Several Doctors Attended
But Did No Good.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills CURED.

Read what Miss L. L. Hanson, Water-side, N.B., says: "I feel it my duty to express the benefit I have received from Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. A year ago last spring I began to have heart failure. At first I would have to stop working and lie down for a while. Then I got so bad I had to give up altogether and go to bed. I had several doctors attend me but they did me no good. I could get no relief until urged by a friend to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Before I had used three quarters of a box I began to feel the benefit and by the time I had taken three boxes I was completely cured."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cure nervousness, sleeplessness, palpitation of the heart, skip beats, and all troubles arising from the heart or nerves.

Minard's Liniment Cures Diphtheria

DIED AT AGE OF 110

MRS. NEVE, OLDEST WOMAN IN ENGLAND, PASSES AWAY.

Friend of the Late Queen Victoria—Met Marshal Blucher and Lientenant the Russian General After Waterloo—She Made a Trip to Russia When 92 Years Old—Received at Rong Huis.

Mrs. Margaret Neve, King Edward's oldest subject, died on Saturday, April 4, 1903, at her home, in Guernsey. For 110 years she preserved her health, strength and even her eyesight, and was known throughout the United Kingdom.

She was a wealthy woman, lived on a charming estate and gladdened the eyes of her many visitors.
She was a friend of the late Queen Victoria, and never missed sending on her birthday a telegram of congratulation to her.

The Queen never forgot to return the compliment and had Mrs. Neve's portrait hung in a conspicuous place at Osborne. When ninety-two years old Mrs. Neve went to France to see Kosciusko's monument. She enjoyed the trip so much that she went on to Russia, accompanied only by her younger sister, who was eighty-nine years of age.

Mrs. Neve lived the simple life of a country gentlewoman and was keenly interested in her estate, over which she walked unaided by stick or arm. She retained the old fashioned fondness for the old fashioned needle, work which she accomplished without glasses.

Among the many accomplishments of Mrs. Neve, who entertained Marshal Blucher shortly after the battle of Waterloo, was a translation which she made of Dante's works into French. She had been a widow for the last half century, had no children, and in May would have been 111 years of age.

The fact of the great age of Mrs.
Neve is substantiated by the preservation of her baptismal register.
Beautiful grounds surround Rong Huis, the home of Mrs. Neve.

Mrs. Neve's first recollection seems to be that of leaving her native island at the age of thirteen, in order to proceed to Bristol, situated between the counties of Gloucester and Somerset, to be educated.

This trip had, of course, in those days to be accomplished in a sailing boat.
Mrs. Neve's impressions of the great battle of Trafalgar were rather faded, but of Waterloo, fought in the year of her marriage, 1815, she had the most vivid recollections.

She married a Kentish gentleman, and a few years later she was convinced of his infidelity. Among many other things she visited the historic field of Waterloo, a souvenir of which this wonderful old lady retained to the day of her death. It was in the form of a buckle's belt marked with an "N," and must evidently have belonged to a soldier of the Imperial Guard.

So inherent was the love of travel that Mrs. Neve continued her custom of visiting foreign countries ever up to the advanced age of ninety-two, when she went to Russia.

Her habits of simplicity and early rising Mrs. Neve attributed much of the health which she enjoyed during her long life. It was her custom to partake of only three meals in the course of the day, and to eat absolutely nothing between.

Against afternoon tea she set her face like a flint, and nobody could persuade her to drink the beverage except at the usual hour for supper.

Until as recently as five years ago it was Mrs. Neve's custom to walk to church, situated at a distance of half a mile from Rong Huis, both going and returning.

He Got Even.
The late Paul Leicester Ford had, as every one knows, a deformity of the spine. Any reference to this he resented, sometimes with considerable acrimony.

On one occasion in Ford's youth he paid an overbold compliment to a girl whom he admired.
"You are," he said, "the handsomest young woman I have ever seen."

The girl, vexed, answered rudely:
"I wish I could say as much for you, Mr. Ford."

"You could," Ford retorted, "if you would lie as I did."

The Supplementary Set.
During a lesson in physiology Willie's teacher asked him if he knew the name of the last teeth people get, to which he replied:

"Yes'm; false teeth!"

afford it.—Pick-Me-Up.

DUBLIN'S FINE PARK

ALMOST IRREPARABLE DAMAGE DONE BY RECENT HURRICANE.

1,242 Forest Trees and 1,706 Thorn Trees Blown Down—Phoenix Park Referred to in the British Commons as "The Finest Park in the World"—Antiquarians on Origin of Its Name.

Of all the damage done by the terrible gale that lately ravaged the greater part of these islands the most irreparable is that caused in the Phoenix park, Dublin, says Lloyd's Weekly Newspaper. The storm swept through the famous park with hurricane force, uprooting the stoutest oaks and patriarchal elms, and striding the ground with timber in an incredibly short space of time. When the keepers came to go round and count the number of the fallen, they found the casualties very much heavier than they had expected. No less than 1,242 forest trees and 1,706 thorn trees had been blown down by the hurricane. A question on the subject was asked in the House of Commons. Replying to Mr. J. O'Connor, the Chief Secretary for Ireland said irreparable damage had been done to the finest park in the world. The epithet evoked instant in our applause from the Irish benches. The timber was to be sold, added Mr. Wyndham, the money so obtained to be appropriated in aid of replanting the Phoenix park.

Antiquarians deny that the name of the park has any connection whatsoever with the bird of ancient
