Former Respected Resident Was Buried There Yesterday.

Dundas, July 30 .-- Another formerly well-known citizen of Dundas was brought to her former home for burial yesterday in the person of Sarah Weaver, relict of the late Wm. B. Irving. Deceased, who was a sister of Mrs. J. Findlay Smith, was born in Preston in 1838, and was married in 1859 to the husband who pre-deceased her some years. He had kept a grocery in the old Empire block, which stood where Laing's block now stands, for some time. He afterwards was in the employ of R. F. Wilson and the late George Bennett, in the premises now occupied by J. W. Boyle, grocer. The family left Dundas about twenty years ago, and have lived since in Tillsonburg, Hamilton and finally in Toronto. Mrs. Irving died in Toronto on Tuesday last after undergoing an operation at Grace Hospital. She is survived by four daughters: Mrs. A. H. Devitt and Mrs. L. A. Hollinrake, Toronto; Mrs. E. Norman Smith, Ottawa, and Minnie at home. Burial was in Grove Cemetery here yesterday, the funeral services being conducted by Rev. Mr. Robinson. The pall-bearers were James Somerville, Henry Bertram, R. McKechnie, F. D. Suter, M. S. Wilson, W. A. Davidson.

The electric storm last evening completely routed the audience at the band concert at the park. It also put a damper on the Daughters of England garden party at the home of Mrs. Broadbent, Hatt street. Yet the programme at the latter was fairly well carried out and was, all things considered, enjoyable. The programme consisted of games, music, singing, etc., all of, which were pleasing and appreciated.

According to the new directory of Uttawa the city's population is now estiing. Deceased, who was a sister of Mrs.

"Not so far as I know," he replied.
"Will he contest his wife's suit?"
"Most certainly, if she brings it," he said, "Mrs. Thaw has no ground for a divorce. She has always been well treated. At present she is receiving from the Thaw family $6,200 a year."

It is said Mrs. Thaw will base her suits on the revelations of the present trial regarding Thaw's alleged conduct at the house of Susan Merrill.

Mr. Morschauser called attention to the fact that Thaw had denied these stories was for the Mrs. Reid, said to have been introduced there by Mr. Thaw as his wife," added Mr. Morschauser, "that part of the story has not been substantiated."

Although District Attorney Jerome anounced at the close of yesterday's sion of the sanity hearing that he was "through" with Harry K. Thaw, he recalled him to the stand this morning. The "two or three more questions" which Jerome remarked yesterday he might still have for the relator, proved might still have for the relator, proved to be a long string.

The District Altorney started his examination along the lines that thus far have yielded his side the best results. He probed into Thaw's own ideas of his mental condition and contrasted his answers with those of the fourteen alienists who at various times pronounced him income. Thaw clump to his oft-repeated who at various times, pronounced him insane. Thaw clung to his oft-repeated phrase that he was "not medically in-sane," although he might have been "legally" so when he killed White. Jer-ome was primed with the various opin-ions of the experts, but Thaw seemed to have them just as accurately fixed in his mind, and once or twice corrected the prosecutor.

The court room was even warmer than yesterday and Thaw had worked with yesterday and Thaw had worked with his counsel until 10.30 last night examining a bundle of Jerome's documentary evidence which he expected to have to explain to-day. Nevertheless he presented the air of a man whose task js over. His replies exhibited a calm confidence that showed he was satisfied with his previous showing and sure that he was a match for the District Attorney. He exhibited no nervousness and less anxiety to display his mental acumen than on former occasions.

"Well," began Jerome, "here were all these trained specialists who thought you were insane?"

"Not all of them," interrupted Thaw. "I don't think that Dr. Hamilton and Dr. White did."

Thaw said that the alienists themstered the surfaced free wifesed the reason.

Thaw said that the, alienists themselves suffered from "defective reason,"

"What did they mean by 'defective rand was, all things considered, enjoyable. The programme consisted of games, music, singing, etc., all of, which were pleasing and appreciated.

According to the new directory of Ottawa the city's population is now estimated at 86,880, an increase of 1,556 over last year. The population according to the last assessment returns was 80,284.

Some men get up in the world, and others are merely stilted.

"What did they mean by 'defective reason'?"

"Explain it,' insisted Jerome. "What do you think it means?"

Thaw looked down and was unable to inique when Jerome branched to the decision of Judge Morschauser, before whom Thaw made his first effort for liberty from Matteawan.

"Didn't Judge Morschauser, declare that you were hopelessly insane?" demanded the cross-examiner.

"No," said Thaw. "He held that I had not proved myself sane."

"Whatever Judge Morschauser said in his decision," asserted Thaw, "I know that he thinks now I am perfectly sane, for I talked with him two weeks ago, and he said so."

"Explain what you mean when you say you 'are legally sane."
"I am of the same opinion as I told the jury and as all the medical men who have examined me in the last three years are, and as I know Judge Morschauser is—that I am now sane, and there is no danger of the recurrence of my trouble."
"Do you think you were legally sane when you killed White?"

"Defective reason," repilied Thaw, and found too late that he had brought the lecision right back to its former trou-lessome question.
"What is 'defective reason'?" flashed Thaw pondered and finally answered:

Thaw pondered and finally answered:
"Not being responsible for my acts."

Jerome asked about the story that he once scalded a girl in a hot bath tub, and that he had taken a girl named Ruth Lambert automobiling in Paris and brought her back naked with welts from a beating.

"All lies," said Thaw, contemptuously. All nes, said Thaw, contemptu-ously.

Refreshing his memory from a manu-script in his hand, the district attorney recalled other scandalous stories about the witness that came out during his trials. Thaw's comment was the same

The witness was again at his ease. Speaking of the alienists, the witness remarked, "You can't blame them for doing their best to make out a good case for me. They were being well paid for it."

The district attorney suddenly switched to the testimony of Clifford W. Hartridge and Susan Merrill. Thaw denied that he had ever rented rooms in the latter house.

"Do you think you were innocent or guilty when you killed White?" asked Jerome, nimbly jumping back again.

Justice Mills put the question this way. "Do you think you are now an innoncent man in the eyes of the law?"
