U. N. B. AND MOUNT A. OPEN COLLEGE RUGBY SEASON TOMORROW

TROJAN TEAM PLAYS MONCTON THIS SATURDAY

Keen Interest Here In Outcome of Thursday's Struggle

GRADUATES and friends of the University of New Brunswick and Mount Allison residing in this district are manifesting keen interest in the outcome of the annual tussle between these two teams, opening the 1926 inter-collegiate rugby for the western section. Both squads have been training faithfully for this test and should be going at top stride by the time they line-up tomorrow. U. N. B. has two Trojan scalps dangling at its belt while Mount Allison has beaten Moncton and rolled up a 34 to 0 score against King's last Saturday.

On Saturday of this week, Trojans go to Moncton for a game with the railway centre boys who annually manage to pull a pretty good squad together considering the many handicaps under which they labor. It is probable a return game will be played here shortly.

FREDERICTON, N.B., Oct. 20.—Coach C. B. Burden, assisted by G. F. G. Bridges, of Moncton, a former U. N. B. coach, gave the University of New Brunswick rugby squad its last workout this afternoon preparatory to the inter-collegiate league game here Thursday afternoon against Mt. Allison. Kincaid is out of the game owing to a strained shoulder received in practice. Otherwise the team is as expected. Full back, Hickson; three-quarters, Sealey, Steen, Fraser (Capt.), McCaffrey; halves, Babbitt, Keene, Currie; forwards, Donohoe, McPhail, Odell, Dalziel, Macaulay, Woods, McLennan; reserves, Doddridge, Gibson, Smith and MacCurry.

Mr. Timothy, of the United Services team in the Halifax City League, is to referee.

"BLUENOSE WINS." That was the cry that echoed over the continent three years ago following the close of the international fishermen's race off the Nova Scotia coasts, sending a thrill of pride through Canadians that their representative beat the best that the United States Atlantic fishermen could produce. Are we to have no more of those thrills? It apparently looks so this year, at least, for the two factions do not seem to be able to come to some amicable agreement. The Nova Scotia committee, to save expense, wants to have the Gloucester representative, the Columbia, sail in an elimination race but to this the American committee objects. A Halifax paper offers the suggestion that as the Bluenose is definitely out of it and as the Hailgionian, recently built, is ready to assume the honor of defending the famous trophy and the honor of Canada, there is not any need of an elimination and to let the Columbia and the Hailgionian fight it out next month. Seems reasonable to us. We'd all like to see another one of these races as they have proved to be one of the real, outstanding sporting events of the year, interesting millions of people in Canada and the United States.

THE MASCOOT of the Washington Senators has been voted $500 by the team players. That boy will be able to buy several ice cream cones with that.

IN THE gory days of yore when John L. Sullivan was taking on all the boys at the circus and then dishing the canvas with their lean, spare, frames, timekeepers were an oddity. To believe some of the sport writers, John L.'s entourage was composed of a tough crew, who chewed iron for breakfast and topped it off with a bucket of suds. When John L. took on the husky young blacksmiths of the village in addition to the ploughboys, one of the gang stood handy with a crowbar or some other delicate instrument to ring the gong for the rounds. Usually, these boys were good guessers as they seldom used their fingers. It all depended on how the fight was going. Alas, how times do change. Now we read where in the new Madison Square Garden, the fans will be able to keep track of the time by means of four giant clocks, blocked off into four colored sections, three sections denoting the minutes and the fourth for the rest period. Thus, we progress. No more crooked work with the gong. No more chances for the sport writers to tell with gobs of imagination how the country boy had the champion all but out when the banging of the gong by the champ's friend saved him. No more—but what's the use. Someone is always taking the joy out of life.

ON THURSDAY of this week, Mount Allison goes to U. N. B. for the opening game of the season. From reports here, U. N. B. is going to have plenty of excitement in swallowing the Sackville crowd.

HAVING crowded the dear men out of the barber shops onto the pavement and being granted the franchise, some narrow-minded souls expect that it is time the ladies call a halt. We have another lot for them, however. A 26-year-old miss in London, England, who owns a stable at Newmarket, calmly announces through the press that she will win the Derby in 1928. "I am a great lover of horses" says this tradition-smasher, "and while I am young yet I believe I have the tradition-smasher, and while I am young yet I believe I have the tradition-smasher, and while I am young yet I believe I have the tradition-smasher." Now, don't start any raucous laugh, boys, over this. It sounds funny but glance around at what has happened in the last few years. Take a look at the opening sentence of this paragraph again.

"Micker" Walker No Longer Has Dreaded Reputation

"You go and bet all the real estate in Florida that it will take Dave Shade just as long to get another fight with Micker Walker as it did to get the first one—if he ever does get another one," an intimate friend of Jack Kearns, Walker's manager, said a few days ago.

It took Shade two years to get into the ring with Walker and required the maximum of official pressure from the New York Boxing Commission to defend his welterweight title against the California challenger and it does not require information from such a reliable source to predict that Shade never will get a return bout.

Walker is too careful and his manager is too shrewd to take another chance with Shade after the narrow escape they had from losing the only valuable title now on the market. Walker made a whirlwind finish in that fight and many good judges, such as William Muldoon, veteran boxing commissioner, thought that Shade won. Shade's failure to win the championship was due primarily to the decision of the referee and one of the judges that Walker had won, but some smart boxing men blame the referee, Shade's manager, for allowing Walker to take the fight away from Shade in the fifteenth round.

Several reliable fans, who were sitting in the front row near Shade's corner, said they heard Flynn tell Shade before the bell for the fifteenth round to go out and play safe and take no chances.

"You've got the decision in the bag now," Flynn was reported to have said. "Don't take any chances now. Shade played safe and took no chances from all appearances, and Walker came out with a desperate last-minute attack, so furious that it must have blotted out the recollection of the earlier rounds in the minds of the two officials, although one of the judges voted for Shade."

The arguments about the decision get no place, however, unless those who thought or wrote that Shade was entitled to the decision get some satisfaction out of the discussion to vindicate their own judgment.

The writer picked Walker to win before the fight and yet he thought that Shade won the fight by a score of at least ten to five, if points can be scored that way.

If a mistake was made by the two officials who voted for Walker, it certainly was an honest mistake, by there never was suggestion or a suspicion of corruption even among those who had bet on Shade.

One prominent fan bet on Walker and stood to win $1,200 if the champion retained his title. Yet in the tenth round he laid off as much money as he could, thinking the Shade was going to win and he ended $60 out on the fight.

If there had been any reason to believe that the decision was "in the bag" for Walker, the Walker bettors certainly would not have made such frantic efforts to cover up their bets late in the fight.

After the bad showing that Walker made in his fight against Harry Greb and the one-round rally that he made against Shade, it would seem that he is not the little man-killer that he was reputed to be.

He certainly seems to have confidence in himself and his manager surely is not too modest when they ask for a fight with Paul Berlenbach, the world's light heavyweight champion. Walker would be almost like a child in the arms of the rugged and powerful Berlenbach, and he couldn't stand the terrific punching of Berlenbach for more than five rounds.

Kearns said that Walker could beat

WELSH BOXER ON CARD FOR MONDAY NIGHT

Frank Moody In Semi-Final For Johnson-Wills

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The National Sportsmen's Club of Newark, which is to stage a 12-round battle next Monday evening between Harry Wills and Floyd Johnson, announced yesterday that Frank Moody had definitely been signed to box Homer Robinson, negro middleweight of Harlem, in the semi-final of the Wills-Johnson affair.

Charley Cook, manager of Johnson, is said to be very resentful over certain insinuations that have been made by some of the hard-boiled fans in connection with next Monday evening's battle. Some of the more skeptical of the skeptics have even gone so far as to hint that Floyd is going to "take a dive" for the Black Panther. Others declare that Floyd is all through and will be merely a push-over to Harry. Over the long-distance phone yesterday Cook informed the management of the Newark club that Johnson was in fine physical condition and would certainly be on his feet at the end of the twelfth and last round.

OFF TO THURSDAY
The management of the New Broadway Arena, in Brooklyn, yesterday confirmed the report that Vic McLaughlin, sparring partner of Jim Slattery, had been substituted for Frank Moody as the opponent of Lew Chester in the semi-final event on that club's opening program. The management found it necessary to postpone the opening until Thursday evening because certain improvements in the seating arrangements had not been completed. The main event will be between Edouard Mascart, European featherweight champion, and Lew Hurley, of Harlem. They are scheduled to go 12 rounds.

It was learned last night from a most reliable source that Jess McMahon, who has been matchmaker and general manager of the Commonwealth Sporting Club in Harlem for several years, is to become matchmaker of the new Garden some time this week. The announcement will be made by Tex Rickard on Thursday or Friday. McMahon will succeed Frank Floner, who has been making matches for Tex Rickard almost from the time that professional boxing was revived here under the present Walker law.

Berlenbach because Walker beat Mike McTigue in a no-decision fight in New Jersey and that Berlenbach won from McTigue on a decision that was questioned seriously. Walker might have boxed McTigue, but he certainly can't hit with Berlenbach, and Berlenbach's whole game is hitting.

The closing year was a tough one for veteran boxers. Walker was one of the few who had boasted records of never having been knocked down. Gene Tunney broke the string of two of them when he stopped Tom Gilbey almost from the time that professional boxing was revived here under the present Walker law.

The Round That Won

This bit of action was snapped in the fifteenth and final round of Mickey Walker's fight with Dave Shade at the Yankee Stadium in New York recently. It shows the champion beating Shade (left) almost to the floor. Many at the ringside believed the decision would go to Shade because he had battered Walker all over the ring in the twelfth, thirteenth and fourteenth round, but Walker made a whirlwind finish and received the decision.

HOCKEY SITUATION AT SOO IN AIR

Greyhounds Have Received an Attractive Offer From New York Magnates.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 21.—The Globe publishes the following in its sports section this morning:
SOO, Ont., Oct. 21.—The hockey situation in the Soo went up in the air yesterday, and from all appearances, the prospect of a team here this winter develops into a race between the Soo management to get into a United States circuit and the New York amateurs to secure the Greyhounds before this can be accomplished. If the locals can be helped off until Saturday's meeting at Minneapolis, the Soo will probably retain the team.

The players held a meeting to discuss their attitude on the question. In view of the fact that they have received an attractive offer to go to New York, their final decision depends to a large extent, on the prospect of getting into the International League. The hockey club officials, on the other hand, unless they have some assurance that there will be a team available here, will not venture to join the new circuit.

Broth And Crackers For Harvard Team

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 21.—Harvard's husky football players, who imbibed tea and ate sugar to gain energy last fall, have a new before-dinner diet. As twilight faded into dusk late this afternoon the Crimson squad sipped beef broth and munched Graham crackers, and then rested for half an hour. Beef broth and crackers, with the half-hour of rest, are on the schedule for Harvard's players from now on. Harvard entertains Dartmouth here this Saturday.

A definite announcement is expected in a few days.

FINE TROPHIES PRESENTED FOR COMPETITION

Various Bodies Co-operating to Put Meet Over Big

GIRL athletes, who have entered for the track and field meet to be held on the South End grounds on Saturday afternoon next, are keen to set up some new records hereabouts and have been practicing faithfully in the various events. There will be a trophy for the team scoring the highest number of points in addition to the cup going to the high point scorer. This is the second meet of its kind held in the city and last year's success is expected to be exceeded this year. Entries for the meet close today.

Sixty competitors are entered for the Saint John Girls' Track and Field meet to be held on the South End grounds on Saturday with Miss Dorothy McArthur, Y. W. C. A. physical director, as chief director. Entries have been coming in most satisfactorily and last night there were still some to be received from West Saint John. There are to be nine events. 100 yard dash, 50 yard dash, 60 yard hurdles, running high jump, running broad jump, standing broad jump, shot put, basketball throw, relay race.

Through the kindness of W. J. S. Myles the use of the High School hurdles has been secured and the Y. W. C. A. is kindly loaning its jumping standards.

Amongst those who will assist as officials at the meet are A. W. Covey, W. E. Shirling, S. Payne, Lieut.-Col. Norman P. McLeod, Fred Coombs, K. J. MacRae, George Hatfield, P. J. Legge, Charles Coster, L. Kerr, Miss Gertrude Rice and Mrs. C. E. Herrington.

The six teams which have entered are two from the advanced business girls' gymnasium classes, one from the beginners business girls' gymnasium class, the Beavers, the Seniors Boosters and the senior school girls, all Y. W. C. A. teams, but representative of all sections of the city.

Handsome trophies are to be presented for the winners in the meet.
