able to obtain the patent.

We also notice from our records that the amount agreed upon was paid in full to Joseph R. Miller who was purchasing from you, and we do not see how you can claim the additional sum, especially the interest amounting to $29.52, when it appears that the error was entirely on the part of your office.

You might look up your records in connection with this and advise us further.

Yours truly,

H. H. St. Laurent
