Playing Great Ball

The Echo says:
The 97th American Legion baseball team under Captain Hanlon, now stationed at Aldershot, is showing the whole Highland Brigade how to play ball. Captain Hanlon is an American and the love of the game comes naturally to him. After meeting all the teams from the different battalions at Aldershot, the American Legion challenged the pick of the 97th as follows: Hanlon, c.f.; Noon, 3rd base; Shay, 1st base; Leaman, r.f.; Joyce 2nd base; Fox, s.s.; Mann, c; Allenback, Auman and McKernan, pitchers. The American Legion team will probably play a game here soon.

Anglo-French Armies Continue Their Progress

London, July 3.—Today's news is again a tale of the continued progress of the Anglo-French offensive. Heavy fighting is proceeding all along the line. The British maintain all their positions south of the Ancre River, where he battle still rages. They have captured La Boisselle, the garrison of which surrendered and are fighting successfully around Ovillers and north of Fricourt.

The British people learned for the first time tonight, that the famous French General Foch, who has won a great reputation during the course of the war, is directing the operations south of the Somme river. This has given increased confidence in the result of the allied offensive.

The French have captured Herbecourt and Assevillers, and have made other substantial gains, taking additional prisoners and heavy guns. They are thus making great progress in the direction of the important German junction of Peronne, which is only a little over three miles distant from their advance at Herbecourt.

The non-committal character of the German official statement, issued today, is considered in London as a virtual confirmation of the success of the Anglo-French operations. The Germans admit that the division of their forces abutting both banks of the Somme, which were partially withdrawn Saturday, has now been brought back to the second line.

No data is yet forthcoming from either side as to the casualties suffered. According to the German communication, the Anglo French losses were "extraordinary heavy," according to unofficial British reports, however, the British casualties were less than had been expected. All reports emphasize the tremendous nature of the British bombardment. The gunners worked so incessantly as almost to fall asleep at their guns, and when there was a slight recess in the firing, they slept easily amid the thunders of the battle.

Great importance is attached to a newly invented mortar, which plays havoc in the German trenches. Aircraft are taking an important role in the operations. Thus far the new offensive appears to have had little influence on the battle around Verdun. The Germans are still showing undiminished vigor in the Meuse region, and the French are as steadily resisting.

Russian Advance Only is Slowly Down

Petrograd, July 3.—The Russians are battering persistently at the solid wall of the German defence west and north of Lutsk, beyond the Shara River. The Germans have taken the offensive at various points, and fierce battles are reported daily, but with little change in the alignment.

The Germans are pouring reinforcements to this front from Kovel, Vladimir-Volynski and Sokal, apparently making a desperate effort to push the Russians back upon Lutsk. Their only success has been to bend the Russians flank positions, at the cost of a fearful toll in dead, into an arc centreing on the village of Torchin, fifteen miles northwest of Lutsk.

Along the whole line northward to Riga the Germans are attacking on widely separated and narrow fronts, but apparently without co-ordination. The only success admitted by military critics is in the region northwest of Nowogrodek, where the Germans threw a force across the Niemen. Little importance is attached to this, due to the swampy nature of the terrain which, it is believed makes the development of an offensive impossible.

General Brussiloff's advance in the Kolomea region has distinctly slowed up, and is less spectacular than during the last fortnight, but continues to record success.

WOMAN AVOIDS OPERATION

Medicine Which Made Surgeon's Work Unnecessary.

Astoria, N. Y. — "For two years I was feeling ill and took all kinds of tonics. I was getting worse every day. I had chills, my head would ache, I was always tired. I could not walk straight because of the pain in my back and I had pains in my stomach. I went to a doctor and he said I must go under an operation, but I did not go. I read in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and told my husband about it. I said 'I know nothing will help me but I will try this.' I found myself improving from the very first bottle, and in two weeks time I was able to sit down and eat a hearty breakfast with my husband, which I had not done for two years. I am now in the best of health and did not have the operation." — Mrs. JOHN A. KOENIG, 502 Flushing Avenue, Astoria, N. Y.

Every one dreads the surgeon's knife and the operating table. Sometimes nothing else will do; but many times doctors say they are necessary when they are not. Letter after letter comes to the Pinkham Laboratory, telling how operations were advised and were not performed; or, if performed, did no good, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was used and good health followed.

"German Positions Like Mouths of Furnaces"

London, July 3.—(New York Times)—A despatch to the London Times from a correspondent at the British headquarters, describing the bombardment of German positions on the Somme says:—"There were positions which were like the mouths of furnaces, a permanent glow flicked and illuminated with never ending streams of white sparks."

"One ordinarily measured the weight of a bombardment by the number of shells that burst in a minute, this case counting were helpless fixing my eyes on one spot I tried to wink them as fast as the lightnings of the flicker, and the shells beat me badly, I then tried chattering my teeth and I think that in that way I approximately held my own. Testing it afterward in the light, where I could see a watch face I found that I could click my teeth some five or six times in a second. You can try it, for yourself and clicking your own teeth will get some idea of the rate at which the shells were bursting on a single spot."

"There were always three or four points within the field of vision at which they were bursting at that speed and always in between over the whole circuit of the field they were bursting with great, if lesser rapidity."

"What the expenditure of ammunition is in such a bombardment it is impossible to conjecture, when along the front of ninety miles there are always points at which shells are bursting at the rate of some hundred to the minute, and this has already gone on for four days and four nights."

Lady Sybil Grey Wounded at Front

London, July 4.—Lady Sybil Grey, daughter of Earl Grey, formerly Governor-General of Canada, was seriously, but not dangerously wounded, while with the British Red Cross at the Russian front, says a Reuter despatch from Petrograd.

During hand grenade practice, a grenade was thrown through a window shelter near where she was sitting and a splinter penetrated her left cheek and jaw.

Ottawa, July 4.—Colonial secretary Law has cabled the governor-general expressing the appreciation of the his majesty's Government for the assistance afforded by the Canadian bankers in providing a further imperial munitions credit of $25,000,000.
