The fair was formally opened at 2.30 this afternoon by Lieutenant Governor A. R. McClellan.

The exhibit in the various departments was about up to the average. Poultry was better than usual; cattle good, but not so numerous owing to unfavorable weather.
Ladies' department was good as far as it went, but had not the variety of other years. Roots and vegetables were good.
The display of the merchants of the town, Messrs. Stewart & Co., showing furniture carpets; C. A. Doull, showing furniture and picture framing; W. I. Goodwin, showing glass and china; S. W. Copp and Turner Bros. showing boots and shoes, was a pleasing feature of the exhibit.

Gate receipts were $120, as against $240 for the same day last year. The fair will be continued tomorrow.

The second day of the fair was held under more favorable conditions than the first. The weather, which was so bad yesterday, was better today and as a concepted a goodly number were in attendsequence a goodly number were in attendance on the grounds of the S. and W.
