LOCAL PLAYERS DISCUSS FEE FOR RADIO WORK

Union Musicians Are In Favor Of Charge

CASE IS STATED

Serenaders Away to Moncton Today to Broadcast Programme For C. N. R.

It was said today probably that in the future performances of local union musicians for radio purposes will be charged for at a rate of five dollars a week for the use of the American Federation of Musicians is strictly carried out. Last spring at a convocation of the American Federation of Musicians held in St. John it was agreed upon all branches of the confederation under the routine of professional work, bearing upon the livelihood of its members.

Musicians State Case.

W. C. Bowden of this city, secretary of the St. John Local when asked concerning this said that the matter was discussed at a meeting and the spirit of the discussion was in favor of making radio work part of a musician's remunerative effort, the same as theatrical, dance, religious or other engagements of their profession. Music was a workday musician's stock in trade and in catering to the entertainment-loving public, whether it be as an advertising medium for a concern or for radio outlets, the talent employed to carry out the programme could fairly be considered in the same light as printed publicity or other means of exploitation.

Not Fair to Employers.

The union also took the view that where bodies of men are employed at agreeable scales of wages in maintaining orchestras, bands or in individual capacities as soloists or vaudeville performers, to donate their services for broadcasting concerns would be injurious to the vested interests that keep them employed.

Serenaders to Moncton.

Kenneth Jones, saxophone; Harold Friars, banjo; Morris Watson, piano; Jack Nuttal, traps and Bruce E. Holder, violinist, leave for Moncton today for Moncton to give a concert for the C.N.R. Radio Station tonight. The serenaders have been booked for this engagement for weeks and will be the first outside the city to be heard from the Government station. In addition to their concert number, tonight there will be some violin solos by Mr. Holder, who is also first violinist in the Imperial Theatre orchestra.

The serenaders are St. John talent purely. Already C.N.R. has broadcast the work of quite a number of St. John artists both vocal and instrumental.

That St. John Studio.

The establishment of a studio in St. John from which local talent and visiting talent as well as radio speakers and visitors may have their offerings microphoned to Moncton is still in abeyance. The project has not been dropped and technical arrangements are being made with the New Brunswick Telephone Company for relaying.
