OPENING OF NATIONAL HISTORY SOCIETY'S COURSE OF LECTURES

The first lecture of the "Musical sketch" course in connection with the Ladies' Association of the Natural History Society was given in the Museum yesterday afternoon under the direction of Miss Homer and Mrs. Geo. F. Mathew for the literary part, and Mrs. Kent Scovill and Mrs. Louise Knight for the musical part. The lecture on Poland was one of the finest ever given under the auspices of the association. The musical programme was as follows:—

Ignace Paderewski, piano, Minuet—Mrs. Scovill; Czardas—Mrs. Scovill; Frederick Chopin, vocal, What a Young Lady Loves, Melancholy—Miss Louise Knight.

Blanc-Fantastic Impromptu—Mrs. Scovill; Berceuse—Mrs. Scovill; Ballad—Mrs. Scovill.

The third part of the programme consisted of a paper read by Mrs. G. F. Mathew, on a "Visit to Two Polish Cities—Warsaw and Cracow," the one the former capital of Poland and the

Diamonds

The "War" has not lessened the demand for Diamonds—the reason being, no doubt, that of all commodities "The Diamond" is affected less by business panics or depressions than any other. It is stable. It holds its value, while other classes of merchandise suffer.

It is thus a safe investment at all times. Our prices have not advanced. We can show you some excellent values.

Rob Dusting Day of Its Drudgery

The old corn-broom, with its flying dust, its wearisome strain on the back from hours of toil-by the earlier sweeping methods, has had its day; even the more modern carpet sweeper has been improved, so you have with it a thoroughly practical and durable suction cleaner in the which does more and better work in far less time and is much easier on carpets and rugs. The revolving brush takes up the surface litter, while the powerful bellows removes the introduced dust. A thumb-pressure opens the big, roomy dustpans, and the large, open-throated, wire-framed bag empties at a tap.

IN BELGIUM WITH THE ALLIES

One of Busiest Places on the Map

IN AND OUT OF THE TRENCHES

Correspondent Tells of Varied Activities—Big Gun Which Shelled Dunkirk Now Silent

Dunkirk, France, Oct. 21.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—On the map of Europe the portion of Belgium that remains to the allies is not large, but now it is such a busy part of the world that one who whirls through it for several days in a military motor car, as an Associated Press correspondent is now doing, is likely to think that it is a very large part of Europe, the villages are now full of French, Belgian and British soldiers, there are many camps, hospitals and bases of one sort and another—here an aviation camp, there an ambulance station, and so on—that to visit the country is to realize the many-sided activities of warfare as one perhaps could not realize them in any other way. For one man in the trenches there seem to be fifty carrying supplies and ammunition, building roads, repairing bridges, stringing telephone wires and constructing barbed-wire entanglements.

This trip comprised almost 200 miles of travel in what may be roughly described as a triangle, with Neuport, Dunkirk and Ypres at the three corners. "I don't suppose we can go into Ypres," asked the correspondent. "You would be a fool to try and you would be a dead man if you got there," was the chauffeur's answer.

Between Dunkirk and Ypres one can find all grades of demobilization. What happened to Dunkirk by the action of a Krupp gun more than twenty miles away almost everybody in the world knows now. But what happened to that gun it would be of greater interest to know and neither the French nor the Germans are saying anything about it. But the people of Dunkirk know it. It has been in action for two months.

As one travels inland from Dunkirk towards the southeast through Bergues, Holland and England are full of refugees wearing the demobilized homes, for there are to be seen little villages with not a building inhabited, hardly one unmarked by shell fire. Handsome sixteenth century facades, modest brick structures, artistic little churches, have all gone into war's melting pot. The streets are as devastated as the sections of San Francisco or Baltimore after their conflagrations.

The French are holding the dunes along the coast, then the Belgians, then more French, then the English, last still more French, then the English again, and finally the long line of French reaching to Switzerland. It is not often pointed out that the French are sandwiched in between the lines in the fashion of a ham. "Stopping before a 108 m. gun, eleven miles inland in a group of gun which has been silent for a few moments, the correspondent was "doing its bit" in an artillery action spreading over one hundred miles, a correspondent asked the lieutenant in charge, "did you intend to fire again."

"Whenever they telephone us," was the reply, "we have fired only once this morning." When the line of action is as long as the route from New York to Philadelphia, each gun has an easy time of it and there is plenty of opportunity for conversation. Indeed when the correspondent approached the group they were laughing at a story of the lieutenant. He was telling them of a devoted French soldier who had been sent to the hospital as a result of poison gas. "I should have left hospital after three days," said the lieutenant, "but my order was 'do not let me die.'"

"Have any shells burst around here yet?"

"Not very near," this big gun is pretty well concealed and if the enemy's aviators see it we can easily move."

"You can't see any Germans from here, can you?"

"I have been in the front eleven months," said the lieutenant. "I have seen many dead Germans and many German prisoners, but I have never seen a German in action, except the man in the 'trench'."

A half a dozen privates gathered round and the conversation became general, being interrupted occasionally by visits to the observation post, the trench where the correspondent was shown the German lines and could see the sharp-

CATARH LEADS TO CONSUMPTION

Catarh is as much a blood disease as scrofula or rheumatism. It may be relieved, however, cannot be removed by simply local treatment. It breaks down the general health, weakens the lung tissue and leads to consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla is so successful in the treatment of catarh that it is known as the best remedy for this disease. It purifies the blood. Ask your druggist for it.

NOSE CLOGGED FROM A COLD OR CATARRH

Apply Cream in Nostrils To Open Up Air Passages

Ab! What relief! Your clogged nostrils open right up the air passages of your head are clear and you can breathe freely. No more yawning, sneezing, blowing, snickering, hiccuping, crying, no struggling for breath at night, your cold or catarh is gone.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, salubrious balm in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head, soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Ely's Cream Balm is just what every cold and catarh sufferer has been seeking. It's just splendid.

WELSFORD SOCIAL

A patriotic social proved a great attraction at Victoria Hall, Welsford, last evening. It was largely attended and the sum of $88 was raised for the purposes of the Red Cross Society. Fred M. Sprague of Hampton, gave a talk on the Red Cross and the good work it has done in the past and is doing now, and the speaker's words were warmly received. Mrs. John Black, of Fredericton, sang very effectively, "Gallant Little Bessie," and "Kitchener's Question." Rev. Mr. Jenkins sang "Angus Macdonald." Dorothy Byers was accompanied and she also rendered some solos.

Everybody wants "one" the tickets for that $5,000 drawing.

WATCH SORE THROATS

Two swollen glands or inflamed membranes often affect other tissues and lung trouble easily follows.

As Nature's corrector of throat troubles the pure cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is speedily converted into germ-killing tissue; its tested glycerine is curative and healing, while this wholesome emulsion relieves the trouble and rebuilds the forces to resist tubercular germs and avert the weakening influence which usually follows.

If any member of your family has a tender throat, get a bottle of Scott's Emulsion to-day. Physicians prescribe it to avert throat troubles, overcome bronchial disorders, and strengthen the lungs. No harmful drugs. Always insist on Scott's.
