TWO LAZY TRAMPS

Crippled a Boy so He Could Beg For Them

More Successfully—Arenowunder Arrest—Boy's Arm in a Fearful Condition.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 14.—Garby Fritz, the boy who suffered such fearful treatment from two tramps who tried to force him to beg for them, was brought here yesterday, together with the two men, John Shirrell and David Weston, who were charged with mistreating the lad. To-day, however, the boy discovered that he was wrong in naming Ann Arbor as the place where the deed from which he suffers was done. His description seemed to tally with that of the depot at Jackson, and so the three were shipped to that city. The boy charges that the two men persuaded him to accompany them from Chicago, where he was making a living by singing about the streets. A few days ago they placed a splinter on his arm and drove him away to beg for them, telling him to show the hurt on his arm to arouse sympathy. He did not get enough money, and the men determined that his wounds were not enough. He says they then placed quicklime on his bare arms and held him while they mixed water with it and let it eat its way into the quivering flesh. Then he was sent out to do better. Several towns were worked in this way, until they reached Detroit, where the boy was picked up by an officer and his tormentors arrested. He believed that the men committed here the trio were sent here by the Detroit authorities. Now Jackson will have to take up the case. The boy's arms are in a pitiable condition, the lime having dug great holes into the flesh.

China will "readily accede to all the terms of the joint note except the creation of the princess and officials, which it will be impossible to fulfill while the court is in the hands of these very officials."

"Considerable curiosity is felt at Tientsin," says the Shanghai correspondent of the Times, "as to the whereabouts of the Japanese forces, which though not leaving the country are disappearing from Peking and Tientsin. It is not known whether."

"Referring editorially to the present stage of the negotiations, the Times says: 'The United States accepted the German note demanding the punishment of Prince Tuan and the other guilty officials; and it will not be harder to secure the punishment of 11 officials than of the three whose names were originally indicated by the state department. Therefore it is difficult to see how America could justify in her own eyes a refusal to join with the other powers in steps needful to secure this result.'"

TRANSVAAL MINES

Will Have to Bear Part of the Cost of the War

But Still Sir Michael Hicks-Beach Can Only Promise the British Taxpayer a Higher Budget Than Ever.

London, Nov. 14.—Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, Chancellor of the Exchequer, speaking in Bristol, said it would not be his privilege in the next budget to relieve the taxpayers. He wished to say that he was not about to increase the budget, but the Government's expenditure had been enormous, especially in China and South Africa. He declared emphatically, however, that the wealth of the Transvaal would have to bear part of the South African expenses.

"Of course," said Sir Michael, we must not spoil the future of the Transvaal by attempting to impose upon it a greater burden than it could reasonably bear. That would be cutting our own throats. Therefore the British taxpayers must also bear a large part of the cost of the war. He also emphasized the fact that the maintenance of a strong army and navy would involve a further considerable expenditure.

A CHARLIE ROSS CASE

Pennsylvania Boy is Mysteriously Missing—He is Heir to $100,000.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 14.—Among the residents of Wissinoming, a suburb of this city, the belief is general that they have on their hands a parallel of the famous Charlie Ross case. On Thursday, October 11, 13-year-old Annie Shallock disappeared and despite the efforts of the police and half a dozen private detectives hired by his wealthy mother no trace of the boy has been found. The boy, when he comes of age, will inherit $100,000 from the estate of his father, the late Lewis W. Shallock, who left about $500,000. It is thought he became acquainted with a gang of tramps who are thought to be holding him for a ransom.

The Last of It.

"That's just what I expected!
"I told that salesman those rubbers didn't fit. They flopped all over my feet all day.
"And there is one in the mud.
"If I'd done what I intended I'd have gone into the 'Slater' store this morning and got a pair to fit my shoes.
"Well, guess I'll have to gnaw.
"Bother take it! that flip flop rubber has chafed my shoe in one place and pinched my foot in another till it feels like a corn.
"Well, that's the last of cheap rubbers for me."

Branded "Slater Shoe Rubbers," in all the shapes of "Slater Shoes," cost $1.00 and up. Sold at all "Slater" agencies.

A HUNTER PERISHES

In the Storm Near Plattsburg, New York State.

Plattsburg, N. Y., Nov. 14.—Henry Lemaire, coachman for Assemblyman C. E. Johnson, of this village, perished from exposure in a storm. In company with two companions he had started on a deer hunt in the neighborhood of Lyon Mountain. The three men were bewildered by the falling snow, and became lost between Lyon Mountain and Ellenburgh Mountain. Lemaire became completely exhausted early Saturday morning, and was unable to proceed. His companions with great difficulty managed to reach a logging camp, from which a searching party started out, but were unable to find the spot where Lemaire was left. The search was continued to-day from Lyon Mountain, and the body was found this morning. Lemaire was shot in the head some time ago in an encounter with robbers, and was taking a vacation on that account.
