

and from other sources were drawn logs cutting about 20,000,00 feet BM. The mills of the City are the Lamb-Watson Company's plant with a daily capacity of 150,000 feet BM., the Monarch Lumber Company whose mill has a daily capacity of 40,000 feet BM. per day, and the Thompson River Lumber Company mill cutting 15,000 feet BM. per day. The Adams River Lumber Company has in course of erection a mill which will have when completed a daily cut of 100,000 feet BM. and will draw its raw material from immense limits which the company has secured about Adams Lake. Besides these larger concerns there are small mills operating at different points in the district; at Grande Prairie, at Sunnyside, at Ducks, at the Iron Mask Mine and other places. The average number of men employed by the various lumbering concerns operating in the district is about 300 and the average pay roll amounts to over $20,000 per month. This includes employees of the logging camps as well as of the mills. The equipment of the mills is of the most modern kind and the Lamb-Watson Company has a plant which for economy in production, ease and speed in handling material and quality of output is second to none in the province. The output of this mill as well as that of the Monarch Lumber Company is sold almost to the last stick in the provinces east of the mountains. The output of the Adams R. Lumber Company will also be for shipment to the east while the smaller plants supply the local trade.

Other Industries

IN addition to the ranching, farming, fruit growing, mining and lumbering industries which must at all times contribute to the prosperity of the city and which will as the years roll on and development proceeds largely increase in importance, there are other sources to draw from. A brewery and bottling works running to its utmost capacity, a cigar manufactory employing from twenty to thirty hands, a sash and door factory, a large brick yard, two furniture manufacturing establishments, and a harness and saddlery manufactory and two printing establishments add their quota to the payroll expended in the course of manufacturing.

Commercial

THE merchants and business men of the Inland Capital are wide awake, up to date and progressive. All lines are represented in the city and the stocks carried are of a class far superior to that usually displayed in a town of the same size. No resident of Kamloops or the surrounding district need send away for a single article. Here at home he may have his house built in Kamloops of stone quarried from district quarries, brick manufactured by a home firm, lumber sawed and dressed in the city and finished by Kamloops workmen, with paints, oils and paper purchased from local stocks. The plumbing,
