M.C.L.I.

The meeting in the M.C.L.I. rooms to-night promises to be of more than ordinary interest. The title is "An evening with the Brownings," and the leader, Rev. J. W. Bartlett. We understand that several ladies and gentlemen, well known of their eloquence, will take part in the program. A resolution was unanimously passed at the last meeting of the M. C. L. I. that the members of the privilege of bringing their lady and gentlemen friends to this meeting.

Bovril Limited.

From the Annual Report of this Company the following extracts are taken:—
The Chairman said:—Never in the history of our Company has Bovril sold so well as during the year 1912, our sales being far ahead of all previous records, not only have we beaten all sales records for the year, but the rule of increase during the two years 1911 and 1912, has been greater than during any two previous years. I am pleased to say this increase still continues, the sales for January, 1913, being well ahead of all previous records for the month.
The sales for 1912 were over 25 per cent. greater than those of 1910—ad.11

The Mercy Convent.

For some time past the nuns of the Mercy Convent, Military Road, have been contemplating some improvements in the building rendered necessary by the increase of the number of sisters and also the dilapidated state of the annex in rear of the building. These improvements will greatly extend the accommodation in the addition of five or six new cells, also the remodeling of the kitchen and refectory departments, which are at present hardly inhabitable. The contemplated work will be somewhat expensive, and the Nuns have asked the sanction of the Archbishop, to hold a

Athens-Corn Silk and reasonably cheap, to be the quickest and most easily applied, the most cleanly in use, the most comfortable to wear, as well as one of the most effective cures for corns and kindred troubles. You have simply to apply a piece of Corn Silk of appropriate size, wear it for two days, when upon soaking the foot it will generally be possible to remove the corn or callous spot at once. Corn Silk takes up no room in the boot, is quite clean, and affords pain and soreness almost at once. Price 10 cents a pair.
Parafaric Throat Lozenges do excellent service in cases of hoarseness, sore throat and bronchial irritation. They are quite pleasant to take and are prompt in action. Price 25c. a bottle.

House Guttled.

At 8.45 a.m. an alarm was sent in from box 12, bruising the Central and East End Companies to Signal Hill where a blaze was in progress in the house occupied by Mrs. Josephine Savage. The fire originated in the top flat, sparks from the chimney lighting the woodwork of a partition and all that section of the house was badly gutted before the firemen had the fire under control. A few hundred dollars worth of damage was done. Had the owner's shop which is situated at the rear of the house and which was filled with dry stock, ignited, the result might be disastrous as there was a high wind blowing.

Jones's opportunity at last had come. He had been offered a really good job in Australia. So he forthwith threw up his thirty-bob-a-week clerkship in London, and made arrangements to leave for the island of kangaroos.

While passing through Liverpool on his way to the docks, he was suddenly and quite unexpectedly hailed by a friend from Manchester, who inquired:

"Hallo, old man! Where are you off?"

"Australia," was Jones's blunt reply.

"Right-o, then!" said his friend. "I'll walk a bit of the way with you."

Disastrous Fire.

House Guttled This Morning and Boy Dangerously Burned.

At 8.05 this morning Mrs. E. Power left her house at Lewis Place, just east of the Western Fire Station, to go to the fountain and returning was horrified to find the building in flames. The apartments of Mrs. Power which are on the second floor of the house are reached by a short hallway and a narrow stairs, and Mrs. Power, knowing her four children—3 girls and a boy—were in their beds bravely rushed up through smoke and flame and reaching the girls room dragged them up the stairs into the street to the head of which she ran clapping her hands and screaming, "Fire!" She ran to the Western Station, called fire repeatedly and in a few seconds Capt. Keen with Sergt. Reardon and Firemen Kavanagh, Galway, Hagerty and Bennett were on the scene with a hose reel and had a stream of water on the burning building. No report of the boy being in the building in the excitement was made until when Capt. Keen mounted a ladder run up to the front window he heard moans coming from the door of the kitchen which is in the front of the house. Repeatedly the Captain attempted to enter through the window but was driven back by smoke and fire until the water had taken proper effect when he made a dash inside and found Mrs. Power's son by a former husband, John Murphy, aged 15, lying on the floor unconscious. The boy was quickly passed down the ladder and taken to the Western Station where the terrible burns received and after alleviating his pain despatched him to the hospital in the ambulance. When Capt. Keen was taking the boy out the sick came off his limbs in large portions, his night shirt in which he was dressed had been burned off him and he was literally baked about the face and hands. He is not badly burned about the body and his injuries are not necessarily of a fatal nature, though it is feared the shock to the nerves will kill him.

Mrs. Power lit a fire in the kitchen just before she left her home. There was a flame out in the chimney facing her boy's room and it is thought the fire got into this and ignited the paper on the wall and fired the place. The house and its contents were practically destroyed and the heart broken mother and family are objects of pity and charity. The boy was evidently aroused by the fire but overcome by smoke and sank to the floor quickly. Had he turned sharp after leaving his room about would have gone over the stairs to safety but dazed as he was he wandered into the kitchen which was a mass of flames. But for the bravery of Mrs. Power, mother, the other 3 girls, whose ages range from 9 to 14, would have steamed.

Hockeyists Marooned.

Last evening at Bell Island, in the presence of 500 spectators, the city hockeyists played a team from the island and defeated them by 10 goals to 3. The Islanders put up a clever exhibition, Burnham in goal doing exceptional, but they could not withstand the rushes of the city boys. After the match both teams with Referee Higgins were dined at the Nova Scotia Co.'s staff house. The city team and the enthusiasts who went over to the island had gone over the stairs to safety but dazed as he was he wandered into the kitchen which was a mass of flames. But for the bravery of Mrs. Power, mother, the other 3 girls, whose ages range from 9 to 14, would have steamed.

MONTREAL, To-day.
It is stated at the office of McLean & Kennedy Company that the Inishowen Head, bound for Sydney, was ice-bound and unable to make that port and was compelled to proceed to Louisbourg, where she is now discharging pig iron going to St. John's to land.

LONDON, To-day.
Mrs. Emeline Pankhurst, leader of the suffragettes, has broken down completely. She has cancelled all engagements and has gone to the country for a rest. This announcement was made at a suffragette meeting at Hampstead to-night, where she was to speak. General Mrs. Flora Drummond took her place. Mrs. Drummond no sooner began talking than a group of students let loose quantities of snuff, starting everybody sneezing. A lively scuffle took place between attendants and disturbers, chairs were broken, blows exchanged and black eyes and bruises plentiful. Mrs. Drummond advised all Municipal electors to vote against London County Council Progressive candidates as a protest against the conduct of Right Hon. John Burns, President of the Local Government Board, who had been denouncing suffragettes as tyrannical and their militant efforts as blackguardism. John Burns spoke to a meeting in Islington. While guards were ejecting two disturbing male supporters of the suffragettes, Mr. Burns said, "Such disturbers were the result of the stuff newspapers had published," and later in his speech he said, "The press of the country is imitating the American newspapers which has so lied against public men, so slandered them, that few decent men are willing to get into public life in America. If the present campaign of calumny continues this country will end in civil neglect and corruption, for it will repel from public life the sensitive, kindly and respectable men who formerly served their fellow citizens."

Entertainments

Yesterday afternoon the sketch "Muttiny Amongst the Flowers," written by Mrs. T. J. Duley, was presented in the Congregational Lecture Room. The piece was faultlessly carried out and the performers received much applause. After the sketch and the serving of refreshments, songs and recitations were rendered by Misses Duley, Langmead, Thomas, Mrs. Thomas and Master Thomas.

A crowded audience of seafarers attended the entertainment at the new Seaman's Institute. The sketch "Muttiny Amongst the Flowers" was reproduced, after which several selections and recitations were given by Misses Duley, Barnes, Jones, Thomas, Rev. W. H. Jones, and Mr. W. H. Jones. The rendition of the National Anthem brought the entertainment to a close.
