VANDERBILT KICKED.

Knocked Over a Boy While Automobil-ing In Italy—Goes Free.

Florence, Feb. 26.—W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., who, while motoring on Friday, knocked over a boy, was mobbed, kicked and cuffed, drew a revolver in selfdefence, and was taken in charge by the police, has gone on his way rejoicing. The father of the injured child, when asked if he wished to bring suit against Mr. Vanderbilt, not only refused to do so, but also declined to accept the indemnity due him under the law. There-upon, the judge granted Vanderbilt provisional liberty, and, accompanied by Mrs. Vanderbilt, he left for Plsa. Before departing, Vanderbilt gave $40 to the local hospital.

A MIRACLE OF NATURE.

The Wonderful Growth of the Antlers of the Wapiti,

Wapiti antier growth is one of the niracles of nature that we never cease to consider a miracle. About the end of winter-that is in mid-March-the antlers of the year before break off flush with their base an inch or more above the skull. Usually they are found close together, showing that they fell nearly

At first the place of each antler is a broad raw spot. In a few days it shows a thick rounded pad or blood Port Arthur, Ont., Feb. 2.—(Special).—That Dodd's Kidney Pills cure the Kidney ills of men and women alike has been proved time and again in this neighborhood, but it is only occasionally they get a chance to do double work in the same house. This has happened in the case of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Souvey, a farmer and his wife, living about seven miles from here, In an interview Mr. Souvey said: from here. In an interview Mr. Souvey said:

"My wife and myself have used Dodd's Kidney Pills, and have found them a big benefit to our health. We had La Grippe two winters and were exposed to much frost and cold. structure is nearly a foot high and all enveloped in a turgid mass of feverish, throbbing blood vessels—the scaffolding and workmen of this surprising structure. Night and day the work is pushed with astounding speed, and in four months this skyscraper is finished, a wonderful structure indeed, for a score of nature's forces have toiled, a myriad of invisible workmen have done their part, and an edifice that, according to ordinary rules, should have taken a ordinary rules, should have taken a lifetime is here rushed through in a summer and all in absolute silence August sees the building done, but it is still cluttered with scaffolding. The supplies of blood at the base are reduced and finally discontinued. The antler is no longer in vital touch with the animal. It begins to die. The sea sitiveness leaves each part, the velve covering soon dies, cracks and peels, and the stag assists the process of clearing off the skin by scraping his horns on the brushwood. September sees him fully armed in his spears of dead bone, strong in body, glorying in his weapons and his strength and ready to battle with all comers. — Ernest Thompson Seton in Scribner's.

HONEY AS A FOOD.

It Is Nourishing and Saves Work For the Digestive Organs.

Honey, which is described as "one of nature's best foods," is the subject of a report by the Ontario department of agriculture. In this it is pointed out that it is only within the past few centuries that sugar has become known and only within the last generation that refined sugars have become so low in price that they may be commonly used in the poorest families. Formerly honey was the principal sweet, and it was highly valued 3,000 years before the first sugar refinery was built. "It would add greatly to the health of the present generation," it is declared, "if honey could be at least partially restored to its former place as a common article of diet."

Excessive use of sugar brings in its trein a long list of ills. When sugar is taken into the stomach it cannot be assimilated until first changed by digestion into grape sugar. Only too often the overtaxed stomach fails properly to perform this digestion, and then come sour stomach and various phases of indigestion and dyspepsia. In the laboratory of the hive the honey has been fully prepared by the bees for prompt assimilation without taxing ei-

Curious Wedding Customs In Turkey The dowry of a Turkish bride is fixed both by law and custom and must not exceed a sum equal to $1.70 in United States currency. On no pretext can this amount be made greater or less, even though the parents be extremely poor or immensely wealthy. The wedding is invariably set for Thursday, the festivities beginning on the previous Monday and lasting four days. The merrymaking is carried on by the men and women separately, and each day is distinguished by a change in ceremonies. On no account will Turks allow spoons, forks, knives or wine on the table when celebrating a wedding.

Herbert Spencer. Dr. Alfred Russel Wallace told Herbert Spencer's reason for living in a London boarding house with "rather a commonplace set of people-retired In dian officers and others:" "He said that he had purposely chosen such a home in order to avoid the mental excitement of too much interesting conversation, that he suffered greatly from insomnia and that he found that when his evenings were spent in commonplace cor versation, learning the news of the day or taking part in a little music, he had a better chance of sleeping."

Daintily Expressed.

The author had been dragged fainting from a crowd of shoppers "Almost like my last book," he mur mured, recovering his senses.

The listeners, being of delicate perception, knew then that the book had fallen dead from the press.

be cultivated with plows and horses.

The real orange tree should stand about twenty-five or thirty feet high, with a trunk of five or six inches. Its foliage is dense and a rich green. It is a grand tree to sit beneath at midday and drink the juices of the fruit instead of water-it is distilled perfectly. But these trees are round and low headed, and one must stoop to get beneath them. They are made of the grafter shoots that came up around the old trees after the freeze. They are more convenient to spray, to protect from the blizzard, while the fruit is more easily gathered. You can walk all about that orchard and reach half the fruit without a ladder. There are quite as many varieties of oranges in this orchard as there are of apples or plums in most of your northern orchards - fifteen or twenty, at least. The grower knows them all by name and can tell them all by the shape and the quality. features of Russian country life. Every stranger passing the frontier be-tween that country and Germany is struck by the marked change in this respect which he encounters up to the very boundary line and which the geo-graphical position does not at all account for. There is no gradual change in the appearance of the face of the country or the people from comparative prosperity to extreme poverty, but a sudden difference in the conditions marked by totally dissimilar methods. of cultivation, dwellings and habits of thrift. Everything on the German side indicates careful cultivation and industry, while upon the Russian side the fields show bad tillage and neglect, squalid houses, inferior and uncared for stock and tools and implements lying in the fields exposed to the weather.—Herbert H.
