

- 356 Henrici Cornelii Agrippa ab Netteshym, a Consilius of Archiuis Inditiarii Sacrae Caesaræ Maiestates, de occulta philosophia. 4to. A rare copy of the most important work of Henry Cornelius Agrippa, an eminent physician, philosopher and divine; a man of great attainments but of very eccentric disposition. Born at Cologne, 1486, and died at Grenoble, 1535. On the title is a woodcut of the author and on inside of front cover a fine book-plate of Horace (Mr Horatius Walpole. The margins of the book bear copious annotations evidently written in the 16th century. On last page is the date of publication, 1533. 4to, full leather, back slightly broken, otherwise a unique copy of an extremely scarce book. $25.00.
- 357 The Herald of Progress, with which is incorporated "The Spiritual Pioneer," vols. 1 and 2, 1880 81, complete in 1 vol., 4to, cloth. $1 75.

 A remarkable book. In a letter from George Washington, written by the medium, 1857, he says: "Slavery in whatever form it existed was always abhorrent to my nature, and that repugnance by no means became extinct in my transit to a Higher Life." The date, it will be noticed, is just a little prior to the Lincoln Emancipation Act.
