seven recruits were signed up at the Irish Fusiliers' recruiting meeting in the Star Theatre last night. Thos. Hook, M.L.A., presided over the well attended meeting, and many splendid addresses were delivered.

Sgt.-Major James Donovan of the R. C. D., newly appointed adjutant of the Irish Fusiliers, was successful in getting one man to enlist on his promise to give instructions in boxing. Mr. Booth, president of the Farmers' Dairy Co., said that it was only in the colonies of Great Britain that men were asked to serve voluntarily in this great war that is to make a repetition impossible in the time of our children or our children's children. Every fit man should enlist for the sake of his wife, his mother and himself. What did it matter if there was a labor shortage? He found it almost impossible to get men, but in the face of the war, business for the time being should be allowed to go.

For Humanity's Sake.
While Germany had been mobilizing for war, Britain and most of the Ing for war, Britain and most of the European nations had been preparing for an era of peace, said Lieut. L. Heyd, K.C. Thru this Germany had been able to take possession of Poland, Belgium, Serbia, Montenegro and 48 per cent. of the wealth producing territory of France. To offset this, however, German commerce and the German flag had been driven from the seas and the allies had captured all the German colonies.

the allies had captured all the German colonies.

If Germany should win this war, Mr. Heyd said, he could not anticipate the future of Canada, the empire and civilization. It was necessary to defeat Germany and force her from the territory she had taken. To accomplish this it was the duty of every fit man to enlist, and assist in defeating the Hun for the sake of humanity.

Lt.-Col. Lennox said it made him sick to see men on the streets acting as they did three years ago, and absolutely oblivious to the cries for assistance from the men in the trenches. He said he was proud of the men in his battalion and would welcome men of red blood, and after the war would of red blood, and after the war would not rest until they had as good posi-tions as those given up in order to en-list in the Irish Battalion.

The entire service, which lasted nearly two hours, and was conducted by Rev. Thomas Eakin, Ph. D., minister of St. Andrew's, and Rev. (Major) T. Crawford Brown, chaplain of the 48th Highlanders, was an impressive eulogy in its commemoration of Col. Marshall.

Lawson declared that the combat had now reached the stage where every man must make his choice between Christ and the kalser, that the war was one of Christianity against barbarity, and that the man who did not declare his place on the side of the allies was openly announcing that he believed in brutality of the kind which the Germans used.

TEN THOUSAND AT EXHIBITION PARK

To Say Farewell to Col. Barker and His Battalion.

BETTER ORDER IS KEPT

Friends Said Parting Words Before Men Were Lined

Upwards of ten thousand relatives and friends of the men of the 95th Battallon and the 12th Artillery Brigade went to Exhibition Park yesterday to see them off when they left Toronto to continue their training.

Very enthusiastic send-offs were given to the 2000 troops forming these two units. The notice that relatives and friends of the soldiers would be permitted to spend the day with them at the camp was fully taken advantage of by thousands of the men's parents, wives and children. They entered the grounds at 10 a.m. and made an all-day picnic of it. The civilian visitors spread over all parts of Exhibition Park, giving it almost a fair-time appearance.

It had been announced that the grounds would be cleared of civilians at 6 p.m. About half of them left at this time, but several thousand collected in front of the process building, the 95th's beadquarters, and stayed there until 7.20, by which time the band, signal section and four companies of the battalion had been lined up and marched, one company at a time, to the open space near the fountain.

from the process to the horticultural building.

The soldiers said good-bye to relatives and friends before passing this line. A number of the relatives were much grieved at having to say farewell before the soldiers reached the train, but the plan worked more smoothly and successfully than is usually the case when soldiers have entrained in the past.

A thousand or so of the soldiers' relatives got right to the trainside before the troops left at 9 p.y. by walking along the radiway tracks, hundreds reaching line tracks from Dufferin street and hundreds from Strachan avenue. With soldiers of other units in camp a crowd totaling well over a thousand was formed and the cheering as the train drew out was very hearty. The coupling connecting the engine to the coaches was found to be out of order just as the train was about to start at 8.30. The first coach was shunted onto a siding and two new coaches were attached. The half-hour delay was welcomed by the growd, as it gave additional time to say farewell.

The 95th Battalion was authorized and the coefficients.

the way for American mediation in the war, declares that mediation of this character cannot be entortained because, as the editorial phrases it, a compromise between right and wrong is impossible, and the war, as a matter of principle, must be fought until Germany is beaten.

"President Wilson's electioneering speeches," says The Times, "are bringing him on dangerous ground. We should be sorry to emulate the suggestion og The Frankfurter Zeitung, that President Wilson probably considers his political prospects would be helped by a conclusion of peace, but we think it right to stats quite clearly that the allies are not, and will not be, disposed to allow American internal? that the allies are not, and will not be disposed to allow American internal politics to be intruded into their personal quarrel. They respectfully decline to admit that their righteous honorable war can by any strained exercise of natural impartiality, be assimilated into a German war of unprovoked aggression, murder and outrage. They will listen to proposals of peace only when they come from the beaten foe."

"Madam X" has played its meloc, on the heart strings of the American theatre-going public for seven seasons, and the film adaptation of this Hom. W. Savage production, which is the traction at the Madison Mence Tuesday and Wednesday, is as equent in its message as the stage velocities. The producers have been mosfortunate in securing Dorothy Bonnelly, who created the title role in original production. That no artist of the stage is better adapted to the delicate handling of the difficult role of "Madam X" is evidenced by that tug and grip her performance gives to the emotions. She is supported by a notable cast under the direction of Geo. Marion.
