

One Husband For Twin Sisters? Two Love Same Man and Would Wed Him

Marietta, Ga.—Ruth Webb and Ruby Webb, twins, are in love. They both love the same man. And the man, they say, loves both of them.

He can't tell Ruth from Ruby, Ruby from Ruth. He can't tell which he wants to marry. When he makes love to Ruth he can't tell her from Ruby, and when he makes love to Ruby he's not sure whether she's Ruby or Ruth.

The question is: "Can three live as cheaply as one?" And, if so—where? "We'd both marry him," the Webb twins say, "if the law would let us."

He would, too, they say. He's in New York, and he writes them regularly. Every time he writes he has to write two love letters, one to Ruby and one to Ruth. The letters are different—not mere mimeographs—but each is just exactly as ardent as the other. No favoritism here!

Ruby and Ruth are 21. They're blondes. They fell in love "at first sight." You see, they both saw him at exactly the same moment. He rubbed his eyes and looked ardent. Yes, there were two of them! From that instant his perplexity began.

"I wish," says Ruby, "there was a law legalizing polygamy. We've simply got to marry the same man. All our lives we've shared everything. Why shouldn't we share a husband?"

"Why not, indeed?" says Ruth. "We wear the same clothes, and we never quarrel about who's to wear them. We'd share a husband happily, and we wouldn't quarrel over him."

Ruby and Ruth have never been separated, day or night, in their lives. "And," they say, "we're not going to begin now. To be apart would break our hearts. Whoever loves one of us must put up with both of us."

The name of the sweetheart of the Webb twins? They won't tell.

"It wouldn't be fair to tell the world we love him. And at the right time, when we've found a solution to our problem, we'll tell. We agree, though, that he's the handsomest and sweetest thing you ever saw. We're crazy about him."

Ruby and Ruth say they've even thought of going to Turkey and experimenting with polygamy—they're so annoyed with the funny laws here that put such restrictions on matrimony.

NINE-YEAR-OLD IS BACK HOME AFTER HER 18TH RUNAWAY

Returned to Find That Baby Billy Had Grown No Bigger

New York, Sept. 17.—Dorothy Hastings, 9 years old, looked out of a car window and picked Yonkers for a good town. Whereupon she alighted. Now, despite her youth, Dorothy is no mean judge of towns; she's had experience. For this was her eighteenth runaway trip in two years.

Dorothy is back home again at 306 West 154th street. She's glad to see mother and dad, of course, but her chief concern was whether Baby Billy had grown to the size of Tom, who is 5 years old. She found he hadn't—in the week she had been away.

"Nope, it's never going to run away any more," she said as she looked at Billy. "Seems to me you don't take good care of him if that's all he's grown."

But of the eighteenth runaway trip—this time to Yonkers. Dorothy will tell you, it's a good town, all right. I bet of all, she said, she "nosed" on the train at 123rd street on Labor Day. The loss of her head, the twinkle of her blue eyes, inherited from a line of Irish ancestors—well, the trainmen couldn't resist her. She told them sure, it was none of their business who she was.

Along toward night she became tired and sat down on the step of St. Joseph's School. A nun took her to supper and a bed. That was quite as it should be. Dorothy explained afterward—that little gold cross above the door always had meant kindly treatment for her.

Four days she remained at the school. Then the Sisters took her to the Children's Aid Society. Perhaps it was the imp in her soul which matched the twinkle in her blue eyes that made her tell them she was Gloria Swanson, sometimes, and sometimes Mary Pickford.

Then somebody saw Dorothy's picture and a description in a newspaper. She alighted in great glee she was the girl. Eventually her parents claimed her.

Well, yes, she was sort of glad to get home, but Billy now, why didn't they feed Billy more, so he could get as grown up as Tom?

A knowledge of English among miners in the U. S. is estimated.

GEO. C. RUSHTON SEVERELY HURT

Falls From Bicycle, Run Over by Street Car; Leg Amputated.

George C. Rushton of Little River had a narrow escape from death on Saturday night when he fell from a bicycle and rolled onto the street car track, the car passing completely over him and injuring him so badly that his right leg had to be amputated below the knee and three fingers taken from his left hand.

Mr. Rushton said he was riding along the road and was blinded by the headlights of an automobile. As the car passed he swerved and was thrown from the wheel on the car tracks in front of the street car, which was so close that he was unable to get out of the way.

H. Cochrane, motorman on the car, said he saw something shining on the side of the track, about a car length away, and also a form on the track. He at once applied the brakes, and as soon as the car stopped rushed back to find the injured man at the rear of the car. He lifted him off the track and stopped a passing automobile, asking them to telephone for the ambulance. The vehicle arrived in about ten minutes and the man was conveyed to the General Public Hospital, where his injuries were cared for.

One-half the accidents in factories in New York with a loss of $50,000 a day to industries, are due to ignorance of the English language.

NELLIE MCCLUNG.

Nellie Letitia Mooney McClung—the Canadian author who has been a member of the Legislative Assembly of Alberta, representing Edmonton since 1921—was born on October 20, 1873, at Chateaufort, Ont., the daughter of John Mooney of Wawanesa, Man., and Letitia McCurdy Mooney. She is of Scottish-Irish descent, and her ancestors were pioneers in Ontario. Educated at Northfield School and of the Collegiate Institute, Winnipeg, Man., she obtained a first class teacher's certificate. Accompanying her parents to Manitoba in 1890, she taught school for five years. On August 28, 1896, she married Robert Wesley McClung, Ph.B., and has a daughter and four sons. In 1914 Nellie McClung moved to Alberta. In 1920 she was appointed one of the twelve delegates to represent Canadian Methodism at the Ecumenical Conference of the Methodist Church in London, England—the first woman to be given this honor. On July 18, 1921, she was elected a member of the Legislative Assembly for Edmonton. Mrs. McClung is a Liberal in politics. A strong advocate of woman's suffrage, and a firm believer in temperance, she is a life member of the Canadian Red Cross, of the Lloyd George Chapter of the I. O. O. F., Edmonton, of the Dominion W. C. T. U., and of several women's missionary societies. In 1921 she became honorary president both of the Edmonton Women's Institute and of the Women's Missionary Society of Alberta. She is a vice-president of the Canadian Authors' Association and of the Canadian Women's Press Club. Besides a number of verses, articles, and short stories, her works include: "Sowing Seeds in Danny," "All We Like Sheep," "Purple Springs," "The Land of the Gopher," "The Second Chance," "The Next of Kin," "Three Times and Out," "The Black Creek Stopping House," and "In Times Like These."

RECENT WEDDINGS

Kelly-Pressley.

A wedding took place Saturday evening, Sept. 8, at Boston in the Holy Cross Cathedral, when the rector, Rev. W. B. Finigan, united in marriage Raymond Paul Kelly and Miss Marie Catherine Pressley, both formerly of St. John. The bride was attended by Miss Nellie Campbell, while Cyril F. Bedford supported the groom.

The groom is a member of the sales staff of the W. H. Walker, Inc., and was formerly with Royden Foley, Ford dealer, St. John. The bride formerly was a member of the staff of the New Brunswick Telephone Company, from which she received a silver service and check. Numerous other presents were received by the young couple, including a substantial check from the bride's father.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly will reside in Boston.

Baxter-Ryan.

The wedding of Miss Georgia Ryan, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Ryan, Bloomfield Station, and sister of Mrs. A. B. Day, 29 Main street, St. John, to George W. Baxter took place at Wollaston, Mass., on Saturday. Mr. Baxter is a former resident of St. John, who has been living in Wollaston for about four years, and is employed with the Pneumatic Scale Company there. The happy pair will spend their honeymoon in the White Mountains, and will reside at Wollaston. The bride is well known here, having made a practice of spending her summer vacation in St. John. She is a registered nurse, having trained in the Florence Crittenden Home, and has been practicing her profession for several years at Wollaston.

RECENT DEATHS

Miss Annetta M. Compton.

The death occurred in Vancouver on Aug. 30 of Miss Annetta M. Compton, daughter of the late William and Hannah Vall Compton. She is survived by one sister, Mrs. W. R. McCready, of Vancouver. Miss Compton was a resident of St. John for several years until her removal to Vancouver in 1918.

Michael T. Flynn.

Charmeuse and Crepe Frocks

Long pleated panels come down right and left on one Charmeuse Dress that may be either Navy or Black. High up three circular motifs sparkle out in Blue beads held by Silk embroidery, with an echoing on the sleeves. $24.75.

The choice of Navy or Black brings you through many to another Charmeuse with pleated apron front, pleated cuffs opening wide and self-toned embroidery just above the lower waist in a deep pattering. $42.75.

A Gray Canton has pin tuck groups all down both front and back, self covered buttons down one shoulder and on the sleeves, while the shawl belt fashions into a hand-made ornamentation at the hips where a series of streamers begin. $42.75.

New Frocks now show in Crepe de Chine, Satin back Canton Crepe, Crepe de Chine and Charmeuse. Colors are mainly the popular Blacks, Navies and Grays, the styles are something to see and study separately.

A Leader in Coats

In the fashionable places of the Adirondacks, over the ocean at Deauville, everywhere the big hit in a coat has just been scored by the type shown in the corner window. Fluffy, long haired Balmana Cloth. You see it in a toning of wood shades, effects in Brown you'd never think possible. High crush collar, side tie.

The swing towards velvety piled fabrics turns attention to a Navy Marvella Coat with lining of Gray Crepe de Chine half way down, then a silver corded border and Black Crepe de Chine thereafter.
