

PREFATORY NOTE

IN a work such as this, going over so extended a ground, it would be impossible for the editor to mention all the sources of information to which she is indebted. But she wishes to record here how very much the book owes to the suggestions, judgment, and taste of Mr. Laurie Magnus, M.A., and her appreciation of his valuable assistance during its preparation.

She has also to thank Lady Betty Balfour and Messrs. Longmans & Co., for kindly permitting her to use a passage from "The History of Lord Clifton's Indian Administration, 1876-1880;" Mr. R. Bosworth Smith and Messrs. Smith, Elder & Co., for a similar favour in regard to "The Life of Lord Lawrence;" and Mr. John Murray for the free use of several of his copyright books.
