

Majestic
Theatre
TO-DAY

"JOAN OF THE WOODS,"
FEATURING
JUNE ELVIDGE.

Majestic
Theatre
TO-DAY

TAKE IT FOR
CRAMPS-COLIC-DIARRHOEA
APPLY IT FOR
BRUISES-SPRAINS-SORE THROAT

Perry Davis' Pinkettes
The Home Remedy

The Late Michael Carroll
On The Sealfishery.

(H. F. SHORTIS.)
I was a boy, perhaps there was a man so familiar to the young people than that of the late Mr. Michael Carroll. Even the Bluebirds and Mr. Roddick would, during their hours, explain to us the reason of the old gentlemen on the seal, herring and other fisheries connected with our country. I remember Mr. Carroll lecturing upon several occasions, his subject being the fishery of the seal. This was published in the form of a pamphlet on several occasions, but unfortunately, I have lost it. There is no doubt that there are a great many copies still in existence. Mr. Carroll was a keen observer in all matters relating to our country and fisheries, and I know of a fact that he was a leading merchant of St. John's and elsewhere, as well as our seal fishing masters, held his opinion in the highest regard. He was a man of education as well as a man of business, and was a constant contributor to the local newspapers of his day. His penmanship was of the highest order, as plain as copper-plate, although it was highly flourished, as the order of the day. It is apparent that he always used the "grey quill," as I suppose, he was not in the habit of taking up the more modern pen of Gillett's Steel Pens. All the old stagers in my young days were conservative, and I do not wonder at their being so, because the days of those "old scholars," the days past and gone, would put the most successful student of Higher Education, or even the student of Oxford or Cambridge, more than the type-writer has taken in a few years, will be obsolete in the hands of the present and business men, as is the best sealing gun of the sixties, the crews of our present sealing vessels change and we change them.

Dye Faded Wrap Skirt, Dress in Diamond Dyes

Each package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions so simple any woman can dye or tint her old worn faded things new. Even if she has never dyed before, she can put a rich, fadeless color into shabby skirts, dresses, coverings, draperies, hangings, everything. Buy Diamond Dyes—no other kind—then perfect home dyeing is guaranteed. Just tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton, or mixed goods. Diamond Dyes never streak.

A TEACHER OF MEN.
A young man at the time he was admitted to attend Mr. Carroll's lectures, but I pursued his letters in the past and many a time I was permitted to present when he was giving his views on the fisheries parting, and young as I was, I was struck with the marked attention that was paid to his remarks by the Vikings of the sixties, and I can assure you Mr. Carroll's remarks must have been clear and convincing, otherwise the "heroes of the frozen pass," would quickly bring him up with a round turn. They would stand no dictation or explanation from an amateur. He explained that Mr. Carroll possessed considerable experience in connection with our fisheries—that he was most observant and, better than all, that he kept a record for many years, and transmitted his observations and information to print, or gave them to the people generally on the platform, or in social gatherings at the houses of the great seal-killers and planters. He was also a business man and conducted a large trade at King's Cove, Bonaville Bay, having the late Mr. Archibald Munn as partner. He was a notable figure on our street, and one had only to look at his keen eye and firm chin to recognize the fact that he was a man of experience and resource, and that once he had formed an opinion on any subject, he was bound to put that opinion to rest. He was not a matter how or by whom opposed. At least that was the opinion I formed of the man in my young days, and I often wondered if the day would ever come when I should be in a position to discourse on our country and our resources, as I so often heard Mr. Carroll do; but, of course, it hasn't and it is too late for me to try now.

CORNS
Lift Off with Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stings hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly!
Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

KING'S COVE, June 12th, 1921.
Dear Sir,—Aware of the deep mercantile interest you have always taken in the advancement of the Fisheries of this island, I take leave to transmit to you your personal benefit information of a useful character connected with the Seal Fishery, which information I obtained from Mr. Richard Hencock, a planter of ours. Mr. H. left King's Cove last summer to prosecute the Cod fishery at the Labrador. On his way home he put into one of the French Harbors, and whilst there fell sick. Owing to some unknown cause he remained there the winter. Hencock is the son of Mr. Henry Hencock, ship-builder, a very intelligent man. He returned to King's Cove, Saturday the 8th inst. in perfect good health. It appears Hencock took up his winter quarters with a Planter of the name of Pynn, who lived at Cape Quirpool. The morning of the 13th of March, Hencock went down on the Cape and went on to the ice about one mile, having his dogs with him. The dogs ran off and when about two miles off, he came up with them amongst thousands of old and young harps. On his arrival on shore he informed Pynn's crew of the circumstance, when five men commenced hauling on the 13th March, and continued taking young seals off the ice and in skiff till the 15th of April. The number obtained was eight hundred and fifty. The better to enable you to form an estimate of the extent of the seals, I annex an unprofessional chart with careful notes which you may depend on being truthful. Pynn on his way to St. John's put into Greenspond, and there sold his seals at 90 (thirty shillings) per cwt.

A QUESTION FOR NATURALISTS.
Having compared several statements made by Hencock with the remarks set forth in my simple report of the Seal Fishery, I feel proud indeed in having it in my power to say we perfectly agree on many useful points, and among the many not one of more importance than that does our seals "increase or decrease." Hencock candidly declares to his own personal knowledge seals, old and young, hatched at least 60 miles along the shore, the breadth of which he could not ascertain. The old harps "beat out," or in other words "travelled out" to the water—the young harps remained on the field-ice till much reduced, and he further states that he did not see a head seal amongst them. You'll please observe the seals did not extend up the Straits beyond Anchor Point, as far as Hencock could learn from men belonging to Anchor Point, that came across to Pynn's for provisions. Those men stated that the seals were in a list across to the Labrador Coast and when they ran up the Labrador Coast as far as Blanc Sablon, the tide running through the Straits from the South West forced the ice across. It then ran up the Newfoundland Coast as far as Cape Quirpool, and when it turned the Cape, ice and seals ran up with the tide to the North side of White Bay. The inhabitants of Hare Bay, owing to the Bay being full of slob which kept the seals off shore, were obliged to cross to Cape Norman and haul the seals there. Pynn, on his way to St. John's, put into several harbors in White Bay and found that the inhabitants commenced taking them the 13th March, until late in April.

MR. CARROLL'S THEORY.
It appears to me from all I can gather that owing to the strong current continually in the Straits, seals resort there, knowing that ice is never so long jammed, so as to prevent them from getting into the water, and how I account for the short catch of seals this Spring is that—owing to the moderate and variable winds along the early part of March, the "whelping ice" remained in a solid jam until the young seals took water, and it also appears to me that due care and strict observation ought to be observed by the Seal Fishery, I feel proud indeed in having it in my power to say we perfectly agree on many useful points, and among the many not one of more importance than that does our seals "increase or decrease." Hencock candidly declares to his own personal knowledge seals, old and young, hatched at least 60 miles along the shore, the breadth of which he could not ascertain. The old harps "beat out," or in other words "travelled out" to the water—the young harps remained on land. It appears to me from all I can gather that owing to the strong current continually in the Straits, seals resort there, knowing that ice is never so long jammed, so as to prevent them from getting into the water, and how I account for the short catch of seals this Spring is that—owing to the moderate and variable winds along the early part of March, the "whelping ice" remained in a solid jam until the young seals took water, and it also appears to me that due care and strict observation ought to be observed by the Seal Fishery, I feel proud indeed in having it in my power to say we perfectly agree on many useful points, and among the many not one of more importance than that does our seals "increase or decrease." Hencock candidly declares to his own personal knowledge seals, old and young, hatched at least 60 miles along the shore, the breadth of which he could not ascertain. The old harps "beat out," or in other words "travelled out" to the water—the young harps remained on land. It appears to me from all I can gather that owing to the strong current continually in the Straits, seals resort there, knowing that ice is never so long jammed, so as to prevent them from getting into the water, and how I account for the short catch of seals this Spring is that—owing to the moderate and variable winds along the early part of March, the "whelping ice" remained in a solid jam until the young seals took water, and it also appears to me that due care and strict observation ought to be observed by the Seal Fishery, I feel proud indeed in having it in my power to say we perfectly agree on many useful points, and among the many not one of more importance than that does our seals "increase or decrease." Hencock candidly declares to his own personal knowledge seals, old and young, hatched at least 60 miles along the shore, the breadth of which he could not ascertain. The old harps "beat out," or in other words "travelled out" to the water—the young harps remained on

GALETT'S EYE
The only eye medicine that cures.

See this Feature--STAR MOVIE TO-DAY

Here he is again
EVER-PLEASING FRANK MAYO
IN
"The Marriage Pit"
A heart interest story of human life with pathos and thrills, in 6 parts.
Well-known Snub Pollard
in a Two Act Comedy Riot
COMING--"Father Tom," in seven parts--Harry Carey, in "The Wallop."

Will be Remembered by Harbor Gracians.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—I am sure the many friends of Mr. Harold Bennett will be pleased to hear that he is still in the land of the living and wishes to be remembered to them. I received a letter from him by the last mail and he is now practicing as a doctor of medicine in Wales. It is now 30 years since he left St. John's in 1893. He resided there and worked for the firm of John Munn & Co. for three years. I am enclosing a few verses of the many he wrote for the Hr. Grace Standard in those days. These were written after a trip he made to Labrador, in the mail boat, to get a fishery report for the old firm.
Yours truly,
D. MUNN.
Feb. 10th, 1923.

Composed over thirty years ago, when Capt. Sam Walsh had charge of the "Conservator," Capt. A. Keen the "Curlew" and Capt. Pat Delaney the "Volunteer."

Three finer fellows you n'er did meet
Than these the heroes of my song.
To them may all good luck belong.

Then Keen of sealing fame you know
The Master of the Curlew now
A better friend and kinder heart
You n'er did meet.
And in the part of seaman, he can hold his own
As brave as a lion and firm as a stone.

Bluebeard Landru's
Cheap Stove Brings 4,000 Francs.

PARIS, Jan. 27.—The kitchen ranges from the house of Landru, the "Bluebeard" executed for the murder of nearly a dozen women, was sold today for four thousand francs at an auction of his effects. The actual value of the range in which Landru was supposed to have burned the bodies of his victims is something like 100 francs.
A small stamp bearing the "Bluebeard" initials brought 400 francs and other insignificant trifles were snapped up at fantastic prices.

Just Received
CURRANTS
Loose and in Cartons
HARVEY & CO., Ltd.

The shoe that is every day proving its worth and giving satisfaction to thousands of wearers all over the island.

THREE FOOTWEAR
EASE. ELEGANCE. ECONOMY

Made by Archibald Bros. Harbor Grace

Theatre Ticket Speculators Thrive.
MOSCOW—Moscov this winter is a profitable field for the speculator in theatre tickets. At the theatre box offices there is such a rush for seats for the ballets and other popular pieces that queues are soon formed, and many persons are ready to buy the higher priced seats standing in line. Many workers, who, when communism was at its height, had access to the theatre free of charge, now purchase regularly from speculators, apparently taking it for granted that the new economic policy, and all that goes with it—the good and the bad—is here to stay. The people of the city flock every night into the lighted streets. Scores of theatres, more than in the pre-war days, cater to their amusement. And close by are the restaurants and cafes, the gambling casinos and the cabarets.

Job's Fresh Frozen Caplin

- FRESH FROZEN CODFISH.
FRESH FROZEN TONGUES.
FRESH FROZEN SALMON.
- SMOKED CODFISH.
SMOKED SALMON.
SMOKED FILLETS, KIPPERS
- are sold by the following grocers:
- |                         |                    |
|-------------------------|--------------------|
| Walter Gosse.           | F. J. O'Keefe.     |
| Mrs. I. Hamilton.       | J. O'Keefe.        |
| Jackman & Greene.       | L. O'Keefe.        |
| G. Knowling, Ltd.       | A. Parsons.        |
| (East, Central & West.) | Parade Stores.     |
| F. Lukins.              | Royal Stores, Ltd. |
| W. J. Murphy.           | J. J. Quigley.     |
| J. J. Mulcahy.          | J. F. Wiseman.     |
| F. F. Malone.           | Wiseman & Hawkins. |
| Mrs. Nugent.            | V. J. Wadden.      |
| Jas. C. Truscott.       | E. Wortell.        |
|                         | J. J. Whelan.      |

JOB'S STORES, Limited
Distributors