

MAGISTRATE WARNS DRIVERS

Advises Automobile Operators With the Season About Beginning.

That the street traffic laws with regard to automobiles would be rigidly enforced and that anyone reported for exceeding the speed limit and other violations might expect the full penalty of the law, was a statement made by Magistrate Henderson in the police court this morning. He read extracts from the law and explained that Judge Chandler had handed down a decision that any person operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor could be dealt with under the criminal code and the punishment was a term in prison without a fine. He said that no excuses or explanations would be accepted and he was issuing this warning now that the automobile season was here.

Cases in Court.

Murray Northrup was summoned to the police court this morning to answer to a report of violations of the traffic laws. He was reported for operating an automobile without front or rear lights, for refusing to stop at a stop sign, and for making a wrong turn into Union street from Charlotte. The defendant's explanation was not accepted and Magistrate Henderson was sworn. After he had testified Policemen MacNeil corroborated his evidence and Magistrate Henderson said he would treat the three charges as one and struck a fine of $10. The car was in collision with a street car in making the turn. Cyril McKee was present to answer a charge of exceeding the speed limit in an automobile. It was brought out that several people had been operating the car that morning and as there was some uncertainty as to who was actually guilty Magistrate Henderson allowed the case to stand.

DETECTIVES GO ON BORDER TRIP

Power and Biddescombe Bring Woman Here in Check Case.

On charge of cashing two worthless checks here on Friday last, a young woman, Anna Chisholm, of Truro, N. S., was taken into custody Saturday afternoon by Chief of Police Hill at St. Stephen. Sgt. Detective J. T. Power and Detective P. F. Biddescombe left this morning for St. Stephen and will return this evening with the prisoner who is expected to appear at a preliminary hearing in the Police Court tomorrow morning.

The young woman arrived in the city on Thursday from Moncton, accompanied by a man. They registered at an uptown hotel as "Anna Kipping, Truro, N. B.," and "P. F. Clark, Truro, N. S." Clark also accompanied the woman to St. Stephen but was not arrested by Chief Hill. During their brief stay here, it is alleged the woman cashed two worthless checks, one for $60 in a King street establishment and the second for $69 in a Charlotte street store. The detective department learned that one of the cheques had been drawn on her own account at the Royal Bank of Canada, Montreal, and the second on the Royal Bank, Truro.

When apprehended, the woman, according to a St. Stephen report, declared she had known Clark for four or five years and that she was on her way from Montreal to visit friends in Massachusetts. On the other hand, Clark was quoted as having said he had known the woman for about a week.

OLD DIARY IS RESURRECTED

Toronto, April 28.—A diary, vibrant with the life of 90 years ago, in the Queen's Bush, has been resurrected in connection with the anniversary of the founding of Methodism in Goderich, Ontario. The entries record the exciting journey which on September 19, 1831, reached its climax in a service in the Canada Company's storehouse at Goderich.

Great faith in the future of the country and equally strong convictions about hell and sinners are reflected in the vivid narrative of Rev. Thomas Whitehead. It follows: "With two good guides we set off north for the Huron Road. Night came on; called at a Dutch cabin, situated the very best, greatcoats useful by night as by day. Tuesday, night—no Dutch house, nine far days. Next morning as I knelt to pray, our host few out of doors—but now wants a Dutch Bible. Rode 20 miles; showers; no human habitation. Shanty men preparing the road. Well pleased with the Huron lands—none better. Arrived at Mr. Van Edmonds'—prophesied kind. God bless them!"

Royal Jack Floating.
Alarming rumors—Saugeen Indians fleeing to Goderich. Thursday—raining horribly; anxious to see the waters of Huron, 18 miles off; roads awful; wet as a rat; took wrong road—intolerable—disoriented by horse's neck. In sight of Goderich. Fire Cedar swamp, back of the town, smoking like Sodom. Rode back two miles and found entertainment. Friday—one mile through the woods—struck the road we missed yesterday, as many miss the way to heaven—at night, full stop—in hell! In the village, on the right bank, like Abraham looking east, west, north and south, where now are the cedars will be fruitful fields. North Harbor, schooners, boats, canvas, wharf and several good buildings. A lofty flagstaff—the Royal Jack floating! The town plot of Goderich contains about eight hundred acres; market square eight acres. I view Goderich as a spacious city, the forest and away, comely dwellings and half a million precious souls peopling the fertile Huron lands; sanctuaries, like the tabernacle in the wilderness, where the worshippers keep holy days.

Sabbath morning—respectable congregation in the company's storehouse. Three o'clock—meet again. Mr. Benham read the rules and received six members. Prayer modern in the evening at Brother Crumme's—well attended—precious season—a number of Saugeen converts and Chippewas, many of whom prayed fervently.

Perilous Journey.
Monday—Benham and Simpson off in canoe. Saugeen Indians on bank. Wednesday—Seven miles up Mud River to Bushman's sawmill; few religious privileges. Maitland River—wild, romantic, meandering.

Sabbath—No returns from Saugeen—little company in class—tempestuous weather.

Tuesday—Sorrowful Four o'clock Bleased be God! Benham and one young Indian returned. The hail must pour, out all night in the rain; subdued on muskrat and salmon, but arrived safely.

Thursday—Formed a Temperance Society. Saturday—Brothers John Bailey and McConnell, from London, arrive—looked in the rain; dark night, efforts to ford Bayfield Creek in vain; terrible rain and flood for three days.

Sabbath—Love-feast at nine o'clock—The Lord's Supper—two sermons—spectacular congregation—many natives. "Surely God is in this place!"

Monday—Four of us left for London, sixty miles, thirty without human habitation—road blocked with fallen timber and shanties. Never traveled over lands so desolate. Arrived at night in a shanty with seven good-looking Scotch boys—God bless them! Fourteen men in a shanty; short discourse and prayer.

Tuesday—Settlement of colored people, clearings, cornfields, pastures, stock of grain, habitations comfortable and religious.

Wednesday—A variety of bills has been offered, but the character of this week's production is said to be of peculiar interest. "The Other Wife" is a comedy drama, which will give the various members of the company splendid opportunities.

In addition to the splendid Elinor Glyn feature, "Six Days," at the Imperial tonight—a 9-reel super-feature—full election returns in the civic contest will be given from the stage. There will be two shows as usual, starting at 7 and 8.45. Usual scale of prices.

EX-KAISER RAPS PRESIDENT WILSON

Compacently Justifies Himself in Course He Pursued After War.

Berlin, April 28.—Former Emperor William in a book published by Lieut-Colonel Niemann, a personal friend, is quoted as rapping President Wilson for his stand against Germany in the World War. Niemann was attacked to grand headquarters during the war, and accompanied William in his flight to Holland. The former Emperor is credited with having told Niemann that it was perfectly clear to him from the beginning that President Wilson desired to see Germany crushed and that the U. S. waited an opportune time to enter the war so as to swing the balance in favor of the Allies. Regarding the flight of William to Holland, Niemann quotes him as saying—

"I was ready to fight the internal enemy when the revolution broke out, but I found myself deserted by the army leaders themselves. Many persons contended that I ought to have sought death on the battlefield, but I think that tempting God or committing suicide would have been morally wrong."

"I did not want to stand by and see Germany split in a fight of Germans against Germans, and I left the country rather than stand as an obstacle in the way of the Fatherland. I realize that the sacrifice did not have the desired effect—to secure better conditions for Germany—but I believe history will justify my action. Tradition and the future of my dynasty should not have been sacrificed to the hypocritical phrases of the pretended pacifist Wilson."

"I did not desert my country thoughtlessly, but only after careful deliberation. And thus I did my duty to my beloved army and my misguided Fatherland."
