> The report points out that in view of Pacific trade and the desirability of securing as much as possible of that trade, the directors recommend that a suitable line of coasting steamers be provided by the company, and as the steamers and other property of the Canadian Pacific Navigation Company, actively engaged in the business and with established trade relations, could be secured on terms that appeared to be advantageous, it was deemed desirable to acquire the same at an expense of five hundred and thirtythousand dollars ($531,000.) Since the purchase was made, another steamer has been added to the fleet at an expense it may be necessary to provide one more steamer for the northern or Yukon trade, and one for the route between Vancouver and Victoria.

The growth of the company's traffic on the Pacific Ocean suggests the importance of providing at an early date an adlitional steamship, somewhat larger and faster than the present Pacific steamship of the company.

In order to provide for these expendi
