

who pretended to be prince of Wales, during the life of the late king James the second, and since his decease, pretended to be and took upon himself the style and title of king of England, by the name of James the third, or of Scotland by the name of James the eighth, or that the style and title of king of Great Britain hath any right or title whatsoever to the crown of this realm, or any other the dominions thereto belonging; and I do renounce, refuse and abjure any allegiance or obedience to any of them. And I do swear that I will bear faith and true allegiance to his majesty king George, and him will defend to the utmost of my power, against all traitorous conspiracies and attempts whatsoever which shall be made against his person, crown, or dignity. And I will do my utmost endeavor to disclose and make known to his majesty, and his successors, all treasons and traitorous conspiracies which I shall know to be against him or any of them. And I do faithfully promise to the utmost of my power to support, maintain, and defend the succession of the crown against the descendants of the of the said James, and against all other persons whatsoever; which succession, by an act entitled "an act for the further limitation of the crown, and better securing the rights and liberties of the subject," is and stands limited to the princess Sophia, electress and dutchess dowager of Hanover, and the heirs of her body, being protestants. And all these things I do plainly and sincerely acknowledge and swear, according to these express words by me spoken, and according to the plain and common sense and understanding of the same words without any equivocation, mental evasion, or secret reservation, whatsoever. And I do make this recognition, acknowledgement, abjuration, renunciation and promise, heartily willingly and truly, upon the true faith of a christian: So help me God.

The celebrated Boernaave ordered that all his manuscripts and books should be burnt, one large volume