

HOW PARVILLERS AND DAMERY WERE TAKEN BY CANADIANS

Splendidly Organized and Executed Operation, Which Has Resulted in Straightening Out of Dominion Troops' Line—Enemy Fails to Cut Off the Canadians.

By J. F. B. LIVESAY.

With the Canadian Forces in the Field, Aug. 16. (via London Aug. 18.) A splendidly organized and executed combined operation by the troops has resulted in complete straightening out of our line of our right, northwest of Roye, by the capture of the strongly held villages of Parvillers and Damery. The latter place fell into our hands yesterday afternoon. Witnessing our success the French immediately south of us, gave a fine example of their traditional dash and dash, and made a brilliant attack. They carried the Wood of Damery, Villers-les-Roye and Saurin. When they had brought their line up parallel with our own, as a result of a week's fighting, which the originally selected field of assault was extended by our French allies many miles south, and east, the entire line from Albert to Soissons, was straightened out, and we were in a position to offer no salients to an enemy thrust, even if he were in an adventurous mood. The victorious course of the second battle of Amiens developed a line of some thirty thousand prisoners, and well over six hundred guns besides thousands of machine guns, immense stores of material of all kinds, and almost the entire fruit of his great drive of last spring.

The initial attack of Parvillers was opened at a quarter past six by a terrific bombardment by specially concentrated artillery. Another wonderful show by our magnificent gunners. Fifteen minutes later the men went over the top and captured the village with only five casualties. One unit with a very distinguished record pushed on straight through the village, but found that a large enemy force had worked around to their rear. Nothing daunted, our men faced about, and, fighting a rearguard action on their former front, fought their way back and out of a critical situation, re-emerging behind a line of enemy trenches. They later, with the aid of other troops, took the village by a concentric movement.

All the enemy's attacks here failed. He made three distinct assaults, coming on four deep from two directions, and leaving several hundred dead before the village. One officer described it as the hardest infantry fighting since Montest Farm.

Not less splendid was the action at Damery. The assault was entrusted to a force of New Ontario troops. After capturing the village in brilliant fashion they beat off the counter-attack of three battalions, capturing some 250 prisoners and leaving in front of them several hundred enemy dead. KENNEDY GAINS FIFTEEN POUNDS

Wouldn't Give Tanlac For All The Other Medicines on Earth, He Says

"I tell you what, I wouldn't give Tanlac for all other medicines in the world, for it not only relieved my stomach, but indirectly but I have gained 15 pounds besides," said S. L. Kennedy, of 224 Dundas St., Toronto, the other day. Mr. Kennedy is a retired vegetable grower who spent 18 months in France as a member of the 74th Battalion, nearly half of the time in the front line trenches.

Ever since he came back from France, he continued, "my system has been very much run down and I suffered constantly from stomach trouble and indigestion. My appetite failed and I couldn't relish a thing. I would eat, but I forced down food on my stomach and filled up with gas that pressed so on my heart I could hardly breathe. If I tried to draw a long breath my side would ache, and I was sure an attack would be on me. I lost over 20 pounds, and was simply miserable all the time.

An uncle of mine who has taken Tanlac, with fine results, induced me to try it, and I sure am glad I took his advice. I have taken three bottles so far and I have a fine appetite now. I can eat anything I want, I never have a bit of trouble with gas or indigestion, and I feel a great deal better. I am picking up right along now, gaining in weight and strength every day, and it certainly is a pleasure to be able to eat down and enjoy a good square meal once more without having to suffer for it afterwards. Tanlac is undoubtedly the best medicine I have ever taken, and I am simply delighted at the way it has fixed me up."

Tanlac is sold in Brantford by Robertson Drug Store, in Paris by Apps Ltd., in Mt. Vernon by A. Yeomans, in Toronto by William Peddie, in Orondaga, by Neil McPhadden.

How Germans Treat Prisoners

It is a great satisfaction to know that the British Government, and we presume, all the Entente Powers as well, is keeping a careful record of cases of inhumanity and brutality of which its nationals in German prison camps are the victims. There will be an accounting some day, and we can only hope that those made to suffer from the outrages will be the ruffians who inflicted them and not German autocracy or some other abstraction without a body to be damned. Some of these prison camp horrors are published in the London Times, the particulars having been collected by a special correspondent in Amsterdam. He relates at least one case of cold-blooded, deliberate murder which occurred on Feb. 27 at Kommando No. 188, Witte, which is based in Minder. The murdered soldier was Private J. Desborough, of the Second Battalion of the Suffolk Regiment. This kommando was a British prisoner camp, the worst in Germany, and sends a constant stream of its prisoners into hospital at Minder.

On the date mentioned Desborough took the daily morning walk of a prisoner who was being bullied by a German civilian. The German sent him to the back, and he obeyed, but he ordered him to go away. He obeyed the order immediately, and as he walked away the sentry shot him in the back, death being instantaneous. A fortnight later he was officially reported to have died in a hospital.

REV. A. IMRIE AT FIRST BAPTIST

Former City Pastor Again Occupied a Local Pulpit Yesterday

An impressive sermon was delivered to a large congregation at the First Baptist church last evening by Rev. Andrew Imrie, a former pastor of Immanuel Baptist church some years ago, now of Toronto. One of the features of the service was a solo "Nearer My God to Thee," sung by Mr. Burrell.

"The glorious vision of God in His power and His effect on men," as recorded in the Book of Isaiah, was the subject dwelt upon by Rev. Mr. Imrie.

When Abraham Lincoln saw the slaves in the slave market in New Orleans, he vowed that, with the aid of God, he would strike at the slave trade and looked forward with eager anticipation to the vision of the result. Years afterward when he became president of the United States, he was able to free the country from slavery. If you are discouraged, look to the vision of the time when you will have no more troubles," pointed out the speaker.

Isiah was sent to reinstate and re-established worship in Jerusalem. The prospect of success were not very promising, but Isiah went to do his best with the vision of his success before him, and success attended him. The wise man obeyed, but the unwise man is too proud to tackle the difficult problem. As soon as a person is purified and cleansed of his sins, his willingness to serve is noticeable, and only the one who is cleansed from his sin can ever be used by God in his service.

China is to-day feeling the pulsations of the work of Morrison because of his willingness to do his best, and because he kept a vision of his success before him continually. Great generals have attained their greatness because they always kept the mark at which they were aiming before them. One thing is sure: the one who keeps looking to the vision, and doing his best, is always the one who wins. Look away from troubles to the time when your troubles will be over, when you are in the arms of the Saviour."
