RICH GIFTS IN GOLD AT WEDDING OF ENGLISH LORD AND MISS GOULD

John de la Poer Beresford, fourth Lord Decies, went to the City Hall in New York last week with his fiancée, Helen Vivian Gould, paid a dollar and got a marriage license like any plain citizen.

Lord Decies

One of the Gould limousines drew up at the curb of the Brooklyn Bridge yesterday afternoon. The smiling Englishman stepped out and gallantly assisted a somewhat diffident young woman to alight. Miss Gould wore a black tulle-crepe dress, brown fur coat and turban to match.

Arthur Taylor, one of the Gould attendants, led the way to Chief Clerk Scully's office, where the couple shook hands with Mr. Scully.

"We've never been married before," remarked Lord Decies as he and Miss Gould studied the blank. He wrote down that his Majesty King George, will in September next become governor-general of Canada in succession to Lord Grey. Official notification of that effect has been received by the government.

The appointment of his royal highness in for two years, but it may at the end of that time be further extended. The Duke and Duchess with their suite will take up their residence at Rideau Hall in September, meanwhile some improvements are contemplated which are somewhat unimpressive building to make it more in keeping with a royal residence.

Official Announcement That Duke of Connaught Will Come in September

Official notification of that effect has been received by the government.

The appointment of his royal highness in for two years, but it may at the end of that time be further extended. MARYSVILLE METHODIST CHURCH BURNED DOWN

Dwelling House Also Destroyed—Loss is Placed at $65,000 or More

Fredrickton, Jan. 29.—Maryville was visited this afternoon by a disastrous fire which did damage to the amount of about $70,000, and which destroyed the handsome Methodist church, also a dwelling house owned by the Alex. Gibson Manufacturing Company and occupied by W. T. Day, principal of Maryville school.

The church cost $60,000 and was insured for $100,000. The dwelling house was valued at $20,000 and was insured.

The church was of wood with a tall spire. It was presented to the Methodist congregation by Alexander Gibson, today was the thirty-eighth anniversary of its dedication. A meeting will be held this week to consider action toward rebuilding.

The fire is thought to have originated from the furnace and was first seen about 1 o'clock, soon after the pastor, Rev. J. C. Berrie, had left the office. He saw no signs of fire when he left.

The family of Mr. Day including his daughter, Mrs. J. C. Christie, who lost her home in the fire at Campbellton, left their home when they saw the blaze and very little of their effects were saved.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

In a speech the other day, I heard the dean of a large college for women quote a verse from her autograph album, and a sudden sense of tender regret over me as if I had heard reference to a dead friend.

Where are the autograph albums of today? Well, that's not so hard to answer after all. They're stowed away in the big black trunk, packed between yellowing letters of dubious orthography but stately diction, and rambling diaries of the days when men were not too busy to love.

But where are the autograph albums of today? That's harder to answer. Are they entirely a missing quantity? I am afraid so. When the last time you were asked to write your name, and an appropriate sentiment in some school girl's album, as you so frequently were asked in the "good old times," myself I cannot remember.

And I'm sorry. I think the autograph album is far too quaint and sweet a custom to let the vandals' twentieth century deprive us of it.

An old school friend of my mother's visited us last fall. They were talking of school days and the question came up as to the maiden name of one of the girls.

"I know where to find it," said my mother.

So out of the big black trunk from between the yellowing letters and the rambling diary, she fetched her autograph album. And by its title we straightaway had two groups of girls instead of two white haired grandmothers in the house.

How they poured over the thick, white leaves with their gilt edges and their stately or sentimental messages.

This one here the gentleman admonished—

"Be a good sweet maid and let who will be clever. Do noble things, not dream them all day long. And thus make life and death and the vast forever. One grand sweet song."

Another gave the familiar advice—

"To thine own self be true. And it shall follow as the night the day. 'Tis better to have a friend who says 'I love you' than to have a friend who says 'I hate you'."

Then heartbroken lament uttered another—

"To meet, to know, to love, and then to part. Is the sad tale of many a school girl's heart. My mother's guest found her own signature under this wish—

"May peace attend your future home. May love your pathway 'tween with flowers. And may you always have a friend. True as the one who these lines penned."

How they chattered and laughed and recalled this or that good time, and grew grave over the name of the girl for whom, as for Sweet Alice, they have fitted a slab of the granite so grey, and laughed, even while the tears stood in their eyes, at the sentimental.

"The voice is red, the violet's blue. Sugar is sweet and so are you."

Of some hopelessly smitten youth who has since married twice and had several children.

Isn't it rather a pity that our children should have no such treasure to fetch out of the black trunk from between yellowing letters and rambling diaries? Why not try to revive the old custom by giving your little boy or girl an autograph album next birthday?

Why not at the same time bring out your own and stimulate their interest in the gift by showing it to them and telling them some stories of the days when father and mother and some of the other grownup folks they know were boys and girls?

THE QUEBEC BRIDGE

Ottawa, Jan. 29.—The government has appointed H. W. Hodge, of New York, one of the best known engineering experts on the continent, and M. J. Butler, ex-deputy-minister of railways and canals, and now general manager of the Dominion Iron & Steel Company, to finally settle the difference of opinion among the board of engineers in charge of the construction of the Quebec bridge.

The bridge itself is in many respects the largest and most important engineering work of its kind ever attempted. On the decision of Messrs. Hodge and Butler will depend the solution of problems in which bridge engineers the world over are interested.
