A. O. H. DEMONSTRATION.

The greatest demonstration ever held in Montreal by the Ancient Order of Hibernians took place on Sunday morning and Monday evening, the 18th and 19th inst., when the Order in Montreal paraded to Mass on Sunday and held a grand patriotic entertainment on the evening following. The parade was largely attended, about 600 members being in line, and headed by the Hibernian Knights and the St. Ann's Cadets band, marched from Richmond street hall to St. Patrick's Church to attend Mass in anniversary of those immortal three—the Manchester Martyrs.

The parade formed up on Richmond street at 9.30 sharp, the following route being taken: Notre Dame to Inspector, St. James, Radegonde, Beaver Hall and Lagache-tiere. Many representative Hibernians were there, among them being National President, Matthew Cummings, head of the Order in America, which numbers at present over a quarter of a million; Mr. J. J. O'Flaherty, of Quebec, Provincial President; M. J. Walsh, M.P.P.; H. Kavanagh, K.C., and many others of our Irish citizens in this city. The Hibernian Knights looked immense, and their fancy drill and formations along the route drew forth the plaudits of the spectators who were watching the inspiring spectacle. The Order was met at the door of dear old St. Patrick's by Father Martin Callaghan, who accorded the distinguished visitors a cordial welcome. Never did the walls of old St. Patrick's behold a more brilliant spectacle as when the A.O.H. marched in on Sunday morning. The service was impressive and sublime. Father Luke Callaghan, the preacher of the day, delivered an eloquent discourse on the merits of the Order. Before the sermon Father Martin Callaghan, parish priest, accompanied by deacon and sub-deacon, advanced to the altar rail, and in words that brought tears to many eyes, welcomed the Order and their National President, Mr. Matthew Cummings, to old St. Patrick's, the mother Church of the Irish race in Montreal. He spoke as follows:

"Let us hope and pray that a measureless amount of good may result from the demonstration held on this day by the Hibernians of this city. It speaks volumes in their favor. By parading they may rejoice in the profound impression made upon the community and by assisting at the sacrifice of the Mass the most august and central act of Catholic worship, they will not fail to draw down countless and priceless blessings upon their organization, upon their deliberations, prospects and undertakings. The society to which they belong has a membership of nigh a quarter of a million. It enjoys a splendid and enviable celebrity wherever the English language is spoken. Justly may it be praised for the objects it has in view, for the spirit which is animating it, and the influence which it exerts, for the deeds which it has placed on record.

"The Ancient Order of Hibernians is assigned a mission which it is most reluctant to forget and most diligent in fulfilling. Has it not at heart and for its mainspring whatever should be dearest in every sense to the Irish Celt at home and abroad. The sons and daughters of Erin can point to a history in which they may glory. All its pages and chapters are teeming with overwhelming evidence of the most unwavering allegiance to God, of the most burning and unquenchable love for church and country, whether they were allotted by Providence in days of sunshine or days of gloom.

"Greatly pleased am I to welcome within the hallowed walls of dear old St. Patrick's Church, never in the past so lovable, so fascinating, and enrapturing as in the present, a contingent from the Hibernian Order imposing in number, bearing and character. I am delighted to notice the presence of several foreign delegates; one of whom, the national president and distinguished speaker of to-morrow evening, hails from a land where neither religion nor nationality is a barrier to prosperity or success, where merit reigns supreme, and laurels wreath only the brows of the truly worthiest.

"Hibernians, join hand in hand. Be united in thought, affection, hope and action. Be united in everything, but only in everything that is inspired by the principles of eternal life which you endorse, by the faith which you thoroughly understand and prize as the greatest treasure, which you tenderly cherish and fearlessly profess. By being thus united you will wield an importance of the noblest, richest and rarest type. Guard against the passion of gain. Keep aloof from the worship of self which is the dominant vice of modern society and the primarily essential factor in the rise, progress and prevalence of anarchy, barbarism and savagery. Trample under foot whatever may belittle our race, a race so unique, so brave, chaste and magnanimous, or limit the period of its ascendancy.

"Reflect no dishonor upon the memory of your ancestors whom you revere, and promote to your utmost the cause of truth, virtue, charity, temperance, education and liberty. May you see many returns of the day which you are celebrating so becomingly! May every anniversary bring to the observant world tidings of an efficiency wisely directed and happily applied! May it guarantee the promise of a future ever broadening and deepening in brilliancy!"

After divine service the Order adjourned to St. Patrick's Hall and its National President, Mr. M. Cummings, addressed them in a very able address. During his remarks he said that never in all his experience had he heard or seen a more patriotic scene than that which he had witnessed that morning, and stated that Father Martin Callaghan's remarks were sublime, and the speaker the most patriotic priest from Montreal to San Francisco. Before the gathering dispersed the National President moved, seconded by Mr. J. J. O'Flaherty, Provincial President of Quebec, that a hearty vote of thanks be tendered. Father Martin for the great kindness which had been tendered the Order on this their visit to St. Patrick's Church.

THE CONCERT AND LECTURE.

The concert and lecture took place on Monday evening, the 19th inst., and was a representative Irish gathering. The Stanley Hall was packed to its utmost capacity, fully 1300 being present to listen to the words of Mr. Matthew Cummings, the lecturer of the occasion. Mr. Patrick Keane, occupied the chair and amongst those on the platform were Mr. J. J. O'Flaherty, Prov. President of Quebec; Mr. J. McManus, Prov. President of Nova Scotia; Mr. J. Foy, Prov. President of Ontario, and Mr. P. Hamilton, Prov. Vice-President of New Brunswick. Messrs. H. Kavanagh, K.C., Dr. J. J. Guerin, Fathers Callaghan, Kavanagh, Gorman, Malone and O'Meara, County Chaplain. Others present included Messrs. M. J. Walsh, M.P.P., F. J. Curran, J. P. Walsh, P. Doyle, T. Heavers, J. O'Keefe, M. Wood, Hugh McMorrow, P. Scullion, Prov. Vice-President; J. Brady, J. O'Neil, P. Cooney, M. Roach, M. Brogan, J. Kelly, T. Hanley, P. Flannigan, Jas. Brophy and P. J. Rawley, Fathers O'Brien, Provincial Chaplain, Gorman, Donnelly and Heffernan.

After the opening remarks of County President Keane, patriotic songs were rendered by Messrs. W. E. Murphy, Chas. E. Killoran and Ed. Quinn.

Mr. Matthew Cummings, National President of the Order in America, then addressed the audience. On rising he was accorded a great reception, and when quiet was restored thanked the Irish people for the grand and hospitable manner in which he had been received in this city. He had witnessed more patriotism than he had ever seen in the United States, and would return to his home highly gratified, knowing that the Order was in such safe hands. Gatherings similar to this would be celebrated all over the world the coming week to honor the memory of Allen, Larkin and O'Brien. He spoke feelingly of the grave that contained the remains of twelve hundred Irishmen at Grosse Isle, and that if God spared him he would do all in his power to see that the Irish in America had a proper monument erected there, and finally stated the exact circumstances that led up to the murder of the Manchester Martyrs, Allen, Larkin and O'Brien. He urged upon his hearers to take back the green flag to dear old Erin and keep it there, flying over an Ireland not in bonds, but over Ireland free and independent.

Great enthusiasm was shown at Mr. Cummings' remarks, and at the conclusion a vote of thanks was moved the speaker by Mr. Foy, Mayor of Perth, Ontario, seconded by Mr. J. J. O'Flaherty, of Quebec, and carried by a standing vote of the audience. In responding to the above, Mr. Cummings stated that one thing he had forgotten to mention, and that was in reference to the cemetery at Point St. Charles which contained the remains of thousands of nameless Irishmen. He had seen the spot, and had learned that the same had been desecrated, the headstones being thrown in one of the public squares of the city. He urged upon every Irishman and woman of Canada to see that the headstone was returned to its proper resting place, and promised that if aid were needed by the Irish of Montreal, he would state that, he being the head of over a quarter of a million organized Irishmen in America, they could rely on their assistance to see that the stone was replaced on the pedestal that still stands to mark this sacred spot. After some very interesting remarks by Messrs. Foy, J. J. O'Flaherty, J. McManus and the Rev. Father Martin Callaghan, the concert was proceeded with, Miss Belle Foley, and Messrs. Latimer and Jno. Kelly contributing songs, the latter gentleman finishing with God Save Ireland, the chorus being vociferously sung by the large audience present with heartfelt enthusiasm.

THE BANQUET.

At the banquet to the National President, which took place immediately after the lecture, at the Grand Union Hotel, the following among others were present: The National President, Messrs. J. J. O'Flaherty, J. McManus, J. Foy, Mayor of Perth; P. Hamilton, of New Brunswick; P. Keane, County President; P. Doyle, Prov. Secretary; T. Heavers, County Secretary; P. Flannigan, County Vice-President; P. Scullion, Prov. Vice-President; Dr. J. J. Guerin, H. Kavanagh, K.C.; W. D. Guilfoyle, J. Brady, J. O'Neil, Jas. Brophy, P. Whelan, J. Heaney, Jno. Kelly, P. Shea, musical director; Ed. Quinn, Chas. Killoran and R. J. Latimer.

County President Keane presided, and J. Kelly acted as toast master for the occasion. The large dining room had been tastefully decorated for the occasion by its general manager, Mr. Murray, and a vote of thanks was tendered to him for the magnificent banquet which he had provided.

The toasts were appropriate for the occasion, being: The Manchester Martyrs; Our National President; Our Order; Ireland, a Nation; Our Provincial Presidents, Our Invited Guests, and The Ladies, all of which were replied to in an able and appropriate manner. Songs were interspersed between the speeches, and rendered by Messrs. Ed. Quinn, C. E. Killoran, W. Murphy, Jno. Kelly, Jno. Dods and R. J. Latimer. The banquet ended by the national song, God Save Ireland, being sung by all present, everyone declaring that the event would be a red letter one in the annals of Hibernianism.

Proposed Irish University

Addressing a meeting to further the conversion of Queen's College, Cork, into a university for Munster, William O'Brien said that he and his wife intended to bequeath all they were worth towards the endowment of a Cork university.

It is only necessary to read the testimonials to be convinced that Holloway's Corn Cure is unequalled for the removal of corns, warts, etc. It is a complete extinguisher.

"Sins of the Smart Set"

Baron de Paszthory, who has just painted one striking picture of Smart Set sin, and who is going to paint several more, at the suggestion of society's pulpit castigator, Father Bernard Vaughan, says he now expects to finish the complete series some time before Christmas.

Baron de Paszthory's original Smart Set picture, "The Tempter," is drawing great crowds of fashionable and other folks to the art gallery in Kensington, where it is being shown. The baron himself is already known to some extent in the United States, where he spent some months seven or eight years ago.

The model for the society sinner in his much-discussed painting, "The Tempter," is his beautiful golden-haired wife. She is German and was formerly an opera singer. She was quite a stage favorite in Vienna when the baron met her.

He was a young painter of distinguished Hungarian ancestry, studying in the Austrian capital. The baron and his wife reached London in time to notice the agitation in society over the lashings of Father Vaughan. They attended the remainder of the sermons. The baron was inspired by the following paragraph in one of Father Vaughan's sermons:

"The doctor and the family lawyer can tell you better than I can the number of innocent and beautiful English girls who have been ruined at the card-table—ruined and brought to the verge of the grave. And a girl with this curse on her—what can she do? She must pay her debts. Does she ask her mother or father? No, she is too ashamed. She runs from one to another—she knows not whither—until at last some devil in human form, who had laid the trap, makes his bargain. He gives her money, and the debt is paid; but the poor girl feels she can never be herself again. And this is going on every day."

"The Tempter" tells the story with vivid force.

Leaning her arms on a deserted bridge table sits a woman, terror and utter despair in her face. She is staring, frozen with horror, entranced at the awful revealing of her future. Cards sprawl at her elbow. Behind her, with the light from a tall piano lamp streaming on his face, is a middle-aged man. His eyes gloat on the woman. The smile of possession is already curving his lips. In the far background are a score of men and women, laughing and chatting, totally unconcerned at the tragedy of a woman's soul being enacted a few feet away.

Father Vaughan is delighted with the picture. "It will do a great deal of good," he said. "It is because of the senses that men fall, and only through the senses can they be appealed to."

Father Vaughan has drawn up on paper suggestions for the series of pictures which the baron is now painting. Here they are:

1. "The Debutante"—fresh, innocent and lovely, before she has been caught in the whirlpool of so-called smart society.
2. "The World"—The girl at the end of the season—tired and jaded with the weariness and uselessness of an idle, butterfly flutter through life.
3. "The Flesh"—Her marriage for money to a man she does not love.
4. "The Devil"—Events leading to the separation of husband and wife.
5. "The Deserted Child"—Pathetic human study.
6. "Death"—Two pictures—one the suicide of the poor little butterfly and the other the death-bed of the man with no friend near him.

When the pictures are all finished—and the baron is working furiously at them—society will flock to see themselves depicted in a Father Bernard Vaughan.

Pain is a Punishment.—Pain is a protest of nature against neglect of the bodily health, against carelessness regarding the physical condition. It steals in at the first opportunity and takes up its abode in a man and it is sometimes difficult to eject it. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil will drive it out in short order. Pain cannot stay where it is used, but immediately flees away.

Mr. J. C. Walsh Elected in St. Ann's

In the bye-election yesterday in St. Ann's division, Mr. J. C. Walsh, the Liberal candidate, was elected by a majority of 202. The total number of votes polled was 4616. The campaign of both candidates, Messrs. Curran and Walsh, was clean, probably the cleanest fight that was ever put up in any constituency.

Mr. Walsh was born in St. Ann's division in 1868. After going through the schools of the district, at which he led his classes, he pursued his classical studies at St. Mary's Jesuit College, where he took the Lieutenant-Governor's medal for classics and graduated with a B.A. degree from Laval University in 1891, taking the gold medal.

Mr. Walsh then studied law at McGill University, and graduated a B.C.L. in 1895. He was called to the Bar in the same year. He also was a successful journalist, but since his admission to the Bar has been actively engaged in the practice of his profession. He has a good law practice and is a well known and successful criminal lawyer, attending largely to criminal practice as the prosecutor for the C.P.R. He has also a good civil practice, being in partnership with his brother, Mr. Thomas E. Walsh.

CATHOLIC SAILORS' CONCERT.

Last evening's entertainment was in the hands of the Literary Committee. The chair was occupied by Mr. C. S. Phillips, of the firm of Messrs. Morton, Phillips & Co. In introducing the above-mentioned gentleman, Rev. Father Malone, Chaplain of the sailors, paid special tribute to the generous and noble spirit displayed by him towards this institution on so many occasions.

The programme was well carried out. Mention is due to the following well-known friends of the Club: Misses Coleman, Sheehan, Rowan, O'Brien, Walker, and Mrs. Margison, Messrs. Oats, Purcell, Willet, Lynch and Matchet; also to Mr. and Mrs. J. Weir Greene, lately from Ireland, who treated the audience to some very fine vocal and instrumental selections.

It was announced by the chairman that next week's concert, the last of the season, would be under the auspices of the Jas. McCready Co., when another treat will be in store.

SISTERS OF JESUS AND MARY ELECT SUPERIORESS.

The recent death of the superior-general of the Sisters of the Holy Names of Jesus and Mary (Hoche-laga Convent) necessitated the calling of the council of the order to choose her successor. The event took place on Thursday morning, under the presidency of Archbishop Bruchesi, resulting in the election of the Rev. Sister Martin of the Ascension. The Rev. Sister Martin of the Ascension (Miss Odile Leduc) was born in Beauharnois and has been one of the leading members of the order for many years past. The last position held by her was that of general secretary, and previous to that she was superioress of the convent of her order in Oakland, Cal.

Chicago's Gift to the Pope

Chicago Catholic laymen, in response to an appeal from the director-general of the Vatican Observatory, Rev. Dr. John G. Hagen, S. J., will present as their jubilee offering to the Pope, on the occasion of the golden jubilee of his ordination, December 18, 1908, observatory instruments of American manufacture valued at $15,000. P. H. O'Donnell, the well-known Chicago attorney, has been delegated by the director of the Papal observatory to take charge of the funds and purchase the required instruments.

A cough is often the forerunner of serious pulmonary afflictions, yet there is a simple cure within the reach of all in Biekle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, an old-time and widely recognized remedy, which, if resorted to at the inception of a cold, will invariably give relief, and by overcoming the trouble, guard the system from any serious consequences.
