STOLE A TEÂM

Washburn's Two youths of the Washburu's neighborhood—Arza Johnston and a lad named Shaw—had rather an exciting experience last week. On the 15th they visited Mr. Alex Judd and left early in the evening, saying they would return and spend the night at his house. They did not return for that purpose, and on entering his stable next morning Mr. Judd found that his valuable team had been stolen. He immediately suspected the young men of being the thieves and had a warrant for their arrest placed in the hands of for their arrest placed in the hands of Constable Russell of Delta.

Apparently, on securing the horses they next went to Mr. Cronk's farm buildings, for on that gentlemen arising on Tuesday morning he found his double cutter in the yard, fully fur nished with robes and containing a bag of cats He attributes the flight of the of oats He attributes the night of the thieves from his premises to the fact that during the night he was up with a lighted lamp looking after the fire, which was burning rather two briskly. The thieves probably fled on seeing the

Mr. McArdle, near Lyndhurst, where they secured what they wanted in the line of a rig, and continued their westward way.

Constable Russell lost no time, but pursued the thieves night and day, finally locating them at Napanee, but before he could arrest them they were taken into custody by the police of that town. The law provides for the payment of a bounty of $20 a head for the capture of horse thieves, and Mr. Russel fairly earned this money, though it will probably go to the Napanee officers.

On Thursday evening Mr. Judd received amessage informing him of the recovery of his team. The youthful "rustlers" are now in jail at Napanee awaiting trial.

DRAMA AT ADDISON

In their dramatic entertains given about a year ago, the friends of the Addison Public Library scored a signal success, and they have decided to give another such performance on the evening of Friday, March 4. The bills are now out, the event is being eagerly anticipated, and its financial success is assured. Two plays are to be presented on this occasion, namely,
"The old maids' Convention" and "The Bachelors' Club," and those who have been favored with a look in at the rehearsals say that two or three hours of unalloyed merriment await all who attend. The eighteen young ladies and fourteen gentlemen constituting the cast of the two plays have taken naturally to their various parts, and the impersonations are helped out with

There are now about 440 books in the library, ranging from standard classics to the very latest publications, classics to the vo., and the board of management should and the board of management in the receive every encouragement in the good work they are doing. The people of Addison have estab-lished a reputation for successful presentation of dramatic entertain ments, and this double performance promises to eclipse anything given in the past. Remember the date—Friday, March 4. Play commences at 7.30.

T SMALLPOX AT DAYTOWN

The two smallpox patients reported The two smallpox patients reported at Daytown last week were a son of Sylvester Stevens and a daughter of Mr. Arthur Irwin (Mrs. Harry Stevens). Both cases are reported to be of a mild type, but the township council of Bastard and Burgess took prompt steps to protect the public health. Both houses were placaried, disinfected, and the families quarantined. The order has been issued that tined. The order has been issued that all persons exposed to the disease who have not been successfully vaccinated within the last seven years must be immediately vaccinated. No further outbreak of the disease has been

THE CHEESE SITUATION

The Mail and Empire a few days ago contained the following paragraph: "Dealers confess that the cheese situation so far as it applies to On-tario is somewhat embrassing. A tario is somewhat embrassing. A large exporter in conversation with a Mail and Empire reporter at the King Edward Hotel state t that there was over $300,000 worth of cheese stacked in featuring in the Converse stacked in factories in the County, of Oxford alone. This state of affairs Oxford alone. This state of affairs was by no means confined to that county. The gentleman in question stated that early in the season the factory men had been offered 12 cents per pound for their holdings, but had neglected to close. Now the best offering was 9 cents. Present conditions are largely due to the splendid. tions are largely due to the spl pasturage of last summer, greatly increased the making of cheese coupled with heavy shipments to Eng. land from foreign countries."

Passengers Appreciate the Treatment Accorded Them

The following letter is but one of a number received by the Grand Trunk Railway from passengers on their trains who have been delayed in con sequence of the recent very heavy storms. It points to the fact that the railway company are fulfilling their obligations to the public under very trying conditions, and that the services rendered are fully appreciated by the velling public:

Kincardine, Ont., Feb. 8th, 1904.

Mr. Dull, Train Master

Dear Sir :-The passengers arriving at Kinear-dine by the G.T.R. train on Sunday at 11.00 a.m., desire hereby to express their grateful thanks to the officials and employees for their uniform kind ness manifested during the long delays occasioned by the record op-blockade. We have had a a good opportunity to estimate the magnitude of the difficulties with which they had to end. In the midst of great obstacles, long hours, little or no rest for days or weeks, they were uniformly kind and considerate, and left nothing undone that could minister to the comfort and progress of the pas

Tendency of the Times

The tendency of medical science is toward preventive measures. The best thought of the world is being given to the subject. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. It has been fully demonstrated that pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, can be prevented by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Pneumonia always results from a cold or from an attack of influenza (grip), and it has been observed that this and it has been observed that this remedy counteracts any tendency of these diseases toward pneumonis. This has been fully proven in many thousands of cases in which this remedy has been used during the great prevalence of colds and grip in recent years, and can be relied upon with implicit confidence. Pneumonis often results from a alight cold when no danger is apprehended until it is suddenly discovered that there is fever and difficulty in breathing and pains in the chest, then it is announced that the patient has pneumonia. Be on the safe side and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the cold is emtracted. It always cares. For anle by J. P. Lamb & Bon thousands of cases in which
